Greek Leader Bans All Demonstrations

Papandreou Vows to Fight His Way Back Into Power

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new Premier George Athanasides-Nova banned demonstrations in Athens today as he tried to form a government and resolve the country's worst political crisis since the Communist Civil War.

The no-demonstration order was aimed at George Papandreou, premier until King Constantine replaced him Thursday before Papandreou made his announced resignation official. The ex-premier vowed to fight his way back to power and called on the Greek people to demonstrate against Athanasides-Nova and any other members of Papandreou's Center Union Party who joined the new government.

Ministry Order

The new premier's interior ministry quickly ordered police to break up any disturbances.

Informants said Papandreou was trying to stem a mass defection of his party members by demanding an oath of personal allegiance from Cabinet ministers who had served under him.

So far two members of the party had joined the new government, John Tombas as interior minister and Stavros Costopoulos retaining his old post as foreign minister. It was reported that three more members of Papandreou's cabinet would be sworn in later today.

Such defections could mean the breakup of the now dominant Center Union party and new national elections.

Jet Lands With Jammed Gear

CHICAGO (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines jet with 83 persons aboard landed safely at O'Hare International Airport today after hovering over the field for more than an hour with a jammed nose gear.

The plane, Eastern's Flight 464, landed in a rain storm with the nose wheels still retracted. The plane tipped forward on its nose after it had almost stopped, causing slight damage to the forward end.

Airport officials said none of the 78 passengers, all strapped in their seats, or the crew of five suffered injuries.

Final Respects Paid Today To Stevenson

President Heads Dignitaries at Memorial Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high and the humble pay their final respects in the nation's capital today to Adlai E. Stevenson.

Citizens by the thousands filed quietly past his flag-draped coffin in a small, simple chapel in the National Cathedral (Episcopal) kept open to the public overnight.

President Johnson headed the imposing list of dignitaries planning to attend a memorial service and hear a eulogy by Stevenson's old friend, Judge Carl McGowan of the Federal Appeals Court.

Morning Service

For the 11 a.m. EDT service, to be covered by live nationwide radio and television, the casket was to be moved to the huge Gothic cathedral's central area, known as "The Great Crossing." Dr. Richard Graebel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, Ill., flew in to preside.

Then the body of the former U.N. ambassador, governor of Illinois and two-time Democratic presidential nominee was to be flown to Springfield to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda until Sunday.

Private Burial

A private burial at Bloomington, Ill., Monday will be accompanied by a special memorial service at the United Nations addressed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and General Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey.

The U.S. Embassy in London reported that it was a heart attack which felled Stevenson, 65, as he strolled with a friend near the embassy Wednesday afternoon.

Johnson helicoptered to Andrews Air Force Base late Thursday to meet the presidential jet sped to Britain to bring home the remains of one of America's most distinguished sons.

Sorrowful Trip

The President stood at the foot of the ramp to shake hands with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Stevenson's three sons — Adlai III, John Fell and Borden — and others who made the sorrowful trip to London.

Then to ruffles and flourishes and a sounding of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," a military honor detail placed the casket on a hearse for the 20-mile motorcade to the cathedral.

At the little Bethlehem Chapel, another honor guard of a soldier, sailor, Marine and airman stood watch through the night as citizens paid tribute.

Latest Tribute

One of the latest in the outpouring of tributes from abroad came from Quaison-Sackey, who is returning from his native Ghana for the memorial in New York Monday. He called Stevenson a "strong champion of the United Nations."

Democratic leaders said they expected a compromise would be worked out easily since the differences are relatively slight.

President Johnson received most of what he asked in the big bill although the rent subsidy program was different from the one he first proposed.

In addition, the Senate, like the House, knocked out his recommendations for a package of aids to help in development of new towns near metropolitan areas.

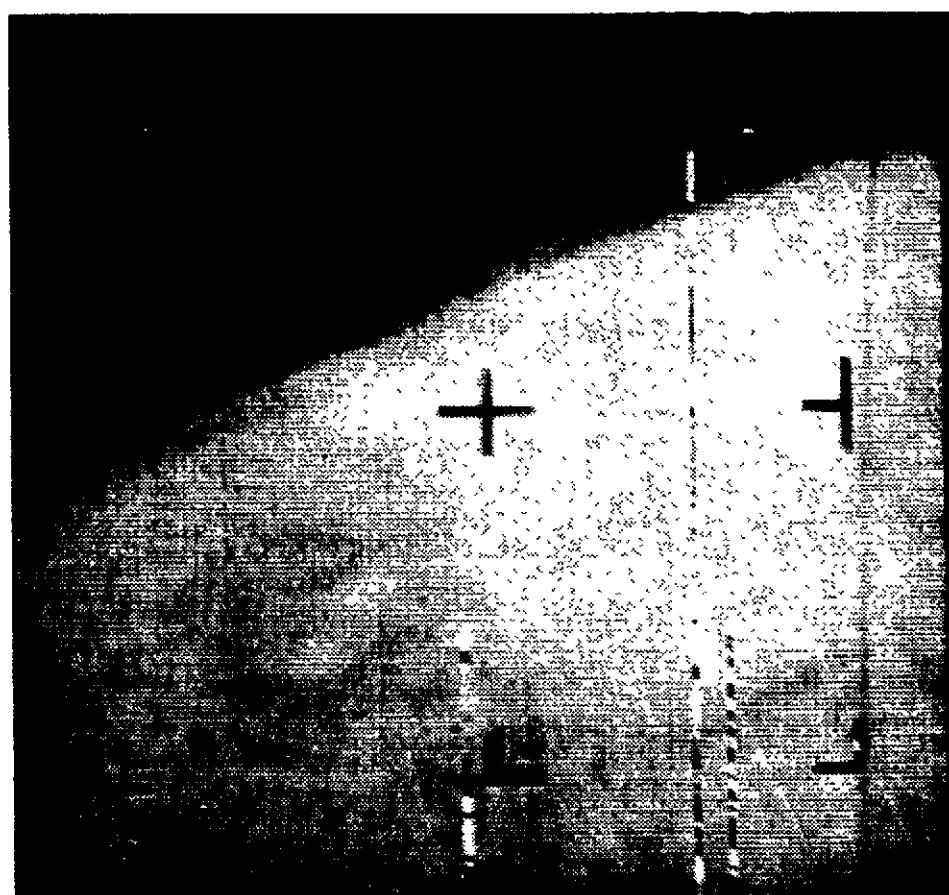

The rent subsidy program survived by seven votes, 47 to 40, when Republicans tried to strike it from the bill in the Senate. In the House, it was saved by six votes.

As originally submitted, the program was designed to aid families with incomes too high to be eligible for low-rent public housing but still too low to be able to afford decent private housing. But it was altered by both House and Senate to cover only those families in the public housing income range. The argument was made in both branches that millions of these families do not have decent homes yet, so that subsidies should not be paid those with higher standards of living.

Young Woman Dies In Desert Near Home

President Studying Report From Ambassador Harriman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson studies today a secret report from roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman on a three-hour talk with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin covering the latest Soviet views on Viet Nam and other world problems.

The report cabled by Harriman reached here at a moment of growing evidence that widespread efforts are under way to break the long deadlock over peace talks on Viet Nam.

Johnson administration leaders are not optimistic about early peace prospects, officials said, but have some hope that after more hard fighting in Viet Nam the Communist North Vietnamese regime may be willing to enter into negotiations toward the end of the year.

Harriman told newsmen in Moscow Thursday that he had cabled his report to Washington but that he would not disclose anything about his talk with Kosygin until after he had discussed it with Johnson personally.

He said the three-hour Kremlin meeting had produced "significant information."

"I always cable when I think something is significant," Harriman said. "Today I think there was some significant information to cable to Washington."

U. S. Soviet Relations The report was transmitted to the President through the State Department. Officials here declined to discuss its contents.

Harriman's meeting with Kosygin was the second development this week which indicated a possibility of improving U.S.-Soviet relations in spite of sharp differences between the two countries over the war in Viet Nam.

On Monday the Soviet Embassy notified the State Department that Moscow agreed to reopen disarmament discussions in the 17-nation conference at Geneva. The United States suggested July 27 and the Kremlin promptly responded

Thursday with an acceptance of that date.

Great interest was aroused here and in London by a report from official British sources that North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh had asked President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana to visit Hanoi. Nkrumah is a member of a British Commonwealth Peace Mission headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain.

The peace mission was rebuffed recently in its efforts to arrange face-to-face meetings with the leaders of North Viet Nam and Red China. But it is now considered possible that Ho's bid to Nkrumah represents a new Communist approach to talks which might bear fruit at some later date.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, repeated his view that bombings of North Viet Nam should be increased and anti-aircraft missile sites being replaced near Hanoi should be knocked out.

But Sen. Everett Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, when asked if he agreed with Ford, said "if there is a military necessity for it, yes. We try to avoid military judgment up here. We are not trying to run the war."

The administration has indicated it has no present intention of bombing the missile bases. Ford told a news conference Thursday: "I haven't criticized the President's military judgment," but thought Republicans "have the right to make suggestions."

He added: "We can't give a total blank check in perpetuity," he said.

Scientists Elated Despite Lack of Detail; Hail Feat Great Technical Advance

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Man's first close-up picture of Mars shows a remarkably earth-like desert area — but gives no hint of an answer to whether the mysterious planet could harbor life.

The poorly defined picture snapped as Mariner 4 flew within 10,500 miles of Mars Wednesday was released Thursday night while the U.S. spacecraft was relaying its second picture across 134 million miles of space.

Almost half the picture showed only the dark void of space, with but a small portion of the edge of Mars visible in the streaked and smudged frame.

Extreme Angle

The portion of the planet outlined in the picture, snapped at an extreme angle at the start of a north to south run, is apparently a bright desert with an even brighter area in the center.

Bordering the desert-like area are smudges which could be low-lying hills, darker colored soil or possibly even vegetation.

Scientists said the picture, streaked with lines representing improper radio signals, was not clear enough to warrant speculation about the cause of differences in shading.

To the unscientific eye, however, it could have been a photograph taken from a very high altitude of one of earth's deserts bordering a jungle region.

Despite lack of detail, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory were elated, calling the unprecedented electronic image a tremendous technical achievement.

Dirksen Agrees With Ford

GOP Wants to be Told Of Viet Nam Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican leaders in Congress say they want President Johnson to advise and consult them, if there is to be a large scale stepup of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, repeated his view that bombings of North Viet Nam should be increased and anti-aircraft missile sites being replaced near Hanoi should be knocked out.

But Sen. Everett Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, when asked if he agreed with Ford, said "if there is a military necessity for it, yes. We try to avoid military judgment up here. We are not trying to run the war."

The administration has indicated it has no present intention of bombing the missile bases.

Ford told a news conference Thursday: "I haven't criticized the President's military judgment," but thought Republicans "have the right to make suggestions."

He added: "We can't give a total blank check in perpetuity," he said.

Dirksen said "we pray that the national security decision of the President may always be wise. If we must disagree on any of those decisions, we shall never question his sincere desire for peace."

Ford said he would raise questions if there should be a policy decision that would "get the United States involved in a large scale ground war in South Viet Nam." But he said he is not opposed to sending more troops to protect U.S. installations and personnel.

Dirksen was asked if he agreed with a statement by Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., that Johnson might be close to losing Republican support on Viet Nam. Talking to Laird, he did not think Laird meant to convey that meaning.

Special Diet Drops Weight 600 Pounds

Happy Humphrey Crosses Legs First Time

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Happy Humphrey weighed 802 pounds three years ago, and he was so fat he had to sit up to sleep.

Today, fresh from a dieting research program, he is almost 600 pounds lighter and says the difference has changed his life.

"For the first time in my life I can cross my legs," said Happy, crossing them.

"Look at this. I can do things now that I could never do before. I can hunt and fish and swim. And for the first time in 15 years I can sleep lying down. I was so big that I used to have to sleep sitting at a 45-degree angle."

"I can even wear store-bought clothes now," said Happy, whose real name is William J. Cobb.

The Atlanta Constitution told in a copyrighted story today how Cobb, 39, had suffered a heart attack in 1962 while wrestling under the name Happy Humphrey.

A physician in his hometown, Macon, Ga., told him to reduce.

Cobb managed to get his weight down to 644 pounds before becoming a volunteer patient in June, 1963, at the Medical College of Georgia's Clinical Investigation Unit.

Dr. Wayne V. Greenberg was conducting a research project to determine which diets are most effective and whether it is better to nibble all day or take your calories in one dose.

Cobb lived at the hospital under precisely controlled conditions until last April, when his weight had dropped to 227 pounds.

During his stay Cobb never ate less than 1,000 calories a day. He dieted in 56-day cycles.

For 28 days he was given three meals a day and a bedtime snack, with the same food served every meal. For the next 28 days he ate the same food but all at one meal.

Three diets were alternated in cycles, one mostly fats, another mostly carbohydrates and the third predominantly protein.

Dr. Greenberg said final data had not been compiled but the protein diet seemed most effective. While on that diet, Cobb ate ground beef twice a day.

He weighs 230 pounds and says he can't recall not being fat.

"When I was born, I weighed 18 pounds," said Cobb. "Later I wore a bedsheet for a diaper. When I was 12 years old, I weighed 300 pounds."

"Eating to me was like drinking it to some people. I couldn't stop. My grocery bill ran from $25 to $30 a day."

"I have eaten a 14-pound turkey with all the trimmings at one sitting," he said. "And I could put away 15 chickens at a time."

LITTLE CHUTE—As tradition dictates, the mother of the bride is usually the busiest woman in town—issuing invitations to the big event, planning the reception, selecting the cake and flowers and helping the bride as much as she can. During this hectic time, a bridegroom's mother has much less to do.

When she has selected her outfit, composed an invitation list and possibly planned a rehearsal dinner, the bridegroom's mother can relax—"traditionally speaking".

This was not all true for the wedding of Miss Victoria Poppe and Melvin J. Van Asten Jr. Thursday morning. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Melvin Van Asten, 721 Buchanan St., made the bride's gown and veil, the three bridesmaids dresses, the apparel for the junior bride aide and her own ensemble.

Choose Patterns
Determined to be organized about the wedding, the bride and Mrs. Van Asten decided on patterns and fabrics in the spring. The invitations were ordered and the wedding was set on the calendar of St. John Catholic Church for Aug. 28. Reception plans were made at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Kaukauna.

Then late in June, when the Van Astens and Poppes were sure everything was under control—a "wrench" was thrown.

Because of job plans, the couple was forced to change the wedding date to July 15. One and one-half months were sliced from preparation time. Amazingly enough, Mrs. Van Asten was still able to accomplish all she set out to do.

The bridesmaids and junior bride aide were attired in avocado peau de sole. The floor-length gowns have long torsos and sashes down the back. The darker colors were chosen because of plans for the late August rite. The only change Mrs. Van Asten decided on was shortening the sleeves a bit.

The seamstress believes that the bridal gown required about three days of work. It is white peau de sole with a train. Mrs. Van Asten applied all the appliques by hand and then added pearls. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poppe, 521 S. Wilson St. Serving as her attendants were Mrs. Patrick Hughes, the bridegroom's sister, Misses Patricia and Christy Poppe, sisters of the bride, and Miss June Meulemans.

Mrs. Van Asten, an employee in the alterations department of an Appleton store for four years, also created her own ensemble. She wore a beige organza dress and coat. She says she has been making all her own clothes since she was in sixth grade.

New Wardrobe Ideas for Men Shown in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's fashion personality Lilly Dache predicts that men will use makeup on their faces for the same reasons that women do — "to look better and feel better."

But the men's fashion show that demonstrated new fall styles to the visiting press did not go quite that far.

The program by the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, sponsored by Du Pont, was a part of the New York couture group's week-long, semi-annual style preview.

Miss Dache based her prediction Wednesday on the sudden growth of the men's cologne business and on men's slowly dissolving resistance to the use of hairpieces.

But the time is not here yet.

New Ideas
The virile gentlemen who jauntily strode the runway — some with pipes, and some with Jerry Lewis haircuts — indicated that the time is ripe, though, for at least these new wardrobe ideas:

— Knickers. Men are already wearing them on the golf course — they say — with wild socks and wild shirts and sweaters to match. Look for them on the ski slopes, made of corduroy and worn with a quilted parka.

— Fur-lined overcoats. Lightweight, rainproof cottons, equipped with plenty of pockets for currency, passports and charge cards. They are three-

Pretty Fair Day at Seymour

Doreen Simon, Route 2, Black Creek, poked her nose at the display of onions, and checked to see the names of the ribbon winners. Below, ribbons were also a delight to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenquine, route 3, Seymour, who investigated the baked goods display.

The Outagamie County Fairgrounds at Seymour began to stir with life Wednesday, as exhibits of clothing, food, livestock, and other projects of the year were set up for judging and display. Thursday, everyone wanted to see. The young, the old and those caught in the middle poked and prodded and looked, and many waited with held breath for the judges' decisions.

Today is family day at the fair, with special programs arranged for mom, dad and all the little ones.

Mrs. Ronald Unertl, home economics agent at Waupaca County, found that judging is hard work. Above, she tests for color and texture as she helps determine those who got top prizes in the baked goods competition. Tasting was also part of the judging. At right, the balloons were big and the affair momentous, but the young son of Mrs. Duane Paulbicki, Seymour, gave it up for a much needed nap. Bobby, 1, snoozed in the midst of noise and lights and awoke to claim the big and colorful balloons his mother had in tow.

If East does hold the ace of right answer, especially if you have already peeked at the West hand. The important thing is to know the reasoning, so that your brain gets the right kind of exercise.

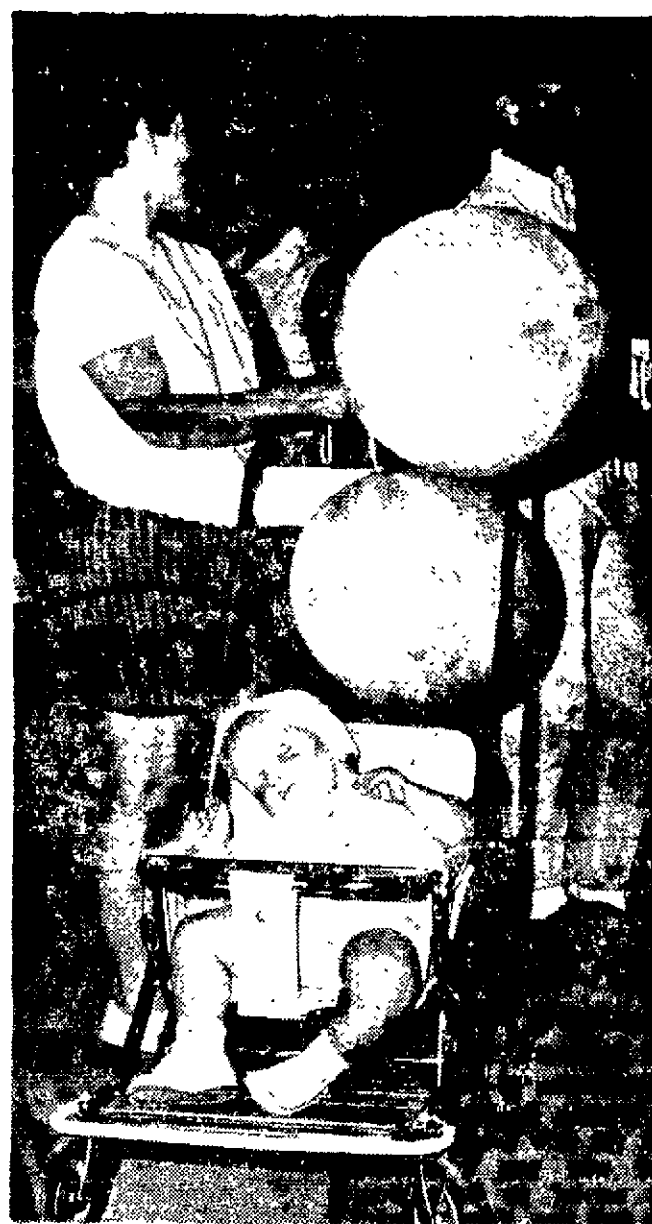

Think of East. If you use your brain to capacity you will know the correct spade play without having to guess. It isn't hard to know the trump finesse through East, so you are hoping to find the king of hearts in his hand. Right off the bat you know of 9 points in high cards in the East hand.

You can even assume that East is likely to have at least the jack of clubs. If West held clubs headed by the queen-jack or queen-jack-ten, he might well have led the queen of clubs in-forcing.

Architect's Goof Not Excuse For Using Wrong Restroom

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our firm occupies an entire floor in one of the city's larger office buildings. The architect who planned this building must have hated females. The ladies room is about half a block from our suite of offices which employs 30 women. The men's room is directly across the hall.

I heard that a certain woman in the accounting department was seen going out of the men's room yesterday morning. I didn't believe it so I asked her.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., the couple will reside at route 3, New London.

My fiancée speaks very little of her unfortunate marriage which suits me just fine. I don't want to know any more. Can it be that she doesn't want to know any more either? As a woman you will be able to tell me what is best — Advance Thanks

Dear Advance: As a woman I can tell you nothing is so unpredictable as a woman. My advice is to ask her.

Some women believe ignorance is bliss, and what they don't know can't hurt them — to pile on another cliché. If your fiancée is one of these types, keep quiet unless, of course, you have a jail record, an illegitimate child or an incurable illness. (Such information should never be withheld from the one you plan to marry.)

If your fiancée wishes to hear the full story of your marriage bust-up, I urge you to be charitable toward your ex-wife. Remember, every

She said, "You bet it's true. I wouldn't think of hiking all the way down to the ladies room."

Any suggestions? — Shocked disbeliever

Dear Shocked: Left alone, certain problems solve themselves. If that dame continues to use the men's room something is bound to happen to change her mind. Suddenly she'll decide it's worth the hike.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After ten years of marriage and two children my wife and I were divorced. Several months ago I met a wonderful woman — also divorced. We are very much in love and plan to marry in the fall. The problem is this:

How much should I reveal to my fiancée of why my marriage failed? I'm not afraid to give her the complete story, including the part where I was clearly to blame. But do you feel this is wise?

Do we have a right to ask these people to leave their dog at home? — Can't Decide

Dear Can't: Of course you do, but a better solution would be to invest at least as much time training your son as your friends have spent training their dog.

A two-and-a-half-year-old child should know what NO means. Moreover, children should be taught early to treat animals gently. So get busy.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1965)

The Ailing House Noisy Ducts Can be Quieted

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN Q: The galvanized ducts which were put in our new air conditioning are very noisy. You can certainly hear the rumble of the air pump, or whatever it is, all through the duct. Sometimes it even sounds at the far end of the house. How can I quiet it? A: I saw this same problem cured in a small church in New Mexico. The rumble was so loud the minister's words were inaudible in the back rows. They cut a section out of the duct, about a foot or so. Then they closed the two sections together with a sleeve of leather (canvas could also have been used). This effectively broke up the sound waves as they built up going along the duct. Now

Senate Delays Final Okay on Fox Valley Bill

Legislator Feels
Projects Proposal

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay told the State Senate Thursday he wants time to examine in detail the Fox River Valley Regional Planning Commission regional projects bill because he has "qualms about it."

Warren failed to persuade the Senate to delay all action on the measure that would permit cities, towns, villages and counties to sponsor regional projects, and to condemn lands and to borrow money for such cooperative ventures. But final action on approval was delayed in the upper house of the legislature.

The measure was the first to be introduced into the State Assembly this year, was approved in that house with comparative ease, and has been before the Senate since April 14.

Opposition Attempts
There it has evidently met some quiet resistance, although the details and the reasons have not been clear.

One amendment defeated Thursday would have excluded highway projects from the list of cooperative enterprises that could be undertaken under the terms of the legislation. That would have struck at the heart of the matter, according to the explanations of the sponsors at earlier legislative hearings.

Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek also defeated another hostile move Thursday, in the form of a motion to refer the measure to the Agriculture Committee, where it might have been delayed and defeated indirectly through legislative adjournment which is expected reasonably soon.

Qualms Are Vague
Warren did not explain his own admittedly belated reservations about the bill. "I have great qualms about this matter," he said. "I have talked to some of the people who will be involved in this kind of activity."

Special To The Post-Crescent
NEW YORK—The American Can Co. had record earnings and sales for both the first six months and the second quarter of this year, William C. Stolk, chairman and chief executive officer, reported today.

The company reported earnings of $1.63 per share of common stock for the first six months compared with $1.19 for the first six months of the previous year, and $1.19 for the second quarter of this year, compared with $0.75 for the second quarter of 1964.

Appleton's Water Utility Bill Passed by Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — After considerable hesitation and over some influential opposition, the legislature has approved an Appleton sponsored bill to limit the obligation of cities and villages as water utilities to serve customers outside their boundaries.

The measure earlier approved by the Assembly was passed late Thursday by the State Senate in spite of an adverse report on it by a powerful committee.

The bill now goes to Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who will probably be informed that the State Public Service Commission opposed it in hearings in the legislative branch.

Lorge Saves Bill
In the Senate, Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek rescued

Mitchell to Talk About Water Bill to Knowles

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, reached today at Waukesha where he is attending the state convention of the Wisconsin American Legion, said he would talk to Gov. Warren Knowles and urge him to sign the water utility service bill.

"The governor will be here over the weekend and I intend to impress upon him the importance of this legislation and the good it will do such growing communities as Appleton," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said in the event the governor was unable to get to Waukesha, he would send him a telegram urging favorable action on the bill.

The bill that was introduced by Assemblyman Harold Froehlich at the request of the Appleton city administration.

After the senate judiciary committee had recommended rejection of the bill, Lorge had it referred for study by the Senate Committee of Labor, Insurance, Banking and Taxation, which he heads, and arranged for it to get a favorable recommendation from his group.

The effect of the measure, if it becomes law with Knowles signature, will be to modify a rule of the PSC, which has regulatory power over public utilities. The rule states that once a utility offers service outside its limits it must serve all customers who want service there.

Diderrich's death followed a short illness.

A native of Grandville, Wis., Diderrich owned and operated his own furnishing company prior to his retirement 18 years ago.

He served as president of the Appleton Building and Loan Association for 22 years, retiring in 1961. He had served as a director since 1921. He also was a past president of the Rotary Club.

Survivors are the widow, two daughters, three brothers, one sister, four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Monday morning at the Wichmann Funeral Home. The Rev. Clifford J. Pierson will officiate.

A memorial fund is being established for the Appleton Rotary Scholarship Fund.

the city of Appleton extended service, through a small main, several years ago to the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center in the Town of Menasha.

Subsequently a church in the town asked for service, and won a ruling from the PSC in its favor in spite of protests by the city that it did not intend that its contribution to the public school should be interpreted as a desire to serve general customers outside the city.

Strikes at Appleton Plants Continue Today

500 Workers at Appleton Machine, A-C

Strikes affecting 500 workers at two Appleton industrial plants continued today with no end in sight.

There were these developments:

—Negotiators for the Appleton Machine Co. and Local 747 of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) met this morning with a federal mediator at the Conway Motor Hotel.

—Union-management bargaining at the Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works met with the mediator Thursday and talks broke off at 3 p.m. as result of a stalemate. No future talks have been scheduled.

Ask Higher Wages
In both instances, Local 747 is striking for higher wages in 1965 contract negotiations. Previous contracts the union had with both firms expired.

Appleton Machine, which employs about 200 persons, was struck a week ago Thursday and production is at a standstill.

The Allis Chalmers firm was hit by a walkout Sunday after the union membership rejected the company's contract package.

Thursday and today marked the first time both sides met since the strikes started.

The firms are being picketed by members of Local 747, and the lines are being honored by other unions.

Arivederci Rome, Hello Seymour!

BY ALICE FULTON

SEYMOUR — Thursday night he opened a four-night engagement here at the Outagamie County Fair. A week ago he sang his hit, "Mr. Lonely" in Italian in Rome. Quite a contrast.

But not for popular recording star Bobby Vinton, except that "I like working at fairs," and "I didn't like Europe."

An interview with Bobby Vinton is unsettling because he assumes no modesty or reticence, but speaks candidly of himself, his career, other entertainers, other countries. "I'm not a rock and roll singer," he makes clear immediately. Vinton certainly doesn't fit the rock and roll stereotype of a one-hit talentless wonder.

All-Around Musician
A native of Grandville, Wis., he calls himself a popular singer, but he also can play almost any instrument in the band, was the youngest professional band leader at 15, has performed in theater, and has written one of his own hits.

His first and biggest hit, "Roses Are Red," sold more than three million copies in 1962 and he has reached the top of the hit list eight times since then. His latest recording, "Harlow," was released a month ago.

Vinton's plans for the future: "Anything. I quit picking goals because I could never find one," the dark blond-haired singer declares. "Once," he recalls, "I would have been happy doing nothing but leading a band. Then, I would have been happy just singing."

"Now, I do only what I

Public Works Employees Ask 8-Cent Hourly Raise

Recommend UCS Goal of $201,321

Budget Committee Sets Figure
$8,000 Below Asked Amount

A 1966 campaign goal of $201,321 was recommended by the budget committee of United Community Services of Appleton, at the board of directors meeting Thursday.

Requests by the 12 agencies included in UCS totaled $209,944. The final campaign goal will be set at the August meeting.

In the meantime, the budget committee will hold a special meeting with representatives from the Young Men's Christian Association to discuss the amount which the YMCA will receive from the campaign.

Request Cut
The $45,000 request from the YMCA was cut to $38,666 by the budget committee. In a letter to the board, the YMCA requested that the board allocate the originally-requested amount.

The campaign is set for October. Charles P. Heeter, UCS president, also announced that a successor for A. Rowland Todd, executive director, has not been found.

No Success
He said that a number of applicants had been interviewed without success.

Todd, whose resignation becomes effective Sept. 1, will become executive director of the Wisconsin Welfare Council in Madison.

The reason it is so difficult to find a qualified replacement, Heeter said, is that there are very few people in this field and these people usually have a number of communities from which to choose.

He said this was a poor time to seek a replacement because campaigns are getting under way in many communities and the directors feel that they can't leave at this time.

Court Clerk Takes Own Life At Waupaca

WAUPACA — Albert L. Anderson, 55, 440 North St., Waupaca, Waupaca County clerk of courts and former county clerk, was found at 12:20 p.m. today in the basement of his home dead of a self-inflicted shotgun blast.

Anderson was county clerk from 1945 until 1960 when he was elected clerk of courts.

His body was found by the husband of an office employee and police after he failed to show up for work. Unmarried, he lived with a sister.

A 12-gauge shotgun was used, Coroner Sam Salan said. Exact time of death has not been determined.

County Judge Herbert J. Mueller today ordered distribution of the estate to the heirs. Harry W. Pierce Jr., Neenah, a son, will receive a share valued at $56,120, and Margaret A. Pierce, Oshkosh, a daughter-in-law, a share worth $58,120.

Shares of $2,000 each will go to two grandsons, Edwin H. Pierce, Oshkosh, and James W. Pierce, Bellevue, Wash.

Federal estate taxes were $10,902 and state inheritance taxes totaled $4,906.

She was accused of taking the slip Tuesday from the H. C. Prange store.

Teamster Local Surprises Appleton Personnel Group At Contract Negotiations

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Teamsters Local 563 asked the Appleton Council's personnel committee for a general 8-cent an hour pay hike for public works employees Thursday night.

The meeting at the city hall served as a kick-off for 1965 contract negotiations within the framework of the Wisconsin Municipal Employee Act.

In addition to salary demands, the union is seeking an immediate adjustment in vacation policy, promised by the city earlier in the year, plus other fringe benefits.

Chairman Presses
Pressed by Max Hensel, personnel committee chairman, for some idea as to what the union might seek in 1966, Robert Schlieve, Local 563 business agent, said he felt a 12 to 15 cent pay increase would be in order — providing the economy continues its healthy spurt.

"Naturally, these matters will be subject to negotiation and we intend to be flexible, depending on conditions a year from now," Schlieve said.

The Teamsters represent 130 employees in the department of public works, including the street, sanitation and sewerage divisions. Schlieve indicated he and his committee were bargaining for them.

He estimated the 8-cent increase, if granted this year, would cost the city $21,000.

"Shakes Me Up"

Speaking on behalf of the personnel committee members, Hensel told Schlieve, "Frankly, the pay raise request shakes me up."

Schlieve replied that he, too, was "shook up" when the city recently adopted a new pay plan for salaried employees which granted them salary adjustments amounting to $83,000.

The union represents hourly-paid employees. The latter received a 3 per cent across-the-board pay increase for 1964 after close to 18 months of negotiations, climaxed by fact-finding this spring which favored the employees' position.

Schlieve said the eight-cent per hour would give each person in the public works department an annual increase of $160. "I don't think this is out of line when you consider the cost of living index is up 1.7 per cent and 10-cents seems to be the pattern," Schlieve declared.

City Fireman Dismissed by Commission

The Appleton Fire and Police Commission Thursday ordered Robert L. Recker, 727 E. Coolidge Ave., dismissed from the city fire department as a result of findings in a hearing Monday.

The findings, signed by commission Chairman Kurt A. Koletzki, said the hearing showed Recker was aware of the rules and regulations of the department and violated them. Recker, the report said, committed the infractions on the rules in March and April of this year. He had been a fireman for about three years.

Specifically, the charges against Recker, made by Chief Roland Kuehn, included that he questioned the "wisdom and necessity of lawful orders," was not "prompt and cheerful" in carrying out these orders, used indecent language over the intercom, threatened to salt down the food of other firemen, and showed a lack of "zeal, discretion and fidelity."

The report said Recker's actions had a demoralizing effect on the other men, "particularly the younger members of the department," and were harmful to discipline and order in the department.

He scoffed at any attempt to compare teachers' salaries with those of garbage collectors. "The teachers should get paid their worth for teaching and the garbage man for collecting garbage," Schlieve declared. Schlieve told the committee the city was committed to improving the vacation policy and cited a portion of the factfinding hearing transcript in which legal counsel for the City of Appleton stipulated one week vacation after one year's service, two weeks after two years, three weeks after 10 years and four weeks after 20 years.

Schlieve prodded the committee to give some indication as to its feelings on the wage and vacation matter. He urged action in putting the vacation policy into effect within a few weeks.

Increased fringe benefits being sought by the union concern an improved sick leave and employee insurance program, the latter in the process of being worked out jointly by the city and union per previous agreement.

Schlieve said the union also favored impartial binding arbitration in union - city disputes and urged the committee to adopt the same policy. Schlieve said Green Bay has had binding arbitration "for years."

"Some of these are things the

Bergstrom Friends Praised at Wing Dedication Rites

Mrs. Ernst Mahler Presents New Wing of Art Center to Neenah

NEENAH — "May all of us preserve this beautiful building well and use it wisely," Neenah Mayor Carl Loehning said Thursday night during presentation ceremonies of the new addition to the John Nelson Bergstrom art center and museum.

Mrs. Ernst Mahler presented the new wing to Mayor Loehning, who accepted on behalf of the city of Neenah. Mrs. Mahler represented her husband, who is organizer and president of the museum, at the ceremonies. Mrs. Mahler also laid the cornerstone to the addition.

S. F. Shattuck, commenting on the value and contributions of the center, said Neenah was fortunate to share with Milwaukee the honor of having "the outstanding museums in the state." He praised Mahler for his untiring efforts at the art center, saying "without his vision and foresight, this center could not have come about."

Introduces Friends

Prof. Charles M. Brooks Jr., executive director of the center, was master of ceremonies at the dedication rite. Among those introduced were Mrs. Sumner Parker, originator of the Friends of Bergstrom society; Mrs. Charles Buchanan, president of the society; Henry Jung and William Hug, past society presidents; Mrs. Evelyn Campbell Cloak, assistant director of the center and curator of paperweights; Mr. and Mrs. Christian Schneider, resident caretakers at the museum, and several museum guides.

The addition is located directly south of the main museum building. It was designed by Shattuck, Siewert and Associates, Inc., Neenah architectural firm. The new wing has two galleries, an entrance room, two downstairs classrooms and storage space.

A reception and open house followed the dedication rites.

Appleton Drive To Cover USO As 12th Agency

Allocates $1,100 for Servicemen's Clubs From Local Funds

The United Service Organization has been included in the 1966 United Community Services campaign of Appleton according to Charles P. Heeter, UCS president.

"About $1,100 has been allocated to the newest agency."

The reason we included the agency," said Heeter, "is that we have about 1,100 boys from this area who are in the armed forces and we felt that one dollar for each boy was not too much to give."

Part of the decision to include a 12th agency was based on a letter received from Harvey Taylor, regional executive of the USO.

New Clubs Opened

Taylor writes that "about two years ago USO opened a club in Saigon which is now serving more than 1,000 men per day. Peak loads have run as high as 2,500 on a 24-hour basis."

In January another club was opened at Da Nang, serving mostly the Marines who landed there. A third club was opened in Tan Son Nhut, an airstrip near Saigon.

"Except for the club in Saigon, the present 1965 budget does not allow for the opening and operation of clubs which have or will be opened in 1966."

May Close Some

Funds to operate these clubs have to be squeezed out of our current budget which will necessitate the closing of some of

Setting Is Standout

Vivid Poetry, Horseplay In Riverside Comedy

BY JAMES AUER

NEENAH — Vivid poetic imagery and robust Irish horseplay are mingled with memorable effect in John M. Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World," which was given a distinctive, if not totally distinguished, production by the Riverside Players Thursday evening.

Under the direction of Kenneth Anderson, who is known for his courage in selecting the masterworks of theatrical literature for summer presentation in the Riverside park pavilion, the Players have staged Synge's controversial, 58-year-old comedy-drama with care and taste.

Perhaps the chief asset of the present production is Stan Bye's atmospheric and highly workable set representing a "county public house in a village on a wild coast of Mayo."

Three-Sided Arena

Making full use of the three-sided arena format, Bye has, through the exercise of imagination and considerable ingenuity, given Director Anderson ample space for deploying his large cast and achieving necessary visual effects.

The script itself, of course, deals with the vain and boastful youth, Christopher Mahon (played by Dave Wollangk), who invades the public house operated by Margaret Flaherty (Ann Fieweger) and promptly announces that he has murdered his father.

The news delights and scandalizes the otherwise moribund village, and wins for Christopher the admiration of two prospective brides, the Widow Quin (Vi Malson) and the hot-tempered Miss Flaherty.

As might be expected, Christopher's father (Tom Temme) soon turns up alive — bandaged, embittered and roaring for revenge. What follows is not only a sharply-observed commentary on some aspects of the Irish national character, but a shrewdly-drawn presentation of the universal human tendency to admire the perpetrator of almost any daring and violent action, as long as that action is committed over the hill and comfortably out of sight.

The ultimate success of any production of Synge's masterpiece must rest on the capacity of the individual cast members to rise to the beauty and eloquence of the free-flowing poetry which the playwright has drawn from the common speech of the Irish peasantry. And in this respect the Riverside production has an opportunity for future development throughout the balance of the three-night run.

Probably because of the inevitable stresses of opening night, certain cast members Thursday had a tendency to attack lines of great subtlety and beauty in a somewhat staccato style, striving for farcical pace rather than giving themselves up to the luxuriant imagery of the folk poetry.

Prominent among those who resisted this impulse, and shared their delight in the language with an appreciative audience, were Dave Wollangk, who projected sensitivity and vanity in almost equal proportions as the verbally murderous Christopher Mahon, and Jerry Yetter, who brought fine vocal variety to the role of Michael James Flaherty, Margaret's father.

Fine Fashion

Tom Temme roared in fine Mayo fashion as the reluctant victim of patricide, and Ned Righor Jr. was predictably distraught as the suitor whose chances for Peggion Flaherty's hand were jeopardized by the arrival of the romantic stranger.

As the two women in Christopher's life, the aggressive Widow Quin and the sharp-tempered Peggion Flaherty, Vi Malson and Ann Fieweger, projected the shrewish qualities of the characters, somewhat at the expense of the sensuality and sensitivity that one suspects are lurking beneath their highly individualistic exteriors.

Calumet Redistricting Plan Lauded at Hearing

Only Major Objection Comes From Hilbert Supervisor Who Wants Village Represented

CHILTON — Several persons who attended a public hearing on Calumet County reapportionment here Thursday night lauded the redistricting committee's efforts, but spokesmen for the village of Hilbert asked not to be left "voiceless."

The special public hearing was on the committee's proposal which would reduce the Calumet board from its present 24 supervisors to 16 after the April, 1966 election.

Dictates by the Wisconsin Supreme Court and Legislature order county boards to reapportion by November. State law says counties in Calumet's population category can have no more than 21 supervisors.

The intention of the law is to have counties comply as nearly as possible to the "one man, one vote" theory of representation. Under the new Calumet County plan, each supervisor would represent as closely as possible, an average of 1,392 people.

Hilbert "Voiceless"

Hilbert Supv. Herman Greve made the plea not to leave Hilbert "voiceless."

The redistricting committee's plan combines Hilbert with the Town of Woodville to form a single supervisory district.

County Board Chairman Louis Huijbregtse (Brillion) pointed out to Greve that Hilbert would not be without representation on the reapportioned board. "Under the new plan," he said, "supervisors are to be strictly county officers and do not have to answer to any city, village or township." (Formerly, all Calumet County town chairmen automatically were county board supervisors.)

Redistricting committee chairman G. J. Hipke (New Holstein) told Greve and Hilbert Village President Orville Manz that two alternate reapportionment plans do not adhere well to districts with equal population.

Must Stand Up in Court

Dist. Atty. F. J. Schneider, who worked with the special committee, defended the plan and said his involvement was necessary because any reapportionment plan must be able to stand up in court.

If the plan does not meet state approval, Schneider explained, the Supreme Court can intervene and do the job itself. "But I'm grateful," he said, "that counties have been given the right to put their own houses in order."

Urge Lake Michigan as Appleton Water Source

Appleton should go to Lake Michigan for its long-range water supply, the executive committee of the Outagamie County Democratic Party recommended Thursday night.

After discussing Appleton's water search, the group said it favored extending a pipeline to Lake Michigan for quality water.

"We made our recommendation in the best interests of the citizens of Appleton," Chairman Lester A. Balliet said today. "While the matter does not concern politics, it does relate to the welfare of the community."

Balliet said the committee felt Lake Winnebago was not the answer—even on a short-term basis—for Appleton's need for a quality, long-range supply.

Urge Action Now

"The city should act boldly and adequately in seeking an adequate water supply," the committee agreed. "If the pipeline is adequate, Appleton can sell water to other communities in the future."

The executive committee said Appleton would also be able to

Fox Cities Adult School Favored

NEENAH - MENASHA — The question of what is to happen next in the Fox Cities vocational school picture was called to mind again by action taken this week by the Menasha Board of Vocational and Adult Education, which went on record as "favoring an area school."

This step is a formal expression by the board members of their willingness to join with the districts of Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly and Neenah to provide an area technical institute. It does not indicate that any action has been taken, will be taken, or can be taken, as proposed legislation delineating the building an operation of such a technical institute must first become law.

The enabling legislation is contained in Bill 501 A which is standing in line with a number of other education bills awaiting the legislature's action on the budget. If this bill is passed, it is highly probable there will be a spurt of activity as one of its provisions will place all of the territory in the state in a vocational school district by July 1, 1970.

Authorities said today picketing has been orderly with no incidents.

Both sides in the labor disputes at both firms had indicated a willingness to resume contract talks, subject to call of a mediator.

While negotiations appear to be at a complete standstill at Allis Chalmers Appleton Works, which employs 300 — Appleton Machine and union representatives continued talks this afternoon.

They convened at 10 a.m., and continued discussion with a mediator this afternoon. There was no indication that progress was being made, except both sides were willing to continue contract talks.

"As long as both sides are willing to talk I will keep encouraging them to do so," the mediator indicated.

Claim Notice Filed For Injured Child

The father of a three-year-old rural DePere youngster injured by a swing in an Appleton Park July 10 today filed notice of a claim against the city.

Henry Jordan, route 2, West DePere, filed the notice with the city clerk's office.

He said his son, Larry, was struck in the head by an occupied swing while attending a picnic at Telulah Park.

The boy, Jordan said, ran underneath the swing and a protruding seat bolt reportedly gashed his head, resulting in a cut and fractured skull.

Jordan said his son was still confined at an Appleton Hospital. Notice of a claim is usually prelude to a lawsuit.

Planned Malfunction Turns Into Emergency

U. S. Army 'Golden Knight' Skydiver Relies On Reserve Chute to Halt Deadly Plunge

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SEYMOUR—While thrilling Outagamie County Fair spectators with a stunt parachute malfunction, Thursday afternoon a member of the U.S. Army "Golden Knights" skydiving team, came within a few hundred feet of death when an unexpected real malfunction occurred.

S. Sgt. Bill Wise, Ft. Payne, Ala., a veteran of 569 parachute jumps, while demonstrating the control which a skydiver has over his equipment while jumping, experienced an intentional and unintentional malfunction.

Planned Jump

The former advanced parachuting instructor for the Army in Germany, said the jump from 13,500 feet, as planned was to:

—Open a special parachute at 3,000 feet.

—Release a portion of the chute so as to cause a streamer.

—Release the entire chute at 2,200 feet and;

—Pull the cord on his main parachute at 1,800 feet and float to the ground.

The first two steps of the demonstration went exactly as planned. But an unforeseen malfunction developed. According to Sgt. Wise "A pilot chute hesitation caused by the partial vacuum created by his falling body, kept the main parachute from leaving the back pack to inflate causing what is called 'a bubble.'"

Reserve Chute

To prevent his falling to the ground to an almost certain death, Sgt. Wise activated his reserve chute, which was open at 1,000 feet, he said. Witnesses said he seemed to be much closer to the ground.

Sgt. Wise said he had been demonstrating the jump, developed two years ago by the Army team to exhibit the control which a jumper has over his equipment during free fall, for two years.

"The intentional streamer," he explained, "is caused by releasing the right riser of the parachute causing the chute to lose all air." This adds a flair of excitement for spectators and does not usually involve any danger, unless the unforeseen happens, as it did Thursday.

Danger Eliminated

By carrying an additional parachute attached to the front of the harness, (the main parachute has a reserve mounted on the upper portion of the back pack) the danger element is all but eliminated, he explained.

Apparently not frightened by the near accident, Sgt. Wise took to the air again for the 7 p.m. performance of the "Golden nights" at the fair, this time taking part in the four man diamond demonstration.

Tonight will be the final performance of the Army demonstration team at the fair. Each performance includes nine parachutists jumping in one, two and four man groups depending on the maneuvers for the particular demonstration.

Casino Closed Since Scuffle

Owner Claims He Lacked Proper Police Protection

WAUPACA—The Casino, the largest teen-age dance hall and beer bar in Waupaca County, which draws crowds of thousands of teen-agers from throughout northeast Wisconsin each summer weekend, has been closed since a bartender was injured in a fight, last Sunday night.

John Goeltzer, owner of The Casino, which is located at the Indian Crossing on the Chain o' Lakes west of here, said he has not been receiving the proper police protection on weekends, so he closed the establishment. When asked if the Casino would be open this weekend, Goeltzer, declined to comment.

Bartender Hurt

The incident which prompted Goeltzer to close the gathering spot occurred just before closing time last Sunday.

Kicked Bottle

Bartender Harlow Woodliff, 21, Waupaca, ordered a 22-year-old Milwaukee man from the porch overlooking the lakes after he kicked a beer bottle.

Alwin B. Thies, allegedly struck Woodliff, severely cutting his left eye. Thies was arrested by sheriff's department authorities and pleaded innocent to a charge of disorderly conduct and battery when he appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court.

Woodliff has since been released from the hospital where he was taken after the incident.

These Elephants Will be put through their lumbering paces at 8 p.m. today when the Cristiani-Wallace Bros. circus presents its second and last performance at W. Spencer Street field, near the Moe Northern Co. The Noon and Evening Lions clubs of Appleton have brought the troupe, complete with aerial, juggling, acrobatic and riding acts and an assortment of animals, to town for the day. The Lions clubs sponsor the circus annually as a fund raising project.

Regional University Backers Optimistic About Success

Bills on Four-Year Institutions Sent to Conference Committee

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Backers of legislation to establish new state universities in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin were optimistic about ultimate success today, in spite of a delay of the measure resulting from a parliamentary snarl.

The fate of the authorization bill is now in the hands of a six-member conference committee representing the two legislative houses, because of a disagreement between the Senate and Assembly on the selection of administrative management of the new institutions.

Review Arguments

The conference group will review the arguments of those who want control of the new schools by the University of Wisconsin regents, which is the position of the Assembly, and those who prefer to have the choice of administrative identity made by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

The latter would consider the desire of the Board of Regents of State Colleges as well as the University of Wisconsin regents.

The Senate version of the bill leaves the choice of administrative control up to the Coordinating Committee.

The men likely to sit as a conference committee favor University of Wisconsin control. They are Assemblymen Molinaro of Kenosha and Quinn and Vanderperren of Brown County, already named by Speaker Robert Huber of the Assembly, and Sens. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, Robert Warren of Green Bay and Taylor Benson of Franksville, Racine County.

Their report is likely to reflect their previous voting positions in favor of University operation. Although the State Senate with fair consistency thus far has expressed a preference for directing the Coordinating Committee to resolve the issue, Warren and others are hopeful that they can persuade several senators to change their minds in favor of the University choice.

Under the rules of the legislature, a conference committee report must be accepted or rejected in total. It cannot be amended.

The major provisions of the bill provide authority and $400,000 in money for the planning of the institutions and the review of potential sites for the new schools, with the expectation that the 1967 legislature would arrange the building funds to permit the start of instruction in the third or third and fourth year courses at the Fox Valley school as early as 1969.

tipsy Driver Fined $175

Burt Fischer Pleads Guilty, Loses License

Burt B. Fischer Jr., 31, 1115 W. Harris St., Thursday was fined $175 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Fischer changed his plea to guilty when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Tuesday.

In addition to the fine, his driver's license was revoked for one year.

He was arrested April 18 by Appleton police on N. Badger Avenue.

Localized Detours Caused by Meade Street Projects

Construction projects affecting two segments of N. Meade Street have started and will result in localized detours, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said today.

Meade Street from Northland to Florida Avenue is being graded and graveled.

The street from Northland to Lindbergh Street will be paved with concrete in addition to having curbing installed.

"Some persons residing in that area of the city may have to detour to gain access onto Northland Avenue (County OO)," Bues advised.

The projects are being undertaken to provide access to Einstein Junior High School when it opens this fall.

Bues said Meade Street received priority over paying the Washington-Franklin Street extension, which will be the next major summer project.

Minor Injuries Result From Two Crashes Thursday

Two persons were injured in separate accidents in Appleton Thursday night.

James R. Gustman, 39, 205 Black St., Kaukauna, suffered a cut lip in a rear-end collision at about 11:50 p.m. at S. Oneida and Seymour streets.

The car he was driving was involved in a rear-end crash with an automobile driven by Robert J. Liethen, 40, 1412 Oakcrest Drive.

Patricia McGlin, a passenger in a car driven by Lyle McGlin, 39, both of 2202 N. Meade St., complained of shoulder pains after an accident at about 8:30 p.m. on Appleton Street at Washington.

McGlin's car struck the rear end of one driven by Clarence C. Weinfurter, 52, 1019 W. Franklin St., attempting to turn off of Appleton Street.

Some Help Needed In Preparing Summer Orchestra Show

"Dust off the old instruments and join in the fun."

That's the invitation Frank Comella, music director for the Appleton schools, has extended to any adults in the community who might be interested in the summer school orchestra program at Appleton High School.

"The band is tooting along just fine," Comella said, "but the orchestra could use some help because we are preparing a simple program for the evening of Aug. 5."

"A number of adults have already joined and they are having a great time," he said.

Anyone interested, may contact Comella or call the Appleton High School.

String, Paste, Crepe Paper Can Form Attractive Necklace
BY CAPPY DICK
Some string, paste and crepe paper can be turned into an attractive necklace. The beads, made of crepe paper, will look like those in Figure 2. They will not slide on the string as ordinary beads do, but are tightly fastened to the string with paste.
Figure 1 shows the necessary articles -- the paste, the string and some strips of crepe paper. The cord must be long enough to tie around your neck with a bowknot. The strips of crepe paper should be three-eighths of tapered at each end as the beads are in Figure 2. When the entire eight-inch strip has been wrapped tightly, paste the end down firmly. You are then ready to make the second bead. Whatever the color of this second bead may be, have it overlap the red one slightly so no string shows between them. As you complete each bead, start another one until the necklace is as long as you want it to be.
Dip the whole necklace, except the ends of the cord, into clear shellac and let it dry. This will keep the color of the crepe paper from running.

League-Leading Twins Lose to A's, 3-2, After Winning 11-3 Mismatch

Cleveland Grabs Second in AL; Sox Beat Angels

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Minnesota Twins had no idea that Haywood Sullivan's slingshot was loaded.

Sullivan's Kansas City Athletics fished their way past the meatgrinding Twins 3-2 in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Thursday night as major league baseball swung back into action following the All-Star break.

American League - leading Minnesota tore into Sullivan's last place Athletics for an 11-3 first game victory in the kind of mismatch that reminded you of David and Goliath.

Osinski's Relief Performance Saves Game for Johnson

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Braves pitcher Ken Johnson said he could see the Pirate rally coming in Milwaukee's 9-6 victory Thursday night.

"When you see it, you just want to stop right where you are for an hour or so and then come back and try again," he said. The Pittsburgh Pirates knocked the veteran pitcher from the mound during a five-run rally in the sixth inning. Johnson had carried a 9-1 lead into the inning, but needed relief help from Dan Osinski to notch the win, his ninth against four setbacks.

"I made some good pitches," Johnson said, "but they kept hitting the ball where nobody was playing."

The Pirates scored their sixth inning runs on five singles and a double. Few of Johnson's pitches were hit hard.

Tendency to Overdo It

"I don't relax out there even with a hundred run lead," Johnson answered. "If anything, I have a tendency to overdo it."

The Braves, playing without All-Star catcher Joe Torre who was being rested, jumped on Pirate starter Vernon Law in the very first inning.

After Felipe Alou rolled out, Frank Bolling singled, Hank Aaron doubled him to third and Gene Oliver singled both home. Oliver then scored on Eddie Mathews' 17th homer and the Braves were up 4-0.

The Braves increased their lead to 9-0 in the fourth inning. Mack Jones started the racking of Pirate reliever Tommy Sisk with scratch single and advanced to second on Bill Mazeroski's overthrow. Jones moved to third when Woody Woodward rolled to first.

Chualo Offered $50,000 to Fight For WBA Title

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago fight promoter offered Toronto's George Chualo a $50,000 guarantee Thursday for a possible September title bout here with Ernie Terrell, reigning World Boxing Association heavyweight champion.

Promoter Irv Schoenwald said the offer was sent in a telegram to handlers of Chualo, the WBA's third-ranked contender. Schoenwald gave Chualo until July 20 to accept the offer for the fight, which probably would be held at the International Amphitheater where Terrell won the WBA title by outpointing Eddie Machen on March 5.

No date was specified by Schoenwald, who said he would promote the match within the next 90 days.

Fox Cities Remain 1/2-Game Back Of Co-Leaders After 3-0 Victory Over Twins; Meet Again Tonight

BY MIKE WALTER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Going, they say, is what the tough get when the going gets tough. Whichever you choose—going or tough—Fox Cities Foxes' right-hander Larry Connell was it at Goodland Field Thursday night as he ran the Foxes' winning streak to six with an eight-hit, 3-0 victory over Wisconsin Rapids.

The win enabled the Foxes to cling to the heels of pace-setting was wasted, but Sepich's in the eighth was good for run No. 3. With one out, Elmore Hill was hit by a pitch from relief hurler Brian Wilhelm. Sepich followed with his three-bagger, chasing Hill home.

The Twins' most serious threat came in the second inning, when a pair of singles and a throw across the infield put runners at second and third with one out. Catcher Barry Freitag then lifted a fly to medium left. Hill grabbed the ball for the out and threw a strike to the plate to nail the sliding runner, Hansche. Catcher Dick Horton, who grabbed the ball a split-second before he was upended by Hansche, held onto the ball and the threat was over.

Burlington and Cedar Rapids, who share a half-game Midwest League edge over Fox Cities.

The Foxes and Twins will square off in the second of the three-game series at 8 p.m. today at Goodland Field.

Connell, whose victory looks easy in the box score—he struck out eight and walked only two—had to fight all the way. In only the fifth inning did he retire the Twins in order. He stranded a total of 10 baserunners, including six who got into scoring position.

Not on Rampage
Foxes batsmen were not on any rampage, however, collecting only five safeties and forcing Connell to be as stingy as possible.

John Sepich was the big gun for the Foxes, lining a pair of triples to the deepest part of right-center field and adding a single in four trips. He drove in one run and scored another.

Dick Hickerson accounted for the other marker, slamming a drive off the scoreboard for a home run in the first inning.

At first, it appeared as if the Foxes were going to make the game a no-contest affair. After Hickerson's homer, successive walks to Curt Motton and Bob Connolly by Twins' starter-loser Dick Taaffe and a single by Sepich loaded the bases.

Newcomer Dave Halford then smashed a line drive into right field, but right at Bill Hansche, who retired Halford and the side.

Sepich led off the fourth with his first triple and scored moments later on another Halford liner—this one a sacrifice fly to the left-fielder.

Poploski Loses To Zampedro in Morning Match

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The "kids" had the 40th National Public Links Golf Tournament all to themselves today for the grueling 36-hole semifinal over North Park golf course's 6,781 yards of man-killing hills.

Pairings for the two matches had Leo Zampedro, 24-year-old Warren, Ohio, fireman, meeting Al Bailey, 19-year-old State College of Iowa student, and Arne Dokka, 21-year-old Far West intercollegiate champ, playing Jim Schroder, 21-year-old San Francisco marketing student who is making his first appearance in a national tournament.

Winners of today's matches will meet in a 36-hole final Saturday for the James D. Standish Cup and exemption from qualifying for the National Amateur later this summer.

Medalist Loses
Zampedro made it to the semi-finals Thursday by defeating Wendell Kop, 30-year-old Hawaiian telephone company engineer, 2 and 1. Zampedro had defeated medalist Stan Poploski, 43-year-old Pittsburgh real estate man, in the morning.

Bailey, current Cedar Rapids and Mason City, Iowa, amateur champ, eliminated Art Roney, 47-year-old Pittsburgh truck driver, 3 and 2.

Schroder, whose father is the San Francisco city accountant, disposed of Ruffy Grier of Dayton, Ohio, 5 and 4. He had eliminated defending champ Billy McDonald of Topeka, Kan., 2 and 1 in the third round.

Dokka, a native of Norway, routed Bob Eichstaedt, 19-year-old from Miami, Fla., 5 and 4.

6 Golfers Named As First College All-Americans

NEW YORK (AP)—Six collegiate golfers, two of them from the University of Houston, were named Thursday as the first All-American college team. The sextet will be honored at a dinner for the benefit of the American Cancer Society at the Waldorf Astoria here July 27.

Houston golfers named by a selection board headed by Arnold Palmer were Marty Fleckman, newly crowned NCAA champion, and Randy Petri.

Also selected were Robert Dickson of Oklahoma State University, Robert Lauren Hammer of the University of Florida; Sherman Finger of Southern California and James Wiechers of Santa Clara.

Chicago Cubs' Catcher Ed Bailey had a busy seventh inning against the Los Angeles Dodgers in Chavez Ravine Thursday night. John Kennedy missed a suicide squeeze bunt with bases loaded and Bailey tagged out Jim Lefebvre, left, at the plate with umpire Ed Sudol calling the play. Then, the Dodgers' Maury Wills was trapped between first and second base, also being tagged out by Bailey for an unassisted double play. (AP Wirephoto)

Reds' Lefty Wins Fifth Straight As Cincinnati Leads by .003

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Put Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale together, and they barely come out ahead of Joe Nuxhall.

But Nuxhall has the Cincinnati Reds in first place in the National League, and the best Koufax and Drysdale can do for the Los Angeles Dodgers is second.

Nuxhall kept the Reds three percentage points ahead of the Dodgers Thursday night, stopping Philadelphia 8-1 on eight hits. Drysdale, meanwhile, pitched a three-hitter as Los Angeles whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

The triumph for Nuxhall was his fifth straight, all having come in Cincinnati's last eight victories, or since June 29. In the same period, Drysdale and Koufax, who own 29 triumphs between them overall, have combined for six of the Dodgers' eight victories.

Started June 29
The streak for the left-hander, who will be 37 in two weeks, started in a 7-5 decision over Pittsburgh, June 29.

Then, after pitching his first complete game of the season against Philadelphia July 4, he came back in relief against the Dodgers three days later and helped the Reds into first place. His fourth consecutive victory came in a start against Milwaukee July 10.

While going the distance against the Phillies for the second time in less than two weeks, Nuxhall, now 6-2 gave up only a home run to Dick Stuart in the fourth inning.

In other NL games, Milwaukee

kee outlasted Pittsburgh 9-6 and St. Louis edged New York 6-5.

Nuxhall helped himself by doubling home a run and scoring in the sixth inning. Tommy Harper drove in two runs for the Reds while Vada Pinson and After a three-year absence, Mrs. John Clauder of Port Washington, who has already won the title six times, will be trying for another crown. Within her reach is the chance to become the first grandmother to win the title.

Mrs. Clauder, 47, was junior champion at 17 and held the adult title in 1942, 1948, 1949, 1951, 1953 and 1956. She was runner-up four times.

Other top contenders include Mary Beth Nienhaus of Appleton; Carol Jean Sorensen of Racine, last year's junior champion, and Mrs. Rita Houston of Green Bay.

Former state champ Carol Sorensen of Janesville will pass up the tourney to defend her Trans-Mississippi title.

Jim Brown's Attorneys Cross-Examining Girl

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for professional football player Jim Brown are to continue their cross-examination today of Brenda Ayres, 18, who accused the Cleveland Browns' star of assault and battery.

In cross-examination Thursday, Norman S. Minor, one of Brown's three lawyers, questioned the 108-pound girl about the number of dates she had with Brown and the number of times she was intimate with him.

Miss Ayres denied that she had said at any time that Brown would give $1,000 to have her leave him alone. She also denied saying Brown told her to leave him alone.

The jury was excused during the slow-moving cross questioning when Minor asked for police statements to be introduced into evidence. Minor said he wanted to see if Miss Ayres' statements to police and those made on the witness stand are in conflict.

Broke Into Tears
Miss Ayres broke into tears before the noon recess and sobbed in the arms of Albert Corsi, assistant police prosecutor after telling that Brown slapped her on several occasions.

She said Brown slapped her one night when another man "showed nasty films."

She said Brown slapped her face, but that she did not tell her mother or police.

Miss Ayres hesitated when asked how many times she had had sex relations with Brown and Minor asked if sexual activities "were so usual in your life that you can't tell how many times you had relations with Brown before the first part of June."

Allegedly Forced
The girl said no, and finally admitted to about seven different occasions before June 19, the night she says Brown slapped her and allegedly forced her to commit an unnatural sex act.

Miss Ayres said Brown threatened her that night and instead of taking her home from the residence of Paula White, 16—the girl who introduced Miss Ayres and Brown—he drove to a motel.

She said that Brown told her that if she did not "do what he wanted me to do he would put me in a room with 10 men undressed."

She said she did not scream or try to call for help.

Minor also asked her about a conversation with an East Technical High School teacher. The girl denied any such conversation.

TORONTO (AP) — It was more like a sick bay than a golf tournament as the field was cut to 74 from 144 in the $100,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Thursday.

The survivors, who managed to shoot two-round scores of 146 or better, started out today in pursuit of an ailing Australian.

Bruce Devlin, now playing out of Hilton Head Island, S.C., teed off Thursday with a sore left shoulder, the remnants of a throat infection that bothered him in last week's British Open, and varicose veins.

He shot a four-under-par 31 on the front nine, the lowest nine-hole score he's had in his four-year professional career, and followed it up with a par 35 on the back nine for a 66 and the second-round lead with a 134.

One stroke back was Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who had a red-hot 66 to go with a first-round 69 for 135. Joe Campbell, of Peridido, Fla., the first-round leader with a 66 Wednesday, shot a 70 to stay within two strokes of the lead with a 136.

Devlin, 27, said his shoulder pained him three times in the first round but he was unable to find a doctor to examine it Wednesday night and simply rested it.

The soreness disappeared during the second round.

Never Over Par

The Australian ace, who has earned $52,545.28 on the tour without scoring a victory in 19 starts this season, wasn't over par once, had four birdies and capped his round with a fine recovery shot on the 18th hole.

On that one, a blind approach shot left him up against a tree 40 feet from the pin. But he pulled out his putter, knocked the ball within one foot of the hole and one-putted for a par 4.

Devlin wasn't the only golfer suffering from assorted ailments. Champagne Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., pulled out after the eighth hole with severe pains in the small of his back. Lema, winner of the British Open last year, said that he was tired both mentally and physically. He left Toronto for his home in San Leandro with his wife, Betty, and planned to see doctors there.

Another second-round dropout because of illness was Howie Johnson of Palm Springs, Calif., who shot 73 in the first round.

George Knudson of Toronto led the seven Canadians who survived the 146 cutoff score by shooting a second-round 69, one-under-par on Mississauga's 6,328-yard layout. Coupled with his first-round 70, he went into today's third round with a 139 and was still within striking range of taking the first-place prize money of $20,000 when the final 18 holes are played Saturday.

The winning hurler was Steve Fustfeld. Ken Ferron took the loss.

Long-Standing Feud Will be Given Hearing

Senate Committee To Look Into AAU, NCAA Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A war which even a general couldn't solve is now headed for a Senate hearing room.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Thursday his Senate Commerce Committee plans a look into the long-standing jurisdictional dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Magnuson vowed to take "whatever action is necessary to prevent a strangling of athletic freedom in our nation."

The late Gen. Douglas MacArthur once served as a middleman between the two athletic groups. He brought peace, but it was only temporary.

Favorable Reaction

Magnuson's decision to conduct hearings — he set no date — on the matter brought favorable reaction from spokesmen for both organizations.

In Denver, Clifford Buck, president of the AAU, said he welcomed the hearing. Said Buck: "The AAU's position is clear. If we are wrong, and we don't think we are, then we certainly want to know it."

In Kansas City, Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said: "The NCAA and the many organizations associated with it in the Federation movement have been on record for some time in favor of a thoroughgoing investigation by an impartial agency."

Magnuson said in his speech: "This dispute has gone on long enough. It is now the duty of the Senate to speak out for those who have no voice."

College Athletics. His reference was to college athletes who, he said, face loss of athletic scholarships for daring to compete in AAU-sponsored events to select track and field teams for international competition.

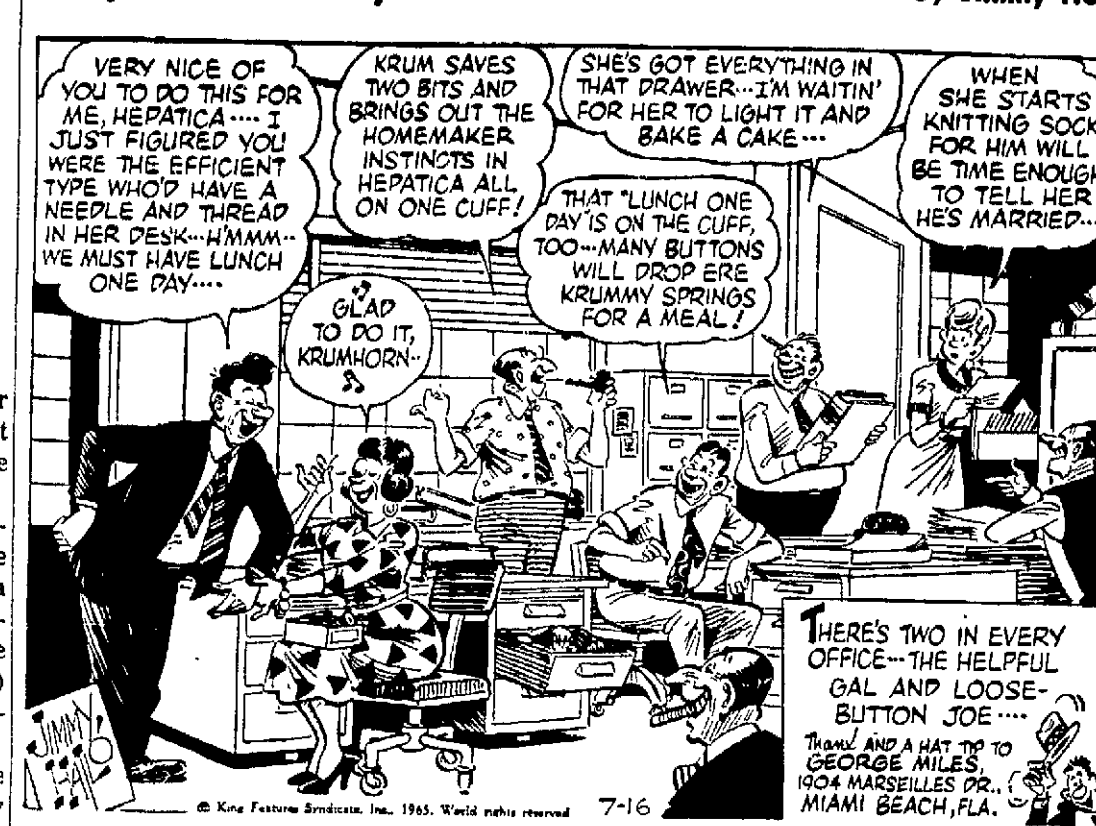

He cited specifically the case of distance runner Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University. Lindgren ignored an NCAA ban to compete in an AAU meet where he won a spot on a U.S. team which is to meet Russian athletes.

"Though Gerry's fate is still undecided," Magnuson said, "we must ask ourselves why this 18-year-old boy has become a pawn and innocent victim in this dispute."

"These young men and women must not be made to choose between an education and representing our country. The cost is too great to them, and to our country."

Browns' Parrish Retires After Six Seasons in NFL

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Bernie Parrish, who gave up a baseball bonus contract with the Cincinnati Reds to play six National Football League seasons with the Cleveland Browns, retired from professional football Thursday at age 29.

The defensive halfback, chosen for the Pro Bowl in 1961 and 1964 and the league's All-Rookie team in 1959, said he was tired of playing after the Browns won the championship last December.

And he was still tired when he checked into training camp here Wednesday night a few hours late, he said.

Parrish's retirement caught the Browns by surprise. Two months ago he had signed a contract to play this season.

An off-season employee of a brokerage firm in Cleveland, Parrish said he wants to continue a career in football as a coach and prefers the professional to the college game. He said he has had no offers and has made no overtures.

Parrish, a vice president of the NFL Players Association for four years, kicked up a storm after last season when he expressed dissatisfaction with NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle's dealings with players and suggested Paul Brown for commissioner.

Both the club and Parrish said Thursday the Rozelle incident had nothing to do with the sudden retirement, and both described the parting as amicable.

New Proposal Sets Stadium Rent at $1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An attractive proposal tailored to entice another major league baseball team was presented to Milwaukee County Board members Thursday.

In a rental package suggested by County Executive John Doyno, the stadium would be enlarged to 55,000 seats and the usage fee for any new tenant team would be $1 a year until attendance reached a million.

The Milwaukee Braves, who now use the county-owned stadium, plan to move to Atlanta after this season.

The proposal which also offers increased concession operation rights to the tenant, was suggested by Doyno to attract a franchise to replace the Braves.

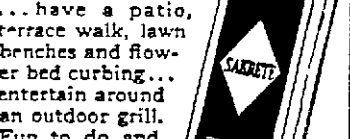

Some package, even if not this particular one, should be approved speedily, Doyno said in a letter to board members.

Eugene H. Grobschmidt, county board chairman, said he would refer the letter to a new special committee coordinating efforts to obtain a new team.

UAW Calls Strike Vote In Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP)—The president of the 12,000-member United Auto Workers Local 72 at the American Motors Corp. has called a strike vote Aug. 8.
Richard C. Thiel, the local's newly elected head, said the union would meet in a lakefront stadium to decide whether to authorize its executive board to call the strike.
Thiel said a strike was necessary because of unresolved grievances. Workers have objected to tightened job standards, employee discharges and disputes in the maintenance department, a union representative said.
The meeting was scheduled only six days after American Motors will begin production of 1966 model Rambler at its auto assembly plants here.
The plants were hit last month by two wildcat walkouts, the larger one idling approximately 17,000 workers in Kenosha and Milwaukee.
There were reports a strike might be scheduled within a week to 10 days after the meeting if members vote approval.

State Skeet Shoot Set For Waupaca This Weekend

WAUPACA — The 33rd annual Wisconsin Skeet Shooting Association tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Waupaca.
The shoot will be sponsored jointly by the skeet association and the Waupaca Conservation League. It will be held on five ranges on the grounds at the Conservation League located 1 1/2 miles south of Waupaca on Highway 49.
Approximately 100 of the state's best clay target shooters will enter the meet including past champions Vic Reinders, Waukesha; John Ernst, Jr., Waukesha; Pat Boland, Green Bay; Jim Settlege, Waukesha; John Matchette, Milwaukee; Mrs. Clarence Menzel, Oshkosh; Naomi Stowers, Oshkosh; Don Lutz, Sheboygan and Ed Scherer, Waukesha.
Scherer and Lutz shot to a draw last year in the 12 gauge event each breaking 100 out of 100 in the regulation shooting and another 150 out of 150 in a shootoff. Darkness halted the shootoff, which was the longest in state history, and the pair was declared co-champions.
Matchette won the 410, 28 and 20 gauge events. Junior champ Tim Glock, Oconomowoc, will be on hand to defend his title which he won with 98 out of 100.

Billy Mills Heaps Praise On Aussie Ron Clarke

OSLO, Norway (AP) — American athletes, victors in most of the events here in a two-day international meet, still were peopled today over the amazing running exploits of Australia's Ron Clarke.
Marine Lt. Billy Mills, surprise winner of the Olympic 10,000 at Tokyo last year, said Clarke's double world record-busting feat Wednesday night probably was "more historic" than the smashing of the four-minute barrier for the mile by Roger Bannister 11 years ago.
After beating fellow American Bob Schul, the Olympic 5,000-meter champion, in the 5,000 here on a wet and cold evening Thursday, Mills commented: "By watching Ron Clarke Wednesday night, one understands there is a revolution in running going on. You have to be a long distance runner yourself to understand wholly how great was the performance of Clarke."
"His effort was probably more historic than the dream mile by Roger Bannister," Bannister smashed the four-minute barrier with a time of 3:59.4 at Oxford, England, May 6, 1954. This opened the gates and today sub-four minute miles are common. The record has been lowered to 3:53.6 by France's Michel Jazy.
Clarke, a lean, tall, 28-year-old Melbourne businessman, won the 10,000 meters — about 6 1/4 miles — smashing the six-mile record en route by 24.6 seconds with a time of 27:11.6 and clipping 34.6 seconds off the 10,000 mark with his clocking of 27:39.4.
Four days earlier, the tireless Aussie broke the 13-minute barrier for three miles in 12:52.4. Mills, from Coffeyville, Kan., beat Schul, of West Milton, Ohio, handily in 13:41.4, a Bislet Stadium record and a personal best for the Kansan. Schul was second in 13:51.2. Clarke did not compete.
"The track was slow," said Mills, "and I think Bob and I had reason to be content with our times."
The two Olympic champions were medalist with a 39. Chris head a group of American athletes preparing for the meet with the Russians at Kiev July 31-Aug. 1.
Other American victors Thursday included Theron Lewis, New Orleans, 400 meters, 46.5; Ron Whitney, Los Angeles, 400 meters, 47.5; Blaine Lindgren, Salt Lake City, 110-meter hurdles, 14.1; John McGrath, Pasadena, Calif., shot put, 59-8; John Cramer, Everett, Wash., pole vault, 16-1 1/4, and a 1,000 meter relay quarter of Lewis, Lindgren, Whitney, and Otis Burrell of Los Angeles, 1:54.
New Zealand's John Davies scored by nearly 30 yards over Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., in a 4:00.6 mile. Grelle was second in 4:03.3.

Arnold Palmer Doesn't Look too happy with his soft drink, or maybe his golf game, as he crosses the bridge to the next tee at the Mississauga Golf Course in Toronto, Can. It might have been Arnie's putting, not the drink, as he 3-putted three greens en route to a 1-under par 69 and tie for fifth place in the Canadian Open after the second round Thursday. All-Stars Start Training Today For Browns '11'

49-Member Squad Working Out Under Famed Otto Graham
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The College All-Stars started daily training today in preparation for their Aug. 6 meeting with the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns in Soldier Field.
The 49 members of the college squad arrived Thursday and settled down at a downtown Evanston hotel, not far from the Northwestern University campus and practice field.
Coach Otto Graham and his assistants posed with the collegians for newspaper photographers this morning. Outdoor drills got under way in the afternoon. After today, weather permitting, there will be morning and afternoon practice sessions for every healthy member of the squad.
This will be the eighth summer football classic Graham will supervise, but it will be the first time a team of collegians he has been tutoring will meet the Browns. Graham spent his professional football career with the Browns and now serves as head coach at Coast Guard Academy.
The Browns have won two games and lost one in previous engagements with the College All-Stars. In the 1964 game, the Chicago Bears, then NFL champions, defeated the All-Stars, 28-17.
Graham has not commented on any individuals or how he will use any of the collegians against the Browns. However, he did say the 1965 squad could be considered above the past average caliber of collegians.
George Halas, who has been coaching the Chicago Bears 38 years, said he thought the 1965 All-Stars appeared better than any previous squad. Additional evidence of their ability, Halas said, could be found in the way the collegians were grabbed up by professional football teams in the college draft.
Forty-seven of the 49 collegians will play pro ball after the Aug. 6 classic. The remaining two have service commitments.
The Browns opened training camp Thursday at Hiram, Ohio. Coach Blanton Collier told the 66-man squad he thought the 1965 collegians were "possibly the greatest collection of talent ever assembled on any football squad."
Collier said he saw "most of these boys practice last month at Buffalo and I tell you sincerely this team has everything — great running backs and ends, the best quarterbacking you can imagine, a fine line and a fast secondary."

U.S. Davis Cup Captain Scratches Cliff Richey From Zone Competition

Settles Dispute Over Authority of Net Stars' Father
By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — George MacCall's tough disciplinary role as non-playing captain of the U.S. Davis Cup squad made the National Clay Courts Tournament the backdrop today for a rebellion by America's premier tennis family.
MacCall, who earlier this year benched the nation's top ranked player, Dennis Ralston, Thursday ruled potential No. 2 Davis Cupper, 18-year-old Cliff Richey, out of the pending American zone showdown with Mexico.
MacCall, from Los Angeles, made his drastic stand against the up-and-coming Richey at the River Forest Tennis Club, just 24 hours before his planned announcement of his Cup line-up today.
MacCall, who came here to view America's top talent in the Clay Court show, admitted he considered Richey for the No. 2 singles spot behind Ralston.
But he ran into an impasse when he suggested that Cliff's father, George Richey, a Dallas teaching tennis pro, fade into the background during preparation for the Cup tangle with Mexico at Dallas, beginning July 31.
Whole Family Agrees
The whole Richey family, including Cliff's sister, Nancy, 22, nationally top-ranked women's player as well as his parents, said in effect that papa knows best and should stick to his close supervision of the brilliant young player.
Even while MacCall was scratching Richey from his Davis Cup list, Nancy was named to the Wightman Cup squad for the fourth time.
Nancy is defending champion in the women's phase of the Clay Courts meet which ends Sunday. Cliff hopes to join his sister in a family sweep to match their title triumphs in the Western Open at Milwaukee last weekend.
Nothing, however, is going to keep young Richey from trying to win the Clay Court title. He meets rugged Ron Holmberg today in quarter-final play.
While Cliff tries to beat Holmberg today, sister Nancy, meets Roberta Allison of Alexander City, Ala. Miss Richey is trying for her third straight crown.
Also playing a women's quarter-final match will be Stephanie DeFina of Hollywood, Fla., and Nancy Reed of Gaithersburg, Md.

Fair Housing Law Gets Preliminary Okay of Assembly

State to Ask Legal Opinion On Constitutionality of Bill

MADISON (AP) — The state Legislature has moved a small step closer to passage of Wisconsin's first fair housing law.

The Assembly voted preliminary approval for the second time of a bipartisan bill that would ban discrimination in housing transactions conducted as a business. The vote Thursday was 58-39.

Moments after the action was taken, the Assembly adopted on a voice vote a resolution asking for an attorney general's opinion on the constitutionality of the housing bill.

Forty Democrats and 18 Republicans voted for the bill that has been endorsed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. The measure was first engrossed by the Assembly on June 24, and it was then referred to the Joint Finance Committee.

Another Approval

When a bill is sent back to a committee, preliminary approval must be granted a second time.

Most of the words generated in the late afternoon debate centered around three amendments that provided for a referendum on fair housing. They would have been placed on the ballot in April, September and November of 1966. They all were rejected.

The bill would create an Equal Opportunities Division of the Industrial Commission. A fiscal note says four new employees would be needed at a cost of $49,533 a biennium.

The commission could issue orders to stop discriminatory practices, but it would first try to end the discrimination by conciliation or persuasion.

Besides discrimination in leasing, renting, selling or financing housing, the division also would have jurisdiction over public accommodations. Orders would be subject to court review.

Assemblyman Harold Froehlich of Appleton, Republican caucus chairman, offered a two-word amendment that would have included in the bill the several exemptions listed. They were owner-occupied housing, small rooming establishments and large apartment buildings.

Froehlich, who voted against the bill, called the proposed change his "truth in discrimination amendment." He said it would "end discrimination in Wisconsin if there is any."

Froehlich claimed the leaders of both parties had agreed they were "going to throw a bone to the organizations supporting this type of legislation." The amendment was rejected 57-38.

Milwaukee Move
Assemblyman Albert Tadych, D-Milwaukee, tried twice to get through amendments that would exempt areas which contained buildings occupied by the owner or a member of the owner's family. Tadych said there were lots on Milwaukee's south side with a number of cottages on them. One amendment was killed 52-45, while the other one was ruled out of order.

The fate of a bill appropriating $400,000 for the planning and preparing of sites for new colleges in the Racine-Kenosha area and Northeastern Wisconsin appears to rest in the hands of a conference committee.

The Assembly refused to agree to a Senate change giving the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education the discretion to place the schools under either the University of Wisconsin or the state university system. The Assembly - approved version had put them in the control of the UW.

Extended Weekend Planned

Still Divided State Tax Negotiators Adjourn

MADISON (AP)—An extended weekend recess in bipartisan bargaining on a state budget-revenue compromise has been called with negotiators as divided as ever on the subject of new taxes.

When the 12-man committee adjourned Thursday night it left behind only requests for new information on tax sources. From the Democratic side the requests concerned the amounts of money that could be raised by varying forms of income tax increases. Republicans asked estimates on what the sales tax could do toward balancing a new state budget.

Probably the most significant request came from Assembly Majority Leader Frank Nikolay, D - Abbotsford. He asked Tax Commissioner James Morgan what sort of an income tax hike would raise the $57 million needed to balance an $817.8 million budget.

Hold Top Rate
Nikolay said he wanted the rate increase to apply to all levels of earnings, but that the boost should not raise the top rate of 10 per cent on incomes of more than $15,000.

Holding the present top rate and applying the increase across the rest of the board could make an income tax increase at least a bit palatable to Republicans.

Testimony Stricken From Record

Eastland Says 'Bunk' to Allegation Of Using Parolees on Plantation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland has dismissed as "bunk" allegations by a Negro farm worker that he operates his Mississippi plantation with paroled convicts.

And the chairman of the House Labor subcommittee which heard the testimony Thursday ordered it — and references to two other members of the Mississippi congressional delegation — stricken from the record.

The Negro worker, Andrew Hawkins, had told the subcommittee in a morning session that Eastland, Mississippi Democrat who heads the Senate Judiciary Committee, uses prisoners paroled from nearby penitentiaries to chop cotton on his delta farm.

Hawkins, 46, active until last month in trying to unionize delta field workers and truck drivers, said of Eastland: "He gets his labor through the parole boards."

Sell Moonshine

Hawkins said conditions on Eastland's farm are so bad his workers operate stills on it, selling the moonshine to supplement their meager pay.

Earlier, Hawkins and the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union's vice president, Aaron German, 19, read statements telling of delta field workers getting 30 cents an hour for 10 hours a day and urging they be included in any broadening of federal minimum wage coverage.

Asked if "public officials" maintain those kind of farms, Hawkins named Eastland and two other Mississippi Democrats, Sen. John C. Stennis and Rep. John Bell Williams.

On their farms, he said, "conditions are the same if not worse."

Eastland fired back an aimed disclaimer.

"It's all bunk, just bunk," he told reporters, adding he knew of no instance in which prison labor was used on his farm.

Williams entered the hearing room in midafternoon and at the invitation of the chairman, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., made a statement that "I have never owned a farm, rented a farm or leased a farm."

The testimony, he said, was "apparently a deliberate attempt to defame the people of the State of Mississippi by the use of outright lies."

Stennis later issued a statement calling Hawkins' statement "untrue."

The senator said he does not employ any farm labor, that he rents some land to a Negro to raise cotton but that "he does not work for me but for himself."

Roosevelt was not in the chair when Hawkins gave his testimony. He was testifying on other legislation before another House committee and Rep. Dominick V. Daniels, D-N.J., sat in for him.

He said Camacho was no longer in South Viet Nam but refused to say where he had been taken. He said he was still undergoing a medical examination.

Until Camacho returned, U.S. military authorities had no knowledge of his whereabouts or whether he was dead or alive, the spokesman said.

South Viet Nam Government Calls for More U.S. Troops

McNamara Silent on Possible Commitment to Back-Up Request

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military government asked U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today to increase American forces in the country. Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said the Saigon government's top leaders made a detailed request in a session with McNamara that lasted more than two hours.

Sylvester said Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Nguyen Huu Co did not ask for a specific number of troops but put their estimates of Americans needed in terms of "force levels."

McNamara and his fact-finding party made no comment on commitment on the request, Sylvester said.

Professional Assessment
McNamara arrived earlier today with Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador-designate and the U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, to assess whether more U.S. soldiers are needed for the war against the Viet Cong.

Sylvester said an increase in American forces is being considered in terms of an overall buildup which would include an increase of 100,000 Vietnamese troops. This would bring the Vietnamese armed forces to well above 600,000 men.

The Secretary said he would spend four or five days reviewing field operations and determining, in talks with Vietnamese and American officials, whether additional U.S. combat units are needed in Viet Nam. An appraisal of the use of American fighting men was one of his "prime missions," McNamara said.

He said he also would discuss the possibility of more U.S. logistic support for the war against the Viet Cong.

McNamara denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended an increase in American combat troops. He did not mention other U.S. forces. But he reiterated the American commitment to provide whatever is needed to defeat the Communists and said, "We propose to fulfill that commitment."

U. S. Has 91 Polio Cases in Year

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The final count of paralytic polio cases in the United States during 1964 was 91, the lowest yet recorded, the U. S. Public Health Service said today.

The figure is less than a third of the cases reported in 1963, the previous record low year, the service said in its weekly morbidity and mortality report.

Geographically, the cases were scattered, the report said, with no county reporting more than two cases during any month.

"As in previous years the majority of cases were not adequately vaccinated," the report said.

Youths Enter Innocent Pleas

4 Accused in Holdup Slaying Returned To Madison for Trial

MADISON (AP) — Innocent pleas were filed Thursday for four youths accused in the holdup slaying of a college student.

A preliminary hearing was set July 22 for John Edward Burt, 20, Loretta; his brother, Thomas, 19; Virthel L. Popplewell, 19, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Moir Reed Plaster, 19, Martinsville, Va.

Presiding Judge William Sachtjen in Dane County Court entered the pleas of innocent for the four on charges of murder and robbery. The youths were returned Wednesday night from Martinsville.

The student, Leroy Erdahl, 20, Stoughton, an attendant at the station, was shot to death in the $95 holdup July 1.

Dogs Outsmart Armed Mailmen

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Last October, Hartford mailmen were armed with cans of dog repelling spray to ward off unfriendly canines.

But 19 cases of bitten mailmen have been reported in the past eight months. "In nearly every dog bite case," Postmaster John F. Heneghan says, "the carrier was the victim of a sneak attack from the rear."

32nd Division Not Likely To be Called

Red Arrow Not Now On Priority List, Says Commander

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Prospects of a call to active duty for Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard division because of Viet Nam needs are not too great, its commander said Thursday.

Viet Nam Likely To Postpone Merger

CAMP MC COY, Wis. (AP) — Recent events in Viet Nam could force postponement of the proposed merger of national guard units with the U.S. Army Reserve, the commanding general of 33rd Division of the Illinois National Guard says.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane of Chicago said Thursday the stepped-up fighting in Viet Nam makes it "seem like a poor time to reorganize reserve units."

Maj. Gen. John A. Dunlap of Fox Point said that, unlike the 1961 Berlin crisis when guardsmen spent 10 months on active duty at Ft. Lewis, Wash., the division is not on the priority list.

"This could change overnight, however," he said.

"We're ready. That's our job."

Dunlap said he was "surprised" that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara planned to continue efforts to merge the guard and the Army reserve. The "Red Arrow" division is scheduled to be absorbed by Minnesota's 47th National Guard Division.

Minnesota's 205th Infantry Brigade, a 4,000-man outfit with units in Iowa and Wisconsin, was mentioned earlier Thursday in Washington in connection with beefing up forces in South Viet Nam. It is now in summer training at Camp Ripley, Minn. One unit in Wisconsin, Troop E, 4th Cavalry, is based at Madison.

Historic Fort Laramie Sees First Enlistment Of Soldier in 76 Years

FT. LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — For the first time in 76 years, the historic military outpost of Ft. Laramie has witnessed a soldier's re-enlistment.

Sgt. Billy G. Baird, a 12-year veteran, signed up again with Co. A, 7th Special Forces group on the fort's old parade grounds. The last previous re-enlistment at the fort was in 1889, one year before the frontier installation was abandoned.

Paducah Stops Test Civil Defense Alerts

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Because of the crisis in Viet Nam, officials are discontinuing the weekly testing of the Civil Defense siren in Paducah. The step was ordered by Frank Still, Paducah-McCracken County Civil Defense director. Still said the ban would last one month.

Agency Heads Pressure Capitol To Break Impasse Stalling Budget

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
 MADISON—Powerful public service interests are rallying to pressure the legislature to resolve the impasse about revenue raising methods which has prevented the enactment of a new state budget.

The succession of declarations from principal agency heads, including schoolmen, about the cutbacks in services, withholding of state aids to localities, and possible cuts in state civil service salaries has already worried some legislators, and is likely to have some effect in strengthening the hand of the Republicans in their stubborn fight with legislative Democrats. The Republican administration of Gov. Warren P. Knowles holds a tactical advantage in the capitol view, not because those influential agencies and their officers have a preference about taxing methods, but because they are worried about postponement of their services and programs resulting from the stalemate on the budget.

School Interests
 Probably the most effective such pressure will come from the big school expenditure interests, embracing the University of Wisconsin administration, the state universities, and the local school system. Local schools are heavily dependent upon the state school aid program and must know soon what to expect in state aids for the next two years in order to prepare new local school budgets in early fall.

The warning of Angus Rothwell, the state superintendent of public instruction, about school aid shortages and the possible sacrifice of available federal aids is likely to generate legislative pressure from local schoolmen.

The chief school spokesman earlier in the year in effect backed the Knowles administration in the revenue dispute with the Democrats by testifying before the legislature that they were more concerned about getting the appropriations as proposed, than about methods used in getting new treasury tax income.

Held For Break
 The implied meaning of that testimony was that the Republicans had offered a reasonable compromise in the plan for a combined income tax and sales tax program.

But Democrats have thus far been absolute in their refusal to consider any extension of sales taxes, in the belief that the Republican position would ultimately weaken and break.

But there has yet been no sign of such weakening of the Republican position. The governor reportedly has urged his political associates in the State Senate, under Republican control, to stand firm behind his original plan or a program substantially similar to it.

Recess Possible
 One reliable report recently held that Sen. Robert Knowles, Republican floorleader in the Senate and brother of the state executive, is prepared to move for a recess of the legislature for the summer in the event the impasse is not broken during the next 10 days.

In such a recess, the pressure for action from the numerous services and their beneficiaries — and notably the state higher education institutions which are being delayed in hiring hundreds of new teachers for the September term — would reach feverish levels.

Plastic Surgery Not Only Cosmetic Aid

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by plastic surgery?
 Mrs. A. C. M.

Surgery means treatment of disease by operation with instruments, by which we ordinarily mean cutting, but surgery means more than that. Electrical or radio-frequency instruments are used for special purposes, and there is experimentation and some practical use now of laser beams, highly concentrated light rays. Orthopedic surgeons use braces, casts, splints and other devices to bring bones into proper position.

So surgery means a great deal more than a scalpel (or knife). And of course it should. The fundamental purpose is to help people get well by any method possible.

The word "plastic" means the molding or shaping of something. In this case, it is shaping by surgery.

Doubtless the general impression of plastic surgery is that it changes the shape of a face — makes a nose smaller or larger, and the same for a chin and perhaps other features. It means changing the angle of ears that stick out too much.

It also has come to mean the "face-lifting" procedure by which the surgeon takes a tuck or two, or several tucks, to make a wrinkled face look smoother. In special cases, the sag has been removed from "bags under the eyes."

All of these are for cosmetic purposes making a person look better. Along with this, plastic surgeons have made a fine art of doing incisions and then suturing them together so that the resulting scar, if any, is virtually invisible.

However, plastic surgery encompasses more than cosmetic surgery. When a child is born with a cleft palate or "hare lip," the plastic surgeon repairs it. Plastic surgeons have been part of the "team" when a heart valve has had to be altered in shape to work properly.

In the war (and in accidents) when a face or some other part of the body has been mangled, the plastic surgeon reconstructs it. Amazing work has been done in reconstructing crushed and torn hands, and although the surgeons doing this do not usually regard themselves as "plastic surgeons," it is plastic surgery.

This is only a sample of what plastic surgery means, because many parts of the body, on the surface or inside, have to be molded or shaped to foster or improve health.

Plastic surgery is a very important aspect of the healing arts, quite apart from cosmetic purposes. Although I do not mean that cosmetic surgery does not have a real value. It does.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does dried milk have the same nourishment and qualities as skimmed milk — vitamins, etc.? — H. E. S.

In general, yes, or sometimes more. With skimmed milk, most of the fat (and hence calories, plus Vitamin A) have been removed. If the fat is left in dried milk, it will have more milk. If it is "fat-free" dried milk, it will be about the same as skimmed.

Dear Sir: For a male, 80 years old, with a hernia, would a screen or metal sieve be better than to try to sew it up? I'm told that the flesh is flabby in a person this age. — T. W. X.

The best answer, friend, is to rely on your doctor's advice. It isn't age alone that is involved here. Many a man your age by now has had a hernia repaired without any of the screen-type things that are used to reinforce the surgical repair.

And there are patients 50 years younger who had to have this reinforcement because their flesh, while perhaps not exactly flabby, was too soft to accept stitches satisfactorily. Diabetes was the problem with some.

It all depends on general health, tissue texture, size of the hernia. You can't safely decide. The surgeon can.

fly mean cutting, but surgery means more than that. Electrical or radio-frequency instruments are used for special purposes, and there is experimentation and some practical use now of laser beams, highly concentrated light rays. Orthopedic surgeons use braces, casts, splints and other devices to bring bones into proper position.

So surgery means a great deal more than a scalpel (or knife). And of course it should. The fundamental purpose is to help people get well by any method possible.

The word "plastic" means the molding or shaping of something. In this case, it is shaping by surgery.

Doubtless the general impression of plastic surgery is that it changes the shape of a face — makes a nose smaller or larger, and the same for a chin and perhaps other features. It means changing the angle of ears that stick out too much.

It also has come to mean the "face-lifting" procedure by which the surgeon takes a tuck or two, or several tucks, to make a wrinkled face look smoother. In special cases, the sag has been removed from "bags under the eyes."

All of these are for cosmetic purposes making a person look better. Along with this, plastic surgeons have made a fine art of doing incisions and then suturing them together so that the resulting scar, if any, is virtually invisible.

However, plastic surgery encompasses more than cosmetic surgery. When a child is born with a cleft palate or "hare lip," the plastic surgeon repairs it. Plastic surgeons have been part of the "team" when a heart valve has had to be altered in shape to work properly.

In the war (and in accidents) when a face or some other part of the body has been mangled, the plastic surgeon reconstructs it. Amazing work has been done in reconstructing crushed and torn hands, and although the surgeons doing this do not usually regard themselves as "plastic surgeons," it is plastic surgery.

This is only a sample of what plastic surgery means, because many parts of the body, on the surface or inside, have to be molded or shaped to foster or improve health.

Plastic surgery is a very important aspect of the healing arts, quite apart from cosmetic purposes. Although I do not mean that cosmetic surgery does not have a real value. It does.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does dried milk have the same nourishment and qualities as skimmed milk — vitamins, etc.? — H. E. S.

In general, yes, or sometimes more. With skimmed milk, most of the fat (and hence calories, plus Vitamin A) have been removed. If the fat is left in dried milk, it will have more milk. If it is "fat-free" dried milk, it will be about the same as skimmed.

Dear Sir: For a male, 80 years old, with a hernia, would a screen or metal sieve be better than to try to sew it up? I'm told that the flesh is flabby in a person this age. — T. W. X.

The best answer, friend, is to rely on your doctor's advice. It isn't age alone that is involved here. Many a man your age by now has had a hernia repaired without any of the screen-type things that are used to reinforce the surgical repair.

And there are patients 50 years younger who had to have this reinforcement because their flesh, while perhaps not exactly flabby, was too soft to accept stitches satisfactorily. Diabetes was the problem with some.

It all depends on general health, tissue texture, size of the hernia. You can't safely decide. The surgeon can.

To Keep Your Fuel tank filled.
 Shown above is one of the modern fleet of trucks operated by the Jenkel Oil Co. They assure each customer of speedy oil delivery service, along with convenient metered service that provides a printed receipt that shows accurate amount delivered. For Skelly Furnace Oil (with SK-12 Additive), call the experts at 9-1144.

Keeping your fuel oil tank filled during warm weather is one of the most inexpensive forms of insurance you can get. This will insure that moisture will not condense inside the tank and cause costly rusting out of your tank and the possibility of rust getting in the fuel oil line. While you're about it, why not get the best, from Jenkel, of course.

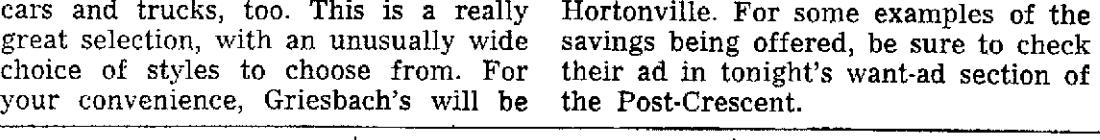

Even though the special additive SK-12 costs you nothing extra, it can keep your entire fuel system free of the harmful formation of rust, gum, sludge, that causes most sudden furnace failures.

Since the fuel pipe in your furnace ends in an opening no bigger than a pin point, even a tiny particle of sludge or gum can clog your furnace burner.

With SK-12, in Skelly Furnace oil, you can prevent most cases of sudden stoppage due to a clogged nozzle, filter screen or fuel line.

You can obtain Skelly Furnace Oil, with SK-12 additive, from the Jenkel Oil Co., 1201 N. Badger Ave. Phone number of the firm is 4-1144. Emergency service — in case you run out of oil — may be obtained by calling 3-9584.

A good furnace deserves a good fuel to operate at peak efficiency, no matter how low the temperature drops. Call Jenkel oil for the best.

Growers Get Special Inspection Rates

An incentive fee schedule will again be available to Wisconsin fruit and vegetable shippers who plan to use shipping point inspection, the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture said today. The program is similar to one that has been in operation for the past two years and has been widely accepted by the trade.

To qualify for the reduced fees, users of the service are required to sign agreements

Promotion Rate On Wool, Lamb To be Continued

Producer Fee Is Extended for 1965 Marketing Year

The Agriculture Department has announced that growers will pay the same rates to help finance a promotion program for wool and lamb meat during the 1965 marketing year as they did last year.

The department deducts promotion fees from incentive payments it makes to sheepmen.

The deduction rates will be one cent a pound from shorn wool payments and 5 cents per hundred pounds of liveweight from unshorn lamb payments. Promotion is handled by the American Sheep Producers Council Inc. Deductions from producer payments during the 1964 marketing year were reported at $2.5 million.

Work Week

An Agriculture Department survey showed that in June, the work week on the nation's farms averaged 41.3 hours, the same as a month earlier.

But family workers averaged 46.5 hours, up 2 per cent from the previous month, while hired hands averaged 33.4 hours, 3 per cent less than in May.

The farm operator himself with the department to have all shipments of 8,000 pounds or more marked "grade designation inspected." During the last few years, greater number of accounts have gone to 100 per cent inspection with all shipments marked with a grade designation.

Don't worry about them
just use THURICIDE® 90TS*!

Not a chemical, THURICIDE 90TS is a microbial insecticide which singles out and destroys only the leaf-chewing larvae of certain lepidopterous insects (caterpillars, loopers and hornworms, including imported cabbage worm and cabbage loopers). Registered Holstein Herd Is Promoted WAUPACA — Advantages of a registered Holstein herd over a grade herd were explained to more than 400 Waupaca and Waushara Holstein breeders at a twilight meeting Tuesday at the James Holman farm southwest of here.

Eugene Nelson of Gray View Farms near Union Grove, said a registered Holstein herd not only returns more profit through better milk production and selling of surplus stock, but also gives the owner much pride and satisfaction. Neither labor nor feed costs for a registered herd are any higher, Nelson said.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) testing and culling are important, he stressed.

ed. In an effort to upgrade the entire Holstein breed, cull cattle should be sent to the stockyards instead of sold to grade dairymen. The breed also can be improved by better care, management, breeding and feeding, Nelson added.

Judging Contest

The evening's program also included a dairy cattle judging contest. The Ed Miller family, route 2, Manawa, took top honors in two divisions.

Mrs. Miller placed second in the senior women's division and two of the Miller children, first place along with Doug Sebsted in the 4-H club division. The Millers are members of the Friendly Valley 4-H Club. Sebsted is a member of the Busy Beaver's 4-H Club of Fremont.

Cattle judging was conducted in three classes — aged cows, senior calves and yearlings.

Tour Holman Farm

Members of the Peterson Mill 4-H Club, Scandinavia, furnished program entertainment. Marlene and Mary Johnson of the same club gave a talk on types of DHIA programs. Russell Smith, dual-county association president, was master of ceremonies.

An added feature was a tour of the Holman farm facilities.

The Holman herd has been one of the top ones on standard DHIA test in the dual-county association for the past five years. It has produced more than 500 pounds of butterfat per cow in four of the past five years.

Fox Valley Youths Attend Co-Op Clinic

Six Fox Valley youths are participating in the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Co-operative clinic for young farmers which ends today at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

The 3-day session provided the youths an opportunity to young men engaged in farming to discuss the problems of mutual concern in the marketing phase of their business.

Theme this year was "Responsibilities Within a Co-operative." The youths include:

Russ Says:

Weed Control Is Still Possible in Short Corn

BY RUSSELL LUCKOW
Outagamie County Agricultural Agent

The best time to control weeds in corn is at or just after planting time. But it's possible to control weeds later — as long as the corn is short enough that you can still get into the field with spray equipment.

Most annual and perennial broadleaved weeds in corn can be controlled with drop-nozzle application of 2, 4-D. When corn is over 12 inches tall, apply one-fourth pound (one-half pint of four pound-gallon preparation) per acre of 2, 4-D amine or ester. Direct the spray toward the base of the row to get maximum weed coverage and a minimum amount of spray on the corn leaves.

You can also apply 2, 4-D earlier when corn is four to eight inches tall. In this case, apply one-fourth to one-half pound of 2, 4-D amine or one-sixth to one-third pound of 2, 4-D ester as a broadcast spray over the corn. Use the lower rate in hot weather to reduce the risk of corn injury. Whether using drop-nozzle or broadcast treatment, avoid cultivation for a week.

Annual Grasses

Annual grasses, especially foxtail, are not always controlled by pre-emergence herbicide treatments. If this is the case, post-emergence directed spray treatment with Lorox (linuron) may do the job. Specialized spray equipment, where nozzle height is regulated by ground gauge wheels or skids, should be used. Some dealers do custom application with this type of equipment.

Corn should be at least 15 inches tall and weeds no more than six to eight inches tall. Apply two-thirds pound per acre of linuron (one and one-third pounds-acre of Lorox) directed at the base of the corn row to get maximum coverage of weeds with minimum contact of corn plants.

Be sure to include 5 per cent of surfactant in the spray mixture. If any of the spray mixture touches corn leaves, they will be injured or killed. So make this application very accurately. Lorox treated corn can be harvested for silage.

100 Attend State Ayrshire Conference at Ott Farm

About 100 dairymen attended the annual picnic and meeting of the Wisconsin Ayrshire Breeders Association Saturday at the Silas Ott farm, route 1, Menasha.

Speakers on the program included Russell Prell of Agricultural Records Cooperative; Merle King, national fieldman, and Calumet County Agent Orrin Meyer.

Prell pointed out that a cow making 300 pounds fat gives a return of $147 while a cow with 500 pounds fat makes a return of $250 above feed cost. "Don't expect to increase your production per cow overnight if you join the Dairy Herd Improvement Association," he pointed out. "That comes after you use your records and weed and feed," he added.

King, fieldman from Brandon, Vt., told of excellent demand for Ayrshires especially in the southern states. County Agent Orrin Meyer discussed the history of Ayrshires in the area. Paula Thiel, county dairy princess, welcomed the group.

Directors include Ross Hacker and Allen Knoespel, Brillion, Florian Mastey, Nichols; Silas Ott, High Cliff; Alvin Seidl, Two Rivers; Melvin Delton, Oconomowoc; Victor Powell, Reedsburg, and Mrs. Ester Dobratz, Merrimac, secretary.

Two Major Cattle breed associations conducted activities in Calumet County. The county Holstein twilight meeting was held at the Gerald Geiser farm near Hilbert. Featured speakers, from left, included Alvin Piper, Watertown, state vice president; Joseph Juckem, county president, and Elroy Borgwardt, state president. Chilton's 4-H calf rally found Terry Beyer, 14, assisting his sister, Jane, 12, in clipping her seven month

Holstein Cattlemen Get Advice on Marketing

HILBERT—Alvin Piper, vice-president of the Wisconsin Holstein Association spoke on merchandising Holsteins at the annual Calumet County "twilight" meeting on the Gerald Geiser farm, rural Hilbert, Wednesday.

Piper told his audience of 350 persons that animals from Wisconsin are being exported all over the world. "Many cattle are presently going to Germany and Japan," he said.

He urged breeders to sell right, have a uniform breeding program, keep production records, classify and check pedigrees. He pointed out that high sale averages don't necessarily mean a good sale.

Calumet 400 Sale

Leonard Seybold reported that he is now about half through in getting consignments for the 23rd Calumet "400" sale. "Good cattle are scarce," he stated. The sale will be held at Calumet Arena, Sept. 11.

Outstanding production certificates were presented by County Agent Orrin Meyer. Receiving the top award for the county and state was Norman Nennig, Brohertown whose herd averaged 17,631 pounds of milk and 693 pounds butterfat.

Others with outstanding herd records were Ruffing Brothers, Joseph Keuler, Joseph Heller and Son, Claude Scoenung, Leonard Woelfel, Donald Schnell, James Winkler, Aloys Heerth, Elmer Pilling, Clarence Brill, Ronald Redig, Joseph Juckem Jr., Henry and Edward Juckem, Keuler Farms, David Kloehn, Cletus Van Treeck, Herman Danes, James and William Schmolz, Elder Gilbertson, Chester Burg, Leslie Schnell and Leonard Schmidt.

Receive Certificates

Others receiving certificates were Edward Mirsberger, Martin Biese, Edward Hoefler, Walter Schneider, Armin Wesener, Russell Gasch, Reuben Ott and Sons, Oscar Hedrich Jr., Sylvester Wagner, Elden Schnell, Gerald Geiser, Adelbert Kees, Delmar Moehrke, Milford Hinz, Robert Schneider, Roland Weber, Clifford Schmidt, Gilbert Schumacher, Gregory Geiser, Howard Blank, Joseph Mirsberger, John Schmidt and Gregor Wenig.

Outagamie Conservation Tour Slated

Representatives of 10 Counties Will Participate in It

Outagamie County will be host to area 4 supervisors of soil and water conservation districts for a conservation tour Wednesday. The area consists of 10 counties.

Vernon Geiger, last county soil conservationist, will conduct the tour which starts at Black Creek and will include the lake there and the one being constructed at Seymour.

Conservation and game wardens and county agents also are expected. A noon business meeting and dinner is scheduled at the Shiocton American Legion Club.

The Tickler farms north of Shiocton also will be included on the itinerary. A visit to the K & S Game Club, owned by Don Lilloren, will be featured.

Geiger said the tour will show examples of how land is being used for cash cropping and wildlife habitat such as at the black slough owned by Dale and Harold Van Straten, northwest of Shiocton.

Outagamie Guernseys Grab Parish Show Honors

SEYMOUR—Outagamie County Guernsey breeders walked away with honors from the Tri-County Guernsey Parish show here Monday.

They took county herd honors with 15 points to runnerup Winnebago's 10. In total points they collected 68 to outscore Fund du Lac with 31 Winnebago with 23 and Calumet with nine for the annual traveling trophy.

Oscar Miller, route 1, Black Creek, had the top animals in the show. His Guernseys won the senior champion male and female titles (two years and older) and the grand champion female blue ribbon. He also had the best uddered cow.

Grand Champion Male

LaVerne Wehrman, Black Creek, was close behind in the honors division. His cattle took the junior and grand champion male honors.

Thomas Lintner, Calumet County, gained the junior champion female trophy.

Earl Woldt, Seymour, was show chairman. Delbert Klingston, Cary, Ill., served as judge.

Headliners of the Carousel of Stars grandstand show at the fair, George Kirby and Bobby Vinton, greeted fans backstage before the show. Talking with the

A Plain Old Hot Dog tastes twice as good when you can buy it at the Fair. Wayne Appleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Appleton, route 1, Seymour, is about to dig in.

'Carousel of Stars' Opening

Packed Stands Catch Fair Acts' Spirit in 2-Way Show

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County Fair officials did it again. They picked a winning collection of performers for their "Carousel of Stars" on the grandstand stage at Seymour.

Maybe it was the balmy summer evening that set the mood — maybe it was the exceptionally receptive crowd that packed the stands for Thursday's Appleton night, but there seemed to be a special affinity between audience and performer at the early show. It's even possible that the exciting performance of the Army team of parachuters was responsible for the friendly tempo of the stage show that followed them.

"Great Audience" For the performers it was a "hit" opening night. Rain marred the second performance, but the early one hit its stride with the first fanfare number and the talented Peter Palmer and his orchestra. The performers kept telling the grandstanders what a great audience they were. The spectators had instant applause handy in return, clapping their way spontaneously through the two-hour show almost as if on stage cue. It was a two-way evening of fun.

The six nimble Dalmations of Willie Necker delighted the audience with their canine ability and antics. And with good reason: dog trainer Necker from Wheeling, Ill. has an excellent show with an unusual laugh-provoking "character" in his star clown dog.

Young Americans Then came 17 young people — eight boys and nine girls in their Young American outfits of red, white and blue — who captured the hearts of the singing. They knew his songs audience. They sang, they danced, and they clowned both broadly and deadpan, all with a youthful verve that's refreshing. "A hard one to follow," Except when young Vinton got quipped emcee singer Bobby Vinton who proceeded to do so with ease and tremendous personality. This young man with a good, big voice proved his prowess as a recording artist by singing more than 10 numbers. He also proved he could hold a crowd in the palm of his hand as an entertaining personality.

But the showman of them all, "Mr. Talent" himself, was big, genial comedian-singer-mimic George Kirby. Through his impersonations, complete with facial expressions, mannerisms and voice, both speaking and singing, he peopled the stage with many well-known celebrities. He sang "Hello Dolly" in the manner of Louis Armstrong; he played the piano like Count Basie; he sang like Nat King Cole and recreated Frankie Fontaine in song. Through conversational gambits he brought Pearl Bailey, Sammy Davis Jr., Jackie Gleason, the Kingfish of "Amos and Andy," among many others to the stage.

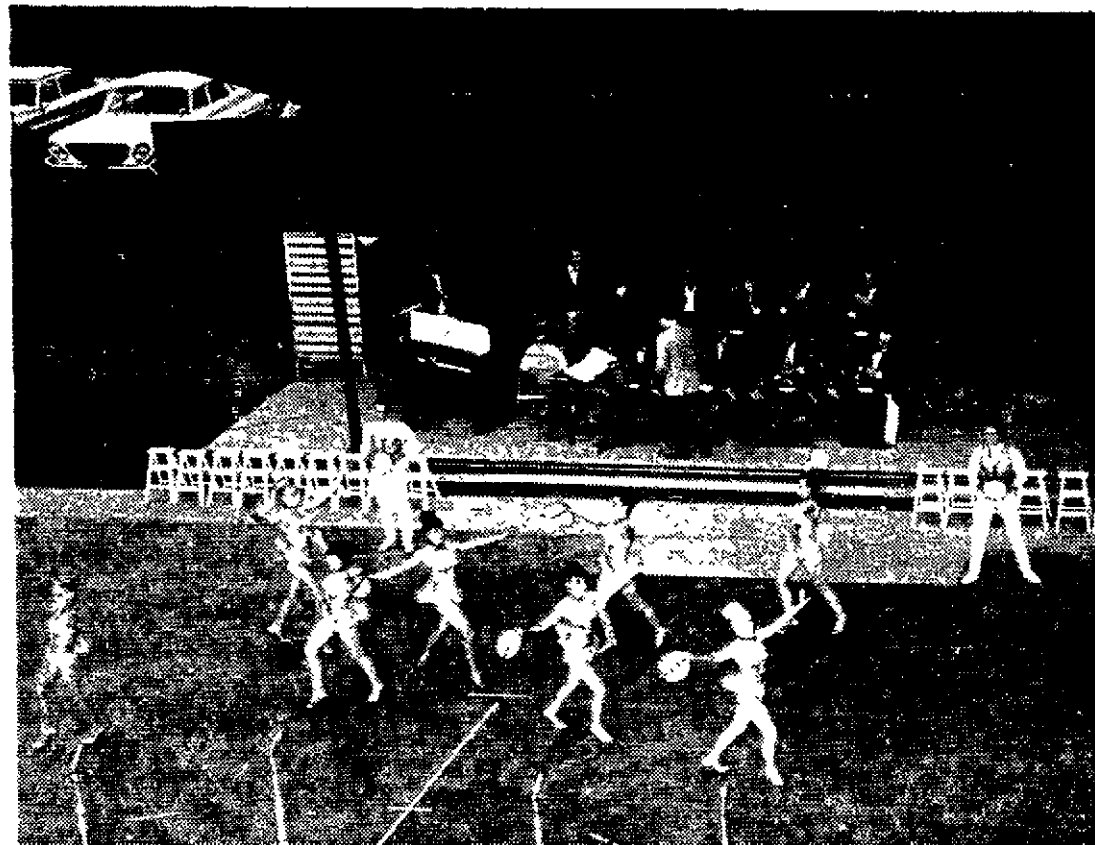

Master of Quip This fellow is a master of the short quip, the fast impersonation and the funny story with a twist. He played his talent with admirable timing, running a joke sequence from racial satire to political and religious "quickies" in quicksilver succession.

The crowd was with singer Bobby Vinton all the way. It was a different fair crowd, however. The spectators really listened to the young man's singing. They knew his songs because with each first measure there was a swell of applause and then a quiet sort of listening that carried to the end. "A hard one to follow," Except when young Vinton got quipped emcee singer Bobby Vinton who proceeded to do so with ease and tremendous personality. This young man with a good, big voice proved his prowess as a recording artist by singing more than 10 numbers. He also proved he could hold a crowd in the palm of his hand as an entertaining personality.

Popular Dancers An always popular group with Seymour fairgoers are the Sue Charles dancers, who returned this year in two chorus numbers.

Perhaps the touchstone of this year's performance is the fact that every one of the artists, not excluding those tail-wagging Dalmations, were enjoying themselves as much as the people out in front.

The Sue Charles Dancers of the Carousel of Stars grandstand show make good use of the new wooden stage at the fairgrounds. The recently completed band shell was properly initiated during the second performance Thursday night when the rains came and the show had to be moved back under cover.

The Fair Is Fun, but there are times when things can get just a bit too fast for a fellow. Lealand Hermus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hermus, route 3, Seymour, is not so sure this motor bike riding is all it's cracked up to be.

"WE SERVE TO SERVE AGAIN"

Are Insecticides Really Harming Us?

This month, all over the U.S., blossoms will be out, birds will be back in the trees and insects will be on the wing. And throughout the nation there will be revived controversy about the late Rachel Carson and her stirring best-seller, Silent Spring.

In her book Miss Carson argued that wildlife was being doomed to extinction by man's reckless use of chemical pesticides and insecticides. She forecast the day when the song of birds would no longer accompany the bursting of the first buds, because there would be few birds left to sing.

But another group of experts disagrees strongly with Miss Carson. They argue that her book has started a panic against pesticides that itself could have dangerous consequences to mankind.

Without pesticides, these experts see fields blighted by insects, forests defoliated, men debilitated by disease and hunger. They contend that not only would man have to work harder to produce less food, but the food would be of poorer quality. Here are some findings these experts say cannot be disputed:

The 800,000 species of insects which infest the earth already destroy one-third of everything man grows or stores.

There are 10,000 kinds of mites, ticks and insects which infect man directly or indirectly with disease. Half of all human deaths are caused by these tiniest of enemies.

Threat to Homes

If pesticides were outlawed, homes soon would be filled with buzzing and creeping menaces. Fields and forests would swarm with insects.

Rats, also deadly carriers of disease, would flourish. Already they devour or spoil millions of dollars worth of food in New York alone. They also would destroy the very birds that Miss Carson sought to save.

In the jet age, the exchange of pests from one part of the world to another is increasing. The cereal leaf beetle, which could threaten our grain production, has shown up in this country. The soya bean cyst nematode, another unwelcome immigrant, could devastate the soya bean crop if not controlled. The fire ant, also a newcomer, already has caused great damage to farmlands in the South.

$4 Billion Damage

The Department of Agriculture estimates damage to crops by some 600 kinds of plant insects at nearly $4 billion a year, under these headings: plant parasites, $2 billion; stored grain and household insects, $1 billion; cotton insects, $600 million; cereal and forage insects, $400 million. That long-time scourge of the cotton crop, the boll weevil, accounts for 3 to 5 million bales of cotton a year.

Without pesticides, cattle production could easily be cut in half in a few years. Forests would fade away as insects destroyed the trees and ground vermin devoured young shoots. The citrus industry could hardly exist and 80 per cent of the Virginia apple crop would perish.

Inferior Foods

Mississippi Congressman Jamie Whitten says bluntly that without pesticides "in five years, the cost of a very inferior quality of food to the American consumer would double."

Pesticides have also helped to reduce the terrible toll of disease. Malaria, for instance, has been all but wiped out. Yet as recently as 1935, before the development of modern pesticides, there were 900,000 cases a year in the U.S., 4,000 of them fatal.

All health authorities agree that the guard must not be let down. Only this year, mosquitoes caused an epidemic of encephalitis in Texas. Some 200 cases and 18 deaths were reported. Coast Guard helicopters dumped thousands of pounds of pesticide on the bay where the disease-carrying mosquitoes were breeding. Husbands and wives queued up at fire stations with pickle jars, jugs, plastic bottles and paint cans to draw rations of pesticide for their immediate protection.

That midget murderer, the house fly, is still loose across the country contaminating food and spreading cholera, yaws, trachoma, dysentery, diarrhea, digestive troubles and even tuberculosis.

Yet in the wake of Silent Spring, the President appointed a science advisory committee to study pesticides which recommended that, for the sake of wildlife, "persistent toxic pesticides" be eliminated. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall issued orders virtually outlawing DDT on the 550 million acres of public land. The Connecticut legislature, also impressed, failed in 1963 to appropriate funds for spraying against the gypsy moth. In Montana's Garnet Range, where the Department of the Interior has stopped using DDT on a 225,000-acre tract of timber infested with budworm, foresters are betting more trees will die than wildlife be saved.

There's no denying that some wildlife has been sacrificed to save crops and reduce disease. Pesticides have been responsible for the death of wildlife, but there is no evidence that they have caused mass deaths or are about to do so. Moreover, certain deaths ascribed to pesticides were on further investigation found to be due to other causes. But the question really is: Has any loss been so serious that man should surrender his weapon against insects and vermin?

Evidence Disputed

And much of Miss Carson's evidence about wildlife death is disputed by others. A recent survey in 45 states finds wildlife not only flourishing but increasing. In the Mississippi delta, the deer and bird population has skyrocketed since pest spraying became widespread. Louisiana says that in 1963 hunters had their best year in history. A Wisconsin report declared, "Game populations are decidedly greater than in the good old days."

Miss Carson also alleged that DDT and other hydrocarbon pesticides contribute to cumulative poisoning of the human system: "We are in little better position than the guests of the Borgias." But Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, chief of toxicology for the U.S. Public Health Service and one of the world's great authorities on DDT, disagrees. He conducted a series of tests with 51 convict volunteers, fed them 200 times the normal intake of DDT for a year. Once the accumulation reached a certain but safe level, the volunteers excreted DDT as fast as they took it in. At the end of the test, they were as healthy as another group who had been fed no DDT at all.

Any nation's wildlife is a part of its heritage and should be preserved. But the anti-Silent Spring experts note that man is also fighting a desperate struggle for his own existence. It would be folly to abandon any weapons he has—and pesticides are among the most important —until he has found better ones. The birds would not be grateful to Rachel Carson if the insects had gnawed away the branches from which they sing. (Parade Magazine Reprint)

Papandreou His Way

ATHENS, Greece — Greece's new Premier, Konstantinos Karamanlis, today demonstrated in Athens that he was determined to reform the government and resolve the worst political crisis since the end of the Communist Civil War. The no-demonstration aimed at George Papandreou, premier until Karamanlis replaced him. The former Papandreou minister announced his resignation. The ex-premier vowed his way back to power, called on the Greek people to demonstrate against Karamanlis and any members of Papandreou's Union Party who join the government.

Ministry Order

The new premier's ministry quickly ordered to break up any demonstrations. Informants said Papandreou was trying to stem a faction of his party demanding an oath of allegiance from Cabinet members who had served in his government. So far two members of Papandreou's party had joined the government, John Karamanlis, former minister and Stavros Niarchos, former foreign minister. It was expected that three more members of Papandreou's cabinet would join the government in later today. Such defections could lead to the breakup of the government and the next national elections. CHICAGO (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines jet with a jammed nose gear landed safely at O'Hare International Airport today after hovering over the runway for more than an hour. The plane, Eastern 664, landed in a rainstorm with the nose wheels still jammed. The plane tipped forward after it had stopped, causing slight damage to the forward end. Airport officials said the 78 passengers, all in their seats, or the five suffered injuries.

Rent Subsidy Program May Become Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The heavily disputed rent subsidy program for low-income families today appeared certain of becoming law after it won approval of both branches of Congress.

The Senate Thursday passed a bill to a $7.5-billion housing bill containing a modified version of the rent program.

The high priority administration measure was sent to conference with the House, which passed it June 30 by a 245-169 tally.

Democratic leaders said they expected a compromise would be worked out easily since the differences are relatively slight.

President Johnson received most of what he asked in the bill although the rent subsidy program was different from the one he first proposed.

In addition, the Senate, like the House, knocked out his recommendations for a package of aid to help in development of new towns near metropolitan areas.

The rent subsidy program survived by seven votes, 47 to 40, when Republicans tried to strike it from the bill in the Senate. In the House, it was saved by six votes.

As originally submitted, the program was designed to aid families with incomes too high to be eligible for low-rent public housing but still too low to be able to afford decent private housing. But it was altered by both House and Senate to cover only those families in the public housing income range. The argument was made in both branches that millions of these families do not have decent homes yet, so that subsidies should not be paid those with higher standards of living.

Final Respects Paid Today To Stevenson

President Heads Dignitaries at Memorial Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high and the humble pay their final respects in the nation's capital today to Adlai E. Stevenson.

Citizens by the thousands filed quietly past his flag-draped coffin in a small, simple chapel in the National Cathedral (Episcopal) kept open to the public overnight.

President Johnson headed the imposing list of dignitaries planning to attend a memorial service and hear a eulogy by Stevenson's old friend, Judge Carl McGowan of the Federal Appeals Court.

Morning Service
For the 11 a.m. EDT service, to be covered by live nationwide radio and television, the casket was to be moved to the huge Gothic cathedral's central area, known as "The Great Crossing." Dr. Richard Graebel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, Ill., flew in to preside.

Then the body of the former U.N. ambassador, governor of Illinois and two-time Democratic presidential nominee was to be flown to Springfield to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda until Sunday.

Private Burial
A private burial at Bloomington, Ill., Monday will be accompanied by a special memorial service at the United Nations addressed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and General Assembly President Aki Kaurismäki.

The U.S. Embassy in London reported that it was a heart attack which felled Stevenson, 65, as he strolled with a friend near the embassy Wednesday afternoon.

Johnson helicoptered to Andrews Air Force Base late Thursday to meet the presidential jet sped to Britain to bring home the remains of one of America's most distinguished sons.

Sorrowful Trip
The funeral stood at the foot of the ramp to shake hands with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Stevenson's three sons — Adlai III, John Fell and Borden — and others who made the sorrowful trip to London.

Then to ruffles and flourishes and a sounding of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," a military honor detail placed the casket on a hearse for the 20-mile motorcade to the cathedral.

At the little Bethlehem Chapel, another honor guard of a soldier, sailor, Marine and airman stood watch through the night as citizens paid tribute.

Latest Tribute

Leader of Coup Tries Captured

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Usually reliable sources reported that Col. Pham Ngoc Thao, leader of two unsuccessful coup attempts and under sentence of death, was arrested in a Roman Catholic monastery near Saigon today.

Thao had been the object of an extensive manhunt. A military tribunal sentenced him to death in absentia on May 7.

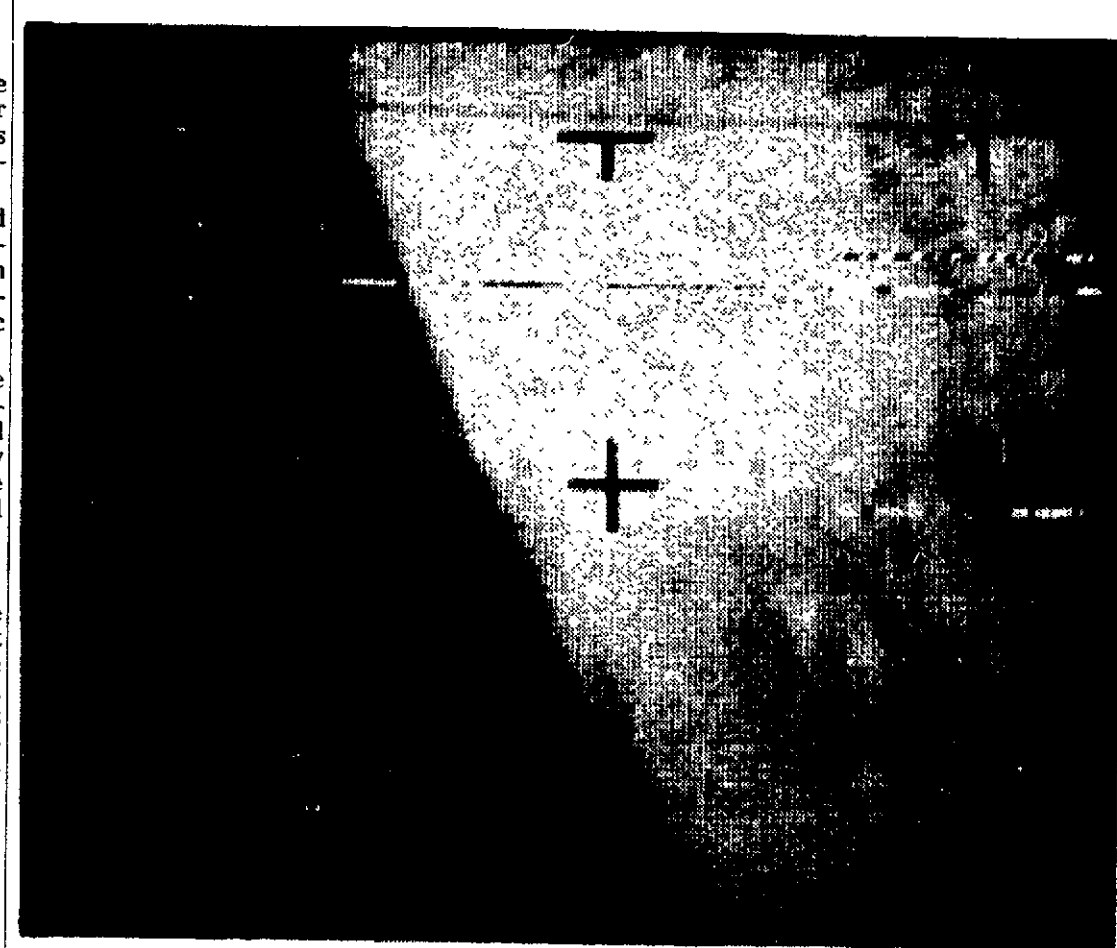

He said the three-hour Kremlin meeting had produced "significant information."

"I always cable when I think something is significant," Harriman said. "Today I think there was some significant information to cable to Washington."

U. S., Soviet Relations

This Picture, Released Thursday at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., is the first made by Mariner 4 and transmitted back to earth. Viewed with the darkness of space at the top, the direction is toward the north Pole which is out of view beyond the horizon. The general area in view is slightly above the equator and shows the region around a bright area of the planet known as the Elysium. The length of the limb (edge of Mars) shown in this photo is approximately 200 miles. Mariner took the picture at about 10,500 feet of altitude. (AP Wirephoto)

President Studying Report From Ambassador Harriman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson studies today a secret report from roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman on a three-hour talk with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin covering the latest Soviet views on Viet Nam and other world problems.

The report, cabled by Harriman reached here at a moment of growing evidence that widespread efforts are under way to break the long deadlock over peace talks on Viet Nam.

Peace Prospects
Johnson administration leaders are not optimistic about early peace prospects, officials said, but have some hope that after more hard fighting in Viet Nam the Communist North Vietnamese regime may be willing to enter into negotiations toward the end of the year.

Harriman told newsmen in Moscow Thursday that he had cabled his report to Washington but that he would not disclose anything about his talk with Kosygin until after he had discussed it with Johnson personally.

He said the three-hour Kremlin meeting had produced "significant information."

"I always cable when I think something is significant," Harriman said. "Today I think there was some significant information to cable to Washington."

U. S., Soviet Relations
The report was transmitted to the President through the State Department. Officials here declined to discuss its contents.

Harriman's meeting with Kosygin was the second development this week which indicated a possibility of improving U.S.-Soviet relations in spite of sharp differences between the two countries over the war in Viet Nam. On Monday the Soviet Embassy notified the State Department that Moscow agreed to reopen disarmament discussions in the 17-nation conference at Geneva. The United States suggested July 27 and the Kremlin promptly responded

Thursday with an acceptance of that date.

Great interest was aroused here and in London by a report from official British sources that North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh had asked President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana to visit Hanoi. Nkrumah is a member of a British Commonwealth Peace Mission headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain.

The peace mission was rebuffed recently in its efforts to arrange face-to-face meetings with the leaders of North Viet Nam and Red China. But it is now considered possible that Ho's bid to Nkrumah represents a new Communist approach to talks which might bear fruit at some later date.

Scientists Elated Despite Lack of Detail; Hail Feat Great Technical Advance

By RALPH DIGHTON AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Man's first closeup picture of Mars shows a remarkably earth-like desert area — but gives no hint of an answer to whether the mysterious planet could harbor life.

The poorly defined picture snapped as Mariner 4 flew within 10,500 miles of Mars Wednesday was released Thursday night while the U.S. spacecraft was relaying its second picture across 134 million miles of space.

Almost half the picture showed only the dark void of space, with but a small portion of the edge of Mars visible in the streaked and smudged frame.

Extreme Angle
The portion of the planet outlined in the picture, snapped at an extreme angle at the start of a north to south run, is apparently a bright desert with an even brighter area in the center.

Bordering the desert-like area are smudges which could be low-lying hills, darker colored soil or possibly even vegetation.

Scientists said the picture, streaked with lines representing improper radio signals, was not clear enough to warrant speculation about the cause of differences in shading.

To the unscientific eye, however, it could have been a photograph taken from a very high altitude of one of earth's deserts bordering a jungle region.

Despite lack of detail, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory were elated, calling the unprecedented electronic image a tremendous technical achievement.

Dirksen Agrees With Ford

GOP Wants to be Told Of Viet Nam Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican leaders in Congress say they want President Johnson to advise and consult with them if there is to be a large scale stepup of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, repeated his view that bombings of North Viet Nam should be increased and anti-aircraft missile sites being emplaced near Hanoi should be knocked out.

But Sen. Everett Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, when asked if he agreed with Ford, said "if there is a military necessity for it, yes. We try to avoid military judgment up here. We are not trying to run the war."

The administration has indicated it has no present intention of bombing the missile bases.

Ford told a news conference Thursday: "I haven't criticized the President's military judgment," but thought Republicans "have the right to make suggestions."

He added: "We can't give a total blank check in perpetuity."

Dirksen said "we pray that the national security decision of the President may always be wise. If we must disagree on any of those decisions, we shall never question his sincere desire for peace."

Ford said he would raise questions if there should be a policy decision that would "get the United States involved in a large scale ground war in South Viet Nam." But he said he is not opposed to sending more troops to protect U.S. installations and personnel.

Dirksen was asked if he agreed with a statement by Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., that Johnson might be close to losing Republican support on Viet Nam. Talking to Laird, he did not think Laird meant to convey that meaning.

Dirksen said "we pray that the national security decision of the President may always be wise. If we must disagree on any of those decisions, we shall never question his sincere desire for peace."

Ford said he would raise questions if there should be a policy decision that would "get the United States involved in a large scale ground war in South Viet Nam." But he said he is not opposed to sending more troops to protect U.S. installations and personnel.

Dirksen was asked if he agreed with a statement by Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., that Johnson might be close to losing Republican support on Viet Nam. Talking to Laird, he did not think Laird meant to convey that meaning.

GOP Wants to be Told Of Viet Nam Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican leaders in Congress say they want President Johnson to advise and consult with them if there is to be a large scale stepup of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, repeated his view that bombings of North Viet Nam should be increased and anti-aircraft missile sites being emplaced near Hanoi should be knocked out.

Fair Housing Law Gets Preliminary Okay of Assembly

State to Ask Legal Opinion On Constitutionality of Bill

MADISON (AP) — The state Legislature has moved a small step closer to passage of Wisconsin's first fair housing law.

The Assembly voted preliminary approval for the second time of a bipartisan bill that would ban discrimination in housing transactions conducted as a business. The vote Thursday was 58-39.

Moments after the action was taken, the Assembly adopted on a voice vote a resolution asking for an attorney general's opinion on the constitutionality of the housing bill.

Forty Democrats and 18 Republicans voted for the bill that has been endorsed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. The measure was first engrossed by the Assembly on June 24, and it was then referred to the Joint Finance Committee.

Another Approval

When a bill is sent back to a committee, preliminary approval must be granted a second time.

Most of the words generated in the late afternoon debate centered around three amendments that provided for a referendum on fair housing. They would have been placed on the ballot in April, September and November of 1966. They all were rejected.

The bill would create an Equal Opportunities Division of the Industrial Commission. A fiscal note says four new employees would be needed at a cost of $49,533 a biennium.

The commission could issue orders to stop discriminatory practices, but it would first try to end the discrimination by conciliation or persuasion.

Besides discrimination in leasing, renting, selling or financing housing, the division also would have jurisdiction over public accommodations. Orders would be subject to court review.

Assemblyman Harold Froehlich of Appleton, Republican caucus chairman, offered a two-word amendment that would have included in the bill the several exemptions listed. They were owner-occupied housing, small rooming establishments and large apartment buildings.

Froehlich, who voted against the bill, called the proposed change his "truth in discrimination amendment." He said it would "end discrimination in Wisconsin if there is any."

Froehlich claimed the leaders of both parties had agreed they were "going to throw a bone to the organizations supporting this type of legislation." The amendment was rejected 57-38.

Milwaukee Move

Assemblyman Albert Tadych, D-Milwaukee, tired twice to get through amendments that would exempt areas which contained buildings occupied by the owner or a member of the owner's family. Tadych said there were lots on Milwaukee's south side with a number of cottages on them. One amendment was killed 52-45, while the other one was ruled out of order.

The fate of a bill appropriating $400,000 for the planning and preparing of sites for new colleges in the Racine-Kenosha area and Northeastern Wisconsin appears to rest in the hands of a conference committee.

The Assembly refused to agree to a Senate change giving the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education the discretion to place the schools under either the University of Wisconsin or the state university system. The Assembly - approved version had put them in the control of the UW.

Extended Weekend Planned

Still Divided State Tax Negotiators Adjourn

MADISON (AP) — An extended weekend recess in bipartisan bargaining on a state budget-revenue compromise has been called with negotiators as divided as ever on the subject of new taxes.

When the 12-man committee adjourned Thursday night it left behind only requests for new information on tax sources.

From the Democratic side the requests concerned the amounts of money that could be raised through varying forms of income tax increases. Republicans asked estimates on what the sales tax could do toward balancing a new state budget.

Probably the most significant request came from Assembly Majority Leader Frank Nikolay, D - Abbotsford. He asked Tax Commissioner James Morgan what sort of an income tax hike would raise the $57 million needed to balance an $817.8 million budget.

Hold Top Rate

Nikolay said he wanted the rate increase to apply to all levels of earnings, but that the boost should not raise the top rate of 10 per cent on incomes of more than $15,000.

Holding the present top rate and applying the increase across the rest of the board could make an income tax increase at least a bit palatable to Republicans.

Testimony Stricken From Record

Eastland Says 'Bunk' to Allegation Of Using Parolees on Plantation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland has dismissed as "all bunk" allegations by a Negro farm worker that he operates his Mississippi plantation with paroled convicts.

And the chairman of the House Labor subcommittee which heard the testimony Thursday ordered it — and references to two other members of the Mississippi congressional delegation — stricken from the record.

The Negro worker, Andrew Hawkins, had told the subcommittee in a morning session that Eastland, Mississippi Democrat who heads the Senate Judiciary Committee, uses prisoners paroled from nearby penitentiaries to chop cotton on his delta farm.

Hawkins, 46, active until last month in trying to unionize delta field workers and truck drivers, said of Eastland: "He gets his labor through the parole boards."

Sell Moonshine

Hawkins said conditions on Eastland's farm are so bad his workers operate stills on it, selling the moonshine to supplement their meager pay.

Earlier, Hawkins and the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union's vice president, Aaron German, 19, read statements telling of delta field workers getting 30 cents an hour for 10 hours a day and urging they be included in any broadening of federal minimum wage coverage.

Asked if "public officials" maintain those kind of farms, Hawkins named Eastland and two other Mississippi Democrats, Sen. John C. Stennis and Rep. John Bell Williams.

On their farms, he said, "conditions are the same if not worse."

Eastland fired back an immediate disclaimer.

"It's all bunk, just bunk," he told reporters, adding he knew of no instance in which prison labor was used on his farm.

Williams entered the hearing room in midafternoon and at the invitation of the chairman, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., made a statement that "I have never owned a farm, rented a farm or leased a farm."

The testimony, he said, was "apparently a deliberate attempt to defame the people of the State of Mississippi by the use of outright lies."

Stennis later issued a statement calling Hawkins' statement "untrue."

The senator said he does not employ any farm labor, that he rents some land to a Negro to raise cotton but that "he does not work for me but for himself."

Roosevelt was not in the chair when Hawkins gave his testimony. He was testifying on other legislation before another House committee and Rep. Dominick V. Daniels, D-N.J., sat in for him.

Until Camacho returned, U.S. military authorities had no knowledge of his whereabouts or whether he was dead or alive, the spokesman said.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army Sgt. Isaac Camacho of El Paso, Tex., a Special Forces soldier, has escaped to safety after 20 months as a captive of the Viet Cong, a military spokesman announced today.

Camacho was the first American known to have escaped Viet Cong captivity. Thirteen other U.S. servicemen are still held by the Viet Cong, the spokesman said.

Camacho was taken prisoner Nov. 24, 1963, when several hundred Viet Cong overran a U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Hiet Hoa, in Hau Nghia province about 25 miles northwest of Saigon. He was last seen leaving a sugarcane field and running down a dirt road.

The spokesman said Camacho reappeared Tuesday and was apparently in good condition. The spokesman refused to give details of the escape, saying such information might harm other U.S. prisoners held by the Viet Cong.

He said Camacho was no longer in South Viet Nam but refused to say where he had been taken. He said he was still undergoing a medical examination.

South Viet Nam Government Calls for More U.S. Troops

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military government asked U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today to increase American forces in the country.

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said the Saigon government's top leaders made a detailed request in a session with McNamara that lasted more than two hours.

Sylvester said Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Nguyen Huu Co did not ask for a specific number of troops but put their estimates of Americans needed in terms of "force levels."

McNamara and his fact-finding party made no comment on commitment on the request, Sylvester said.

Professional Assessment

McNamara arrived earlier today with Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador-designate and the U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, to assess whether more U.S. soldiers are needed for the war against the Viet Cong.

Sylvester said an increase in American forces is being considered in terms of an overall buildup which would include an increase of 100,000 Vietnamese troops. This would bring the Vietnamese armed forces to well above 600,000 men.

The Secretary said he would spend four or five days reviewing field operations and determining, in talks with Vietnamese and American officials, whether additional U.S. combat units are needed in Viet Nam. An appraisal of the use of American fighting men was one of his "prime missions," McNamara said.

He said he also would discuss the possibility of more U.S. logistic support for the war against the Viet Cong.

McNamara denied that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended an increase in American combat troops. He did not mention other U.S. forces. But he reiterated the American commitment to provide whatever is needed to defeat the Communists and said, "We propose to fulfill that commitment."

U. S. Has 91 Polio Cases in Year

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The final count of paralytic polio cases in the United States during 1964 was 91, the lowest yet recorded, the U. S. Public Health Service said today.

The figure is less than a third of the cases reported in 1963, the previous record low year, the service said in its weekly morbidity and mortality report.

Geographically, the cases were scattered, the report said, with no county reporting more than two cases during any month.

"As in previous years the majority of cases were not adequately vaccinated," the report said.

Youths Enter Innocent Pleas

4 Accused in Holdup Slaying Returned To Madison for Trial

MADISON (AP) — Innocent pleas were filed Thursday for four youths accused in the holdup slaying of a college student.

A preliminary hearing was set July 22 for John Edward Burt, 20, Loretta; his brother, Thomas, 19; Virthel L. Popplewell, 19, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Moir Reed Plaster, 19, Martinsville, Va.

Presiding Judge William Sachtjen in Dane County Court entered the pleas of innocent for the four on charges of murder and robbery. The youths were returned Wednesday night from Martinsville.

The student, Leroy Erdahl, 20, Stoughton, an attendant at the station, was shot to death in the $95 holdup July 1.

Hartford, Conn. (AP) —

Last October, Hartford mailmen were armed with cans of dog repelling spray to ward off unfriendly canines.

But 19 cases of bitten mailmen have been reported in the past eight months. "In nearly every dog bite case," Postmaster John F. Heneghan says "the carrier was the victim of a sneak attack from the rear."

'Carousel of Stars' Opening

Packed Stands Catch Fair Acts' Spirit in 2-Way Show

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Outagamie County Fair officials did it again. They picked a winning collection of performers for their "Carousel of Stars" on the grandstand stage at Seymour.

Maybe it was the balmy summer evening that set the mood — maybe it was the exceptionally receptive crowd that packed the stands for Thursday's Appleton night, but there seemed to be a special affinity between audience and performer at the early show. It's even possible that the exciting performance of the Army team of parachuters was responsible for the friendly tempo of the stage show that followed them.

"Great Audience!" For the performers it was a "hit" opening night. Rain marred the second performance, but in the early one hit its stride with the first fanfare number of the talented Peter Palmer and his orchestra. The performers kept telling the grandstanders what a great audience they were. The spectators had instant applause handy in return, clapping their way spontaneously through the two-hour show almost as if on stage cue. It was a two-way evening of fun.

The six nimble Dalmatians of the Willie Necker delighted the audience with their canine ability and the funny story with a ity and antics. And with good twist. He played his talent with reason: dog trainer Necker admirable timing, running a from Wheeling, Ill. has an joke sequence from racial satire excellent show with an unusual to political and religious laugh-provoking "character" in "quickies" in quicksilver such his star clown dog.

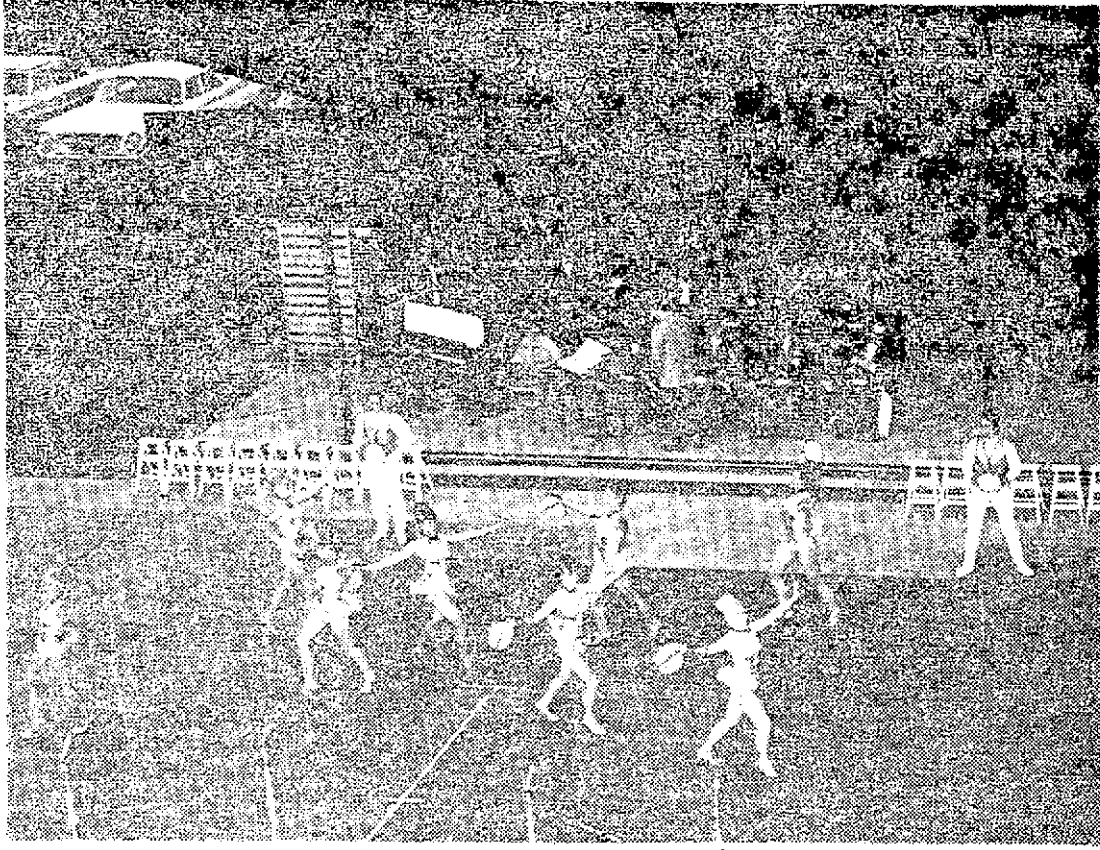

Young Americans Then came 17 young people — Bobby Vinton all the way. It eight boys and nine girls in was a different fair crowd, their Young American outfits of however. The spectators really red, white and blue — who listened to the young man's captured the hearts of the singing. They knew his songs.

The Fair Is Fun, but there are times when things can go just a bit too fast for a fellow. Lealand Hermus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hermus, route 3, Seymour, is not so sure this motor bike riding is all it's cracked up to be.

A Plain Old Hot Dog tastes twice as good when you can buy it at the Fair. Wayne Appleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Appleton, route 1, Seymour, is about to dig in.

The Sue Charles Dancers of the Carousel of Stars grandstand show make good use of the new wooden stage at the fairgrounds. The recently completed hand shell was properly initiated during the second performance Thursday night when the rains came and the show had to be moved back under cover.

Only at County Fair can a girl ride a fish! Paula Cliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cliver, route 3, Seymour, takes advantage of the opportunity.

Outagamie Unit Approves New Phone Setup

Switchboard at Courthouse to Be Eliminated

On a 45 to 6 vote, the Outagamie County Board Tuesday night decided to get rid of the courthouse switchboard and to initiate separate departmental telephone service.

The decision came after Richard Van Sistine, manager of the Appleton office of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., and Dennis McGuire, a telephone company sales engineer, explained the new system to the board of supervisors.

McGuire and other telephone company representatives had conducted a communications study of the courthouse building.

Three Findings

The study resulted in three findings, McGuire said. He said the part-time job of switchboard operator-receptionist has become a full-time switchboard operator's job and the sheriff's department is performing the service of a telephone answering bureau when the switchboard is closed. He added that under the present system there is no way of telling from which department long distance telephone calls originate.

Under the new plan, each department will get its own private line (or lines), there will be a separate courthouse "intercom" dialing system, and each department will get a separate listing under "Outagamie County" in the new telephone book, which will be issued next fall.

$103 Savings

The cost of the new system is expected to run about $998.95 per month. However, the board was told there would be a savings of approximately $103 a month under the new system because the full-time switchboard operator's job will be eliminated.

The present cost is about $801.95 per month for phone service and $300 per month for the switchboard operator's salary.

Casino Closed Since Scuffle

Owner Claims He Lacked Proper Police Protection

WAUPACA—The Casino, the largest teen-age dance hall and beer bar in Waupaca County, which draws crowds of thousands of teen-agers from throughout northeast Wisconsin each summer weekend, has been closed since a bartender was injured in a fight, last Sunday night.

John Goeltzer, owner of The Casino, which is located at the Indian Crossing on the Chain O' Lakes west of here, said he has not been receiving the proper police protection on weekends, so he closed the establishment. When asked if the Casino would be open this weekend, Goeltzer declined to comment.

Bartender Hurt

Kicked Bottle

Bartender Harlow Woodliff, 21, Waupaca, ordered a 22-year-old Milwaukee man from the porch overlooking the lakes after he kicked a beer bottle.

Alvin B. Thies, allegedly struck Woodliff, severely cutting his left eye. Thies was arrested by sheriff's department authorities and pleaded innocent to a charge of disorderly conduct and battery when he appeared Monday in Municipal Justice Court.

Woodliff has since been released from the hospital where he was taken after the incident.

Land Bought by Waupaca May Be Used for Dump

Council Acquires 35 Acres In Unpublicized Meeting

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — A 35-acre tract of land, intended to be used for a new city dump, was purchased at a special city council meeting Wednesday.

The land, purchased from Leonard Hanson, for a reported $6,000, joins the city on its northern boundary. It is expected that the Town of Waupaca property will be annexed to the city.

At present, the city dump is located west of Lakeside Cemetery. The council has had repeated complaints of paper and rubbish blown from the dump area littering the cemetery. The present site is also in the area where the U.S. 10 beltline is being constructed.

Mayor Calls Meeting The special meeting approving the land purchase and allocating money was called July 13 by Mayor Lloyd Matheson and the board of public works. City Atty. Laurie Anderson said he advised officials that the meeting need not be publicized in any of the newspapers or radio stations serving the area and that it would still be a legal meeting.

For the past several months, the council has been quietly checking sites for a dump and negotiations for the Hanson property have been underway.

Clintonville Plans Power Cutover

CLINTONVILLE — Electric power here will be off from midnight Saturday to 1:30 a.m. Sunday while crews complete the cutover to a new switching station, according to Virgel Vinquist, superintendent of the Clintonville Water and Electric plant.

Power lines coming into the city will be "killed" by Wisconsin-Michigan crews to finish a project designed to give the city more dependable service.

Review Board Stalls Black Creek Tax Roll

BLACK CREEK — The board of review met last Monday before the village board meeting to review the tax rolls.

It will reconvene at 7 p.m. Monday.

Proposal Outlined to New London C of C

Control Key to Waupaca Camper Ban

NEW LONDON — Supervision is the key force behind a Waupaca County ban on overnight camping in county parks, the Chamber of Commerce was told Wednesday.

Harold Clark, Weyauwega, agriculture committee member, said the county board is not opposed to camping, but the feeling is it should be in supervised grounds. Clark said the county is not the first to have such a ruling.

Much public sentiment has been aroused by the proposed ban, he said. It is a healthy situation because discussion has been pro and con on the ban, he explained.

A movement is underway to rescind the resolution which would take effect Jan. 1, 1966.

3 Parks Adequate

Clark gave a breakdown on county owned parks and their size. Only three of the parks he named were of adequate size for any amount of camping and for some time and the plan has been discussed at committee and council meetings.

August Arthur, route 1, Waupaca, owner of a 24-acre parcel of property adjacent to the newly purchased land, said Thursday, that he, along with three other property owners, Frank Nicolaisson, David Shanbeau and Charles Nelson, would retain an attorney and obtain court injunction in an effort to stop the city from using the property for a dump.

Has 30 Signers

He said he already has in his possession a petition with 30 signers opposing the new dump. Arthur said he had planned to construct homes on his property but will not be able to if they would be located near a city dump.

Mrs. Harriett Ward, city clerk-treasurer said in a recent telephone conversation telling the State Board of Health of the city's intentions for a new dump, that the state board would assist the city in laying out the new dump facility so it would comply with the state code.

North Central Gets Chance To File Reply

CLINTONVILLE — The Civil Aeronautics Board and interested parties, including North Central Airlines, have been granted an extension to Aug. 20 by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to make a reply to charges made by the City of Clintonville.

The city filed a brief on June 14 charging the CAB with arbitrary and capricious action in ordering termination of airline service here. The CAB was originally given about three weeks to answer the charges.

Atty. Robert Otto, Clintonville, and Atty. Howard Boros, Washington, D.C., represent the City of Clintonville in this case.

Calumet Redistricting Plan Lauded at Public Hearing

Objections From Hilbert Spokesmen

CHILTON — Several persons who attended a public hearing on Calumet County reapportionment here Thursday night lauded the redistricting committee's efforts, but spokesmen for the village of Hilbert asked not to be left "voiceless."

The special public hearing was on the committee's proposal which would reduce the Calumet board from its present 24 supervisors to 16 after the April, 1966 election.

Dictates by the Wisconsin Supreme Court and Legislative order county boards to reapportion by November. State law says counties in Calumet's population category can have no more than 21 supervisors.

The intention of the law is to have counties comply as nearly as possible to the "one man, one vote" theory of representation. Under the new Calumet County plan, each supervisor would represent as closely as possible, an average of 1,392 people.

Hilbert "Voiceless"

Hilbert Supv. Herman Greve made the plea not to leave Hilbert "voiceless."

The redistricting committee's plan combines Hilbert with the Town of Woodville to form a single supervisory district.

County Board Chairman Louis Huijbregtse (Brillion) pointed out to Greve that Hilbert would not be without representation on the reapportioned board. "Under the new plan," he said, "supervisors are to be strictly county officers and do not have to answer to any city, village or township." (Formerly, all Calumet County town chairmen automatically were county board supervisors.)

Redistricting committee chairman G. J. Hipke (New Holstein) told Greve and Hilbert Village President Orville Manz that two alternate reapportionment plans do not adhere well to districts with equal population.

Must Stand Up in Court

Dist. Atty. F. J. Schneider, who worked with the special committee, defended the plan and said his involvement was necessary because any reapportionment plan must be able to stand up in court.

If the plan does not meet state approval, Schneider explained, the Supreme Court can

Arivederci Rome, Hello Seymour!

BY ALICE FULTON

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SEYMOUR — Thursday night he opened a four-night engagement here at the Outagamie County Fair. A week ago he sang his hit, "Mr. Lonely" in Italian in Rome. Quite a contrast.

But not for popular recording star Bobby Vinton, except that "I like working at fairs," and "I didn't like Europe."

An interview with Bobby Vinton is unsettling because he assumes no modesty or reticence, but speaks candidly of himself, his career, other entertainers, other countries. "I'm not a rock and roll singer," he makes clear immediately. Vinton certainly doesn't fit the rock and roll stereotype of a one-hit talentless wonder.

All-Around Musician

He calls himself a popular singer, but he also can play almost any instrument in the band, was the youngest professional band leader at 15, has performed in theater, and has written one of his own hits.

His first and biggest hit, "Roses Are Red," sold more than three million copies in 1962 and he has reached the top of the hit list eight times since then. His latest recording, "Harlow," was released a month ago.

Vinton's plans for the future! "Anything I quit picking goals because I could never find one," the dark blond-haired singer declares. "Once," he recalls, "I would have been happy doing nothing but leading a band. Then, I would have been happy just singing."

"Now, I do only what I like," Vinton says, explaining that a contract with Columbia Records and royalties from his records promise him financial comfort for at least 20 years.

Night Club Circuit

The Pittsburgh-born star recently switched his home base from Hollywood to New York City where the night club circuit, personal appearances and his recording studio are handier. But he hopes to continue the film career he started in "Surf Party." Vinton reports that he just signed a five-picture contract with

Skydivers' Commander Earned Tag of 'Knight'

BY PAT DUFFEY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SEYMOUR—Maj. James Anderson, commander of the U.S. Army's Golden Knights parachute team, comes by his knighthood rightfully. Thirteen years ago he completed training as a second lieutenant in the St. Norbert College "Green Knights" Reserve Officers Training Corps unit.

Anderson, who graduated from the De Pere college in 1952, heads the record holding parachute team which is appearing at the Outagamie County Fair here.

It will be their only appearance on the Wisconsin fair circuit, but they will participate in an aerospace exhibition in Milwaukee in September and at a civic affair in East Troy, Wis. late in August.

Active in College

At St. Norbert, Anderson was active in the ROTC rifle team, intramural sports and served as president of the Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity. He hopes to make his first return visit to the campus this week.

Anderson and his wife have 11 children, including two sets of twins.

Perfect weather conditions prevailed for Thursday's practice jump for members of the press. Anderson reported after his jump that they experienced a heavy drifting wind at about 8,000 foot level. They jumped from the U. S. Army's Caribou, its largest, from 13,500 feet.

The plane is designed to land on small fields and could have landed inside the harness oval at Seymour had it not been for the elevated stock car racing track and lightning around it.

As it was the plane, in an anticlimax, roared several 100 feet above the back stretch of the stock car track and skimmed the trees between the harness track and industrial building.

The team used the new Seymour Community Lake, which is being developed just northwest of the fairgrounds, as their air target and allowed for drift to carry them the rest of the way to the infield of the fairgrounds.

In teams of two and three they performed their intricate maneuvers with amazing accuracy. Only one member strayed after leaving the plane. He landed near the railroad tracks several blocks from the fairgrounds.

Pilot Important

Anderson explained that much depends on how the plane pilot maneuvers the plane before they jump. A five degree turn can mean blocks or miles on the ground.

He recalled an instance when one of the team was heading for a golf course. As he was floating down the jumper yelled down to a nearby golfer on the green to "move the pin!" It took several yells and the shadow of the chute before the golfer looked up in amazement at his approaching visitor.

Sgt. Joe Gonzales, a member of the team, has designed the parachutes and cameras for the flights.

The Golden Knights will appear tonight as part of the fair's grandstand show and again Friday afternoon and evening.

More than 75 planes are expected to arrive from throughout the state. There will be live entertainment during the entire program.

Schafer said anyone purchasing a membership in the club at the celebration would be given a free plane ride by members.

School Tax Rate Shows Only Slight Hike at Clintonville

15 Cent Per $1,000 Increase Required for $924,597 Budget

CLINTONVILLE — A tax rate increase of 15 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation is in store for Clintonville Joint School District residents, according to the proposed budget approved Tuesday night by the board of education. The budget will be presented to the voters at the annual meeting July 26.

A rate of $15.51 per $1,000 of equalized valuation will finance a proposed budget of $924,597 for the 1965-66 school year. Last year a $15.36 rate was needed to raise the necessary levy.

Last year's receipts totaled $1,031,437 and expenses hit $870,142, leaving a $161,295 balance. This balance is being used to pay current operating expenses before tax monies become available, thereby lessening money to be borrowed and saving interest payments.

Tax Base Gain The 1964 equalized valuation is $43,408,700, a tax base gain of $2,441,100 over the 1963 total of $39,967,600. The 1964 equalized valuation will be used in computing the 1965-66 tax levy.

When applied to the new tax base, the $15.51 rate will produce a levy of $687,140.

Revenues from sources other than direct taxes are expected to amount to $237,457. A breakdown shows $211,188, state aids; $9,802, federal aid; $3,151, other local sources; and $13,516, county aid.

Proposed Expenditures Proposed expenditures include administration, $25,180; instruction, $568,326; health services, $2,711; pupil transportation, $59,214; plant operation, $71,221; plant maintenance, $19,789; fixed charges, $21,490; transfers from clearing accounts (athletics, hot lunch, other school activities, $7,894; debt service, $117,338; capital outlay, $22,894; and community services, $8,540.

As proposed, the budget would leave a cash balance of $161,295. Accounted in the debt service are interest payments on the $1 million bond issue for the new school construction and also $25,000 on the principal. The debt service is up $72,600 from last year.

Stock Market Trading Slow

Aerospace Issues Off After Gains Early in Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed and indecisive in dull trading early this afternoon.

Fractional gains and losses were the rule for most key stocks. Quite a few showed no change.

The opening was active, with a number of fair-size blocks changing hands. After this initial flurry, however, the market faded into the doldrums.

The trend began to get lower in late morning but a little buying corrected this and the list became a jumble of plus and minus signs, with market averages conflicting.

Aerospace issues were mostly off following their gains early this week on prospects of beefed-up defense spending. Mail order - retail issues were firm. Most groups were thoroughly mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at 325.0 with industrials off .2, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .33 at 881.31.

Pan American Sulphur was delayed in opening due to an accumulation of buy orders following news that the company had received an offer for its assets from United Nuclear Corp.

The sulphur company stock advanced 1 1/2 to 18 1/2 on an offer of about a point in later trades, which included some goodsize blocks.

Eastern Air Lines slumped about a point as 419,825 shares of its stock were released in a secondary offering.

Prices were mixed in dull trading on the American Stock Exchange.

American Can Co. Has Record Sales

Share Earnings Up 44 Cents During Year's First Quarter

Special to The Post-Crescent
NEW YORK—The American Can Co. had record earnings and sales for both the first six months and the second quarter of this year. William C. Stolk, chairman and chief executive officer, reported today.

The company reported earnings of $1.63 per share of common stock for the first six months compared with $1.19 for the first six months of the previous year, and $1.19 for the second quarter of this year, compared with $0.75 for the second quarter of 1964.

Twin City Plants
American Can's Marathon Products Division is located in Menasha and Neenah.

"These record highs are particularly gratifying, Stolk said, 'in light of the 21-day work stoppage at American in the first quarter. They reflect sales increases in virtually all of our product lines.'

Cost reductions programs, improved and eased production capacity resulting from substantial capital outlays over the last two years, new product developments and a continued general acceptance of the company's consumer paper lines, including Aurora, Dixie, Gala and Northern, were other factors cited by American for the gains.

Quarter Earnings
Six months net earnings for 1965 were $28,069,000, compared to 1964's six month earnings of $20,770,000. Net earnings for the second quarter were $20,231,000, compared with second quarter earnings in 1964 of $12,804,000.

Net sales in the first six months of 1965 amounted to $596,439,000, compared with $57,600,000 in the similar period for 1964. Sales for the second quarter of 1965 were $331,754,000, compared to $313,032,000 for the second quarter of 1964.

Clintonville Gets PSC Approval for Power Plant Replacements

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Clintonville has been authorized by the Public Service Commission to spend $90,000 to purchase and install a new transformer and associated equipment at its electric utility plant.

The commission said the new equipment will be capable of adequate service for a number of years, and the replaced equipment will be held for emergency use.

The city buys its electrical power from the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and uses a transformer to reduce voltage for distribution throughout the community. The old equipment has become obsolete, the city informed the state agency, and a search for a rental unit was unsuccessful.

Schedule Sermon Topics for Chilton Sunday Services

CHILTON — "Fishers of Men" will be the sermon of the Rev. Norbert Novotney at the 10 a.m. service Sunday at St. Martin Lutheran Church.

At the Ebenezer United Church of Christ, the Rev. Q. M. Moeschberger will speak on "What Does God Really Want?"

Worshippers at the 11 a.m. service at Trinity Presbyterian Church will hear the Rev. Allen Bowe's sermon "Prayer and a Poutice".

Legislator Feels Qualms on Regional Projects Proposal

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay told the State Senate Thursday he wants time to examine in detail the Fox River Valley Regional Planning Commission regional projects bill because he has "qualms about it."

Warren failed to persuade the Senate to delay all action on the measure that would permit cities, towns, villages and counties to sponsor regional projects, and to condemn lands and to borrow money for such cooperative ventures. But final action on approval was delayed in the upper house of the legislature.

The measure was the first to be introduced into the State Assembly this year, was approved in that house with comparative ease, and has been before the Senate since April 14.

Opposition Attempts
There it has evidently met some quiet resistance, although the details and the reasons have not been clear.

One amendment defeated Thursday would have excluded highway projects from the list of cooperative enterprises that could be undertaken under the terms of the legislation. That would have struck at the heart of the matter, according to the explanations of the sponsors at earlier legislative hearings.

Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek also defeated another hostile move Thursday, in the form of a motion to refer the measure to the Agriculture Committee, where it might have been delayed and defeated indirectly through legislative adjournment which is expected reasonably soon.

Qualms Are Vague
Warren did not explain his own admittedly belated reservations about the bill.

"I have great qualms about this matter," he said. "I have talked to some of the people who will be involved in this kind of activity."

Regional University Backers Optimistic About Success

Bills on Four-Year Institutions Sent to Conference Committee

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Backers of legislation to establish new state universities in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin were optimistic about ultimate success today, in spite of a delay of the measure resulting from a parliamentary snarl.

The fate of the authorization bill is now in the hands of a six-member conference committee representing the two legislative houses, because of a disagreement between the Senate and Assembly on the selection of administrative management of the new institutions.

Review Arguments
The conference group will review the arguments of those who want control of the new schools by the University of Wisconsin regents, which is the position of the Assembly, and those who prefer to have the choice of administrative identity made by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

The latter would consider the desire of the Board of Regents of State Colleges as well as the University of Wisconsin regents.

The Senate version of the bill leaves the choice of administrative control up to the Coordinating Committee.

The men likely to sit as a conference committee favor University of Wisconsin control. They are Assemblymen Mollinaro of Kenosha and Quinn and Vanderperren of Brown County, already named by Speaker Robert Huber of the Assembly, and Sens. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek, Robert Warren of Green Bay and Taylor Benson of Franksville, Racine County.

Their report is likely to reflect their previous voting positions in favor of University operation. Although the State Senate with fair consistency thus far has expressed a preference for directing the Coordinating Committee to resolve the issue, Warren and others are hopeful that they can persuade several senators to change their minds in favor of the University choice.

Legislature Rules
Under the rules of the legislature, a conference committee report must be accepted or rejected in total. It cannot be amended.

The major provisions of the bill provide authority and $400,000 in money for the planning of the institutions and the review of potential sites for the new schools, with the expectation that the 1967 legislature would arrange the building funds to permit the start of instruction in the third or third and fourth year courses at the Fox Valley school as early as 1969.

The bill provides for the meshing of the new program with the existing freshman-sophomore extension centers in the Valley at Menasha, Green Bay, Manitowoc and Marinette.

County Clerk Roland E. Miller, also defending the plan, said the population variation in supervisory districts would be less than 400 in every case. He pointed out that, after the 1970 census, the board will have to reapportion again. After 1970, he explained, the county's population growth will require an increase in board membership.

Hipke said the main considerations in coming up with a plan were continuity of interest and continuity of boundary lines. The committee, he explained, tried to avoid "gerrymandering."

Thursday night's action was only the public hearing which is required by law. The county board will vote on the actual ordinance at the August session. Working on the committee along with Hipke, Miller and Schmieder were Huijbregtse and Supvis. Oscar Kossman (Town of Chilton) and George Schwalbach (Town of Harrison) and Assom.

Unchanged districts would be towns of Brillion, Brothertown, Charlestown, Chilton and Rantoul and Appleton's 9th Ward.

Most Fair to All
Huijbregtse said it was "inevitable that the plan had to hurt someone, but the real problem (Town of Harrison) and Assom was arriving at a plan that was blyman Wilmer Struebing (formost fair to all. "From now on," mer Town of Brillion supervi-he said, "it will be the quality,

Asks Major Farm Overhaul

Omnibus Measure Cleared for Voting By Representatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee recommended Thursday a major overhaul of government farm programs.

It approved for House action probably early next month a modified version of the administration's omnibus farm measure which chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., said would maintain farm income, stabilize prices and cut government farm program costs.

The committee action was by a 21-13 vote with one Republican member, Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, assailing the bill as too costly and failing to solve any basic farm problems.

In a statement explaining the committee action, Cooley said farmers are not sharing in the nation's prosperity, are going deeper into debt and are not getting a fair return for their labor.

Major provisions of the bill, by subjects, include:

Dairy—The class I dairy-men's base plan seeks to reduce surplus milk production and stabilize the income of dairy farmers in the 75 federal milk order areas by removing the necessity for dairymen to maintain maximum production in order to preserve individual participation in the markets for milk for fluid consumption.

The dairy title would assign to each producer in a milk order area a fluid milk base, which would enable him to receive the higher price for milk consumed in fluid form on a specified quantity of his production in lieu of a blended price on total production use for

Every Day a Vacation for Bobby Vinton

Paramount studios to make one movie a year.

One thing the restless 25-year-old doesn't want is to be tied down. "I can't stand to stay in one place too long," he said. "I want to be in Miami as his longest."

"I had a chance to do a regular TV musical show. But it would mean punching a clock, just like working in an office," he said, grimacing.

Does he ever take a break? Vinton laughs. "Every day is a vacation. I do only what I enjoy doing. When I have free time, I spend that finding something to do."

Vinton touched with candor on a wide range of subjects—

On being mobbed: "I was mobbed at a fair in Boston Monday. They came after me for souvenirs—tie, cuff links, anything. Man, it's tense. All those little girls and you can't push them away."

On English bit singers: "No talent. They make good records, but they're unprofessional entertainers," and "they don't take baths or comb their hair."

On England: "They wouldn't give me a work permit to sing. They're putting a ban on American singers. They say the United States isn't letting the English singers in."

Most embarrassing moment: "My pants split during a show in Miami. I was wearing a mohair suit and I didn't know they split until the audience was laughing."

On breaks: "You make them. No one in show business discovers you and no one makes you. You have to go out and do it yourself. I tried waiting around and it never happened. Show business is hard work."

On extravagances: "I buy clothes wherever I go. It's the greatest feeling to be able to see something you like, and walk in the store and buy it without asking the price. I can afford it now. I can wear something only once."

On sports: "I'm a great football fan. I saw the Green Bay Packers here about a year and a half ago. I always carry a football around with me and play catch a lot. Once I wanted to be a football or baseball star."

National Search Still on for Man

LITTLE CHUTE—A nationwide search continues for George J. LeNoble, 27, 707 E. Lincoln St., a policeman who allegedly ran off with a woman, according to Little Chute police.

LeNoble, a patrolman for more than two years, has been charged with abandoning his expectant wife and four children.

He and the woman have been missing one week, according to police, and $1,600 which LeNoble's wife had borrowed from a bank to pay family bills also is gone.

No warrant has been issued for the 18-year-old woman, mother of one child, who is reportedly missing with LeNoble.

Mrs. LeNoble was hospitalized Tuesday and relatives are caring for the children.

The search is being concentrated in the West, particularly in California where the woman has relatives.

Devlin's 66 Takes First in 'Canadian'

Nicklaus Trails Pace-Setter by 1 Stroke; Campbell Falls to Third

TORONTO (AP) — It was more like a sick bay than a golf tournament as the field was cut to 74 from 144 in the $100,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship Thursday.

The survivors, who managed to shoot two-round scores of 146 or better, started out today in pursuit of an ailing Australian.

Bruce Devlin, now playing out of Hilton Head Island, S.C., teed off Thursday with a sore left shoulder, the remnants of a throat infection that bothered him in last week's British Open, and varicose veins.

He shot a four-under-par 31 on the front nine, the lowest nine-hole score he's had in his four-year professional career, and followed it up with a par 35 on the back nine for a 66 and the second-round lead with a 134.

One stroke back was Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who had a red-hot 66 to go with a first-round 69 for 135. Joe Campbell, of Peridido, Fla., the

New Proposal Sets Stadium Rent at $1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An attractive proposal tailored to entice another major league baseball team was presented to Milwaukee County Board members Thursday.

In a rental package suggested by County Executive John Doyle, the stadium would be enlarged to 55,000 seats and the usage fee for any new tenant team would be $1 a year until attendance reached a million.

The Milwaukee Braves, who now use the county-owned stadium, plan to move to Atlanta after this season.

The proposal which also offers increased concession operation rights to the tenant, was suggested by Doyle to attract a franchise to replace the Braves.

Some package, even if not this particular one, should be approved speedily, Doyle said in a letter to board members. Eugene H. Grobschmidt, county board chairman, said he would refer the letter to a new special committee coordinating efforts to obtain a new team.

Long-Standing Feud Will be Given Hearing

Senate Committee To Look Into AAU, NCAA Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A war which even a general couldn't solve is now headed for a Senate hearing room.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Thursday his Senate Commerce Committee plans a look into the long-standing jurisdictional dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Magnuson vowed to take "whatever action is necessary to prevent a strangling of athletic freedom in our nation."

The late Gen. Douglas MacArthur once served as a middleman between the two athletic groups. He brought peace, but it was only temporary.

Favorable Reaction
Magnuson's decision to conduct hearings — he set no date — on the matter brought favorable reaction from spokesmen for both organizations.

In Denver, Clifford Buck, president of the AAU, said he welcomed the hearing.

Said Buck: "The AAU's position is clear. If we are wrong, and we don't think we are wrong, then we certainly want to know it."

In Kansas City, Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said: "The NCAA and the many organizations associated with us in the Federation movement have been on record for some time in favor of a thoroughgoing investigation by an impartial agency."

Magnuson said in his speech: "This dispute has gone on long enough. It is now the duty of the Senate to speak out for those who have no voice."

College Athletes
His reference was to college athletes who, he said, face loss of athletic scholarships for daring to compete in AAU-sponsored events to select track and field teams for international competition.

He cited specifically the case of distance runner Gerry Lindgren of Washington State University. Lindgren ignored an NCAA ban to compete in an AAU meet where he won a spot on a U.S. team which is to meet Russian athletes.

"Though Gerry's fate is still undecided," Magnuson said, "we must ask ourselves why this 18-year-old boy has become a pawn and innocent victim in this dispute."

"These young men and women must not be made to choose between an education and representing our country. The cost is too great to them, and to our country."

Browns' Parrish Retires After Six Seasons in NFL

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Bernie Parrish, who gave up a baseball in 1964 and the league's All-Rookie team in 1959, said he was tired of playing after the Cleveland Browns, retired from professional football Thursday at age 29.

Leo Cardenas each collected three hits.

Drysdale brought his record to 14-8 while winning his third straight and recording his fourth shutout. He also singled across two runs in the fifth inning when the Dodgers scored all of their runs. Maury Wills singled in another run and stole his 56th base.

Dick Groat's third hit, a seventh-inning double, drove in two runs and lifted St. Louis past New York. The hit climaxed a comeback that wiped out a 5-0 lead the Mets built mainly on two-run homers by Ed Kranepool and Charley Smith.

Ed Mathews Homers in 9-6 Win for Braves shot a single to left, scoring Jones. Aaron singled to score Alou and Oliver walked, loading the bases. A walk to Mathews forced in the third run of the inning and kept the bases filled.

Rico Carty then singled, sending home two more runs, before Wilbur Wood came on to curb the Braves' bats.

Braves manager Bobby Gagan, confident his nine-run lead would stand, replaced Aaron with Gary Kolb as the Braves' took the field for the fifth inning.

Then the Pirates' started getting after Johnson.

Singles Open Fifth
Donn Clendenen and Mazeroski singled to open the fifth and two infield outs, including one on a brilliant backhanded stab by Bolling, brought home the first run.

Bob Bailey and Bill Virdon singled to open the Pirate sixth. Johnson struck out the dangerous Roberto Clemente, but surrendered a run-scoring single to Willie Stargell.

Clendenen singled in another run before Johnson got Mazeroski to foul to Oliver for the second out. That was the last out Johnson was to get.

Gene Alou doubled to score another run and Jim Pagliaroni singled to score two more. That was all for Johnson.

Osinski came on to fan pinch-hitter Andre Rodgers for the final out of the inning.

The Pirates blew an opportunity in the eighth. Clendenen singled with one out, then tried to steal second. Oliver's peg to Bolling was on the bag and Clendenen was out.

The fifth-place Braves, now 1½ games ahead of the sixth place Pirates but still 5½ games out of first, take on Pittsburgh again tonight.

Wade Blasingame, 9-7, is expected to pitch for the Braves against the Pirates' Bob Veale.

'Adlai Stevenson

Americans and the other people who struggle for freedom and justice will miss the services of Adlai Stevenson, United States Ambassador to the United Nations at the time of his unexpected death. He has served his country and its causes extremely well.

Stevenson was a man of charm and culture, of considerable humor and wit. Almost all of his adult life was spent in the area of politics and public service. His positions ranged all the way from various deputy assignments in the early United Nations, through assistant Secretary of State, Governor of Illinois and then Ambassador to the United Nations. Of course there was political opposition to him but even most of his opponents conceded his abilities. If he had any naive notions about the Communists, he lost them early in his last important position. Always willing to discuss the possibilities of agreement and cooperation, he was potent in delving out the falsehoods behind the Communist stands. Stevenson's usage of the English language rivaled that of Winston Churchill and he could use it with beauty and as a steel-edged sword. Few men have as sincerely and ably defended the American point of view as Stevenson did in his years at the United Nations.

Although he was born in California, Stevenson came from a midwestern family and called Illinois his home. Politics and public service were parts of his family background and cut across party lines. A great-grandfather was advisor to President Lincoln; the grandfather for whom he was named was vice-president to Grover Cleveland; his father was assistant Secretary of the Navy when Frank Knox was in Franklin Roosevelt's cabinet. As Governor of Illinois, Stevenson inaugurated reforms as well as economy measures. It is likely that he would have been elected President of the United States had he not had the misfortune to run against Dwight Eisenhower, a national hero.

With the sly humor characteristic of so many of his remarks, Stevenson once said that he was a victim of "hereditary politicalitis." We would hope that more Americans could catch the affliction.

35,000 Acres a Year

A current compilation of the State Conservation Department indicates that since the enactment of the Outdoors Recreation Act Program during the administration of Gov. Gaylord Nelson in 1961, it has acquired recreational lands at the generous rate of about 35,000 acres yearly.

About a third of such acquisitions were achieved out of its normal budgetary resources, without regard to the additional spending powers of the law now commonly known as ORAP.

Thus the effect of the farsighted program of the former governor—cheerfully endorsed by a Republican legislature which had the power to veto his propositions at the time—has been to triple the acquisition power of the principal state agency involved in the new outdoors recreation enlargement effort.

This is a handsome achievement, indeed. The people of Wisconsin in four years have added to their community holdings for game management, fisheries, parks and general recreation, forest management and related purposes, about 150,000 acres that will be available to future generations in perpetuity.

Yet there is a curious resistance to the idea, among Democratic legislators especially, that the present generation of Wisconsin citizens which is paying the substantial costs of these purchases is entitled to some benefit from them by way of authorizing development funds now, rather than at some future day when every last parcel of marsh, or meadow, or woodland or creek frontage that might be desirable has been transferred to state ownership.

There appears to be a fear that any diminution of the fast pace of buying and leasing would be an affront to the original idea. Sen. Nelson, we regret to note, is among those who is stubbornly insistent upon using all available money for buying, without regard to use and development now or for the rest of the decade.

We believe there is room for a reasonable compromise here. There is some cause for belief that the pressure to use all funds available for purchases has led to some random and injudicious acquisitions. If the exclusive concern of the department for half a dozen or more years will be land buying, it may be another quarter of a century before some of these parcels are made available for public use for their highest purpose or preferred value. A modest rebudgeting, to provide for a 20 per cent development fund, would be a welcome adjustment in the current appropriation before the legislature.

Tourists for the Kashmir

The theory that economic considerations really underlie most ideological or philosophic policies really has a chance to be proved in the Kashmir.

India and Pakistan both claim the area or part of it depending upon the mood or political expediency of the moment. A United Nations cease-fire ended the active war some time ago but there has been no agreement reached on a plebiscite mainly because the majority of the people are Moslems and therefore would probably vote to join Pakistan but the government now is under the control of India. The recent fighting between Indian and Pakistani troops in several other disputed border areas has not helped to soothe feelings or bring about any kind of a settlement.

But the Kashmir, a spectacularly lovely recreational area with cool mountain retreats from the tremendous heat of summertime India, has been basing quite a bit of its economy on the $25 million annual tourist trade. And the tourists are rescheduling their routes.

The normal tourists number about 80,000 during the season of monsoons and desert storms in other parts of India. But in 1964 the total was only about 56,000. The drop away was particularly noted from India where the 72,000 who visited in 1963 fell to 48,000 in 1964. Americans also were concerned about riots in the streets and cross fire: 11,500 went to the Kashmir in 1963 but only a little more than 8,000 in 1964.

The active fracas which stimulated the always simmering troubles in 1963 included the theft of a religious relic from a mosque and subsequent hysterical riots. This year a leader of the Kashmir Moslems, only recently released from prison in India, was once more arrested. The first protesting crowd was fired upon by police and at least thirty were killed. After that the police tried to hustle off to prison any demonstrators but the opposition didn't always cooperate with keeping things quiet.

Not only high government officials are upset about the decline in tourist traffic last year. The small artisans, the workers in brass and carpets, hotel owners and employees, and even those who run the small shops in the markets rely upon tourists. If the dangers to the economy can actually tone down the fanatical political and religious hatreds and allegiances in the Kashmir between the Moslems and the Hindus, there is not much financial considerations can't influence.

Taylor Says

There's Good Question if Lodge Is Right Man for Vietnamese Job

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Good judgment is the price-less ingredient needed in Saigon. And, in all kindness, God help our country as we rely again on Henry Cabot Lodge.

A tragedy engulfed Lodge. Is he really bright? He looks bright and sometimes he walks bright? But somehow you find a lot of Harold Stassen in Lodge.

Taylor

Questions about this attractive Bostonian's brainpower reached a crescendo during the Nixon campaign. Here is one example, but you can frame it:

Nixon won Virginia, greatly aided by giant Harry F. Byrd's refusal to endorse the Democratic ticket, but when victory was touch and go Lodge exploded a land mine of his own making.

It illustrates his impulsive independence as well as his bad judgment, for Nixon himself, the head of the ticket, has told this writer that Lodge did not even consult him in advance.

Invading the South, Lodge announced in Norfolk that the new administration, if elected, should place a Negro in the Cabinet. The thought hit Lodge suddenly (Archimedes bursting from his bathtub) and in touch-and-go Virginia, besides, Nixon's reaction was unprintable.

DINNER PARTY JOB

After the election defeat Lodge went to work for Time, Inc., at $35,000 a year. He served as an uppercrust contact man for Time, Life and Fortune magazines in the New York and Washington diplomatic sets. Lodge was ideal in this job. It called for no better judgement than from any other old campaigner in the ups and downs of dinner parties.

But Lodge soon grew restless. Within months he immensely surprised able Henry R. Luce by asking for a leave of absence. He wanted to be an Ambassador again.

President Kennedy did not seek Mr. Lodge. Mr. Lodge sought President Kennedy. And when Lodge finally got around to consulting former President Eisenhower "to ask his advice" Mr. Eisenhower discovered, alas, that Mr. Lodge was already committed — and that what President Kennedy had handed Lodge was South Viet Nam!

Whether or not his blunders there were as glaring as many have reported it is certainly indisputable that he left the situation vastly worse off than he found it. Moreover, it is without precedent to send a controversial Ambassador back to the same post all over again.

The Lodge tragedy continued in another complete fiasco when he suddenly quit to help Gov. William Scranton get the San Francisco nomination. His activity was so shockingly inept, not to say stupid, that Lodge actually embarrassed many of his oldest friends, including Scranton.

Lodge cooked his goose, and very nearly cooked Scranton, before he even started. Lodge was as touchy as a bear with a sore nose about his Viet Nam results and declared at the Saigon airport: "Foreign policy is not a suitable issue for debate." Scranton himself had to publicly part company with Lodge on this aspect while Lodge was still flying the Pacific.

Then, when every hour counted, it took Lodge seven days before he met Scranton for their first huddle.

"KEEP LODGE AWAY"

Lodge began his delegate search in Kansas, of all places. Of the 22 delegates at stake, only two even showed up to hear him. In Ohio (54 delegates) Scranton's advance man sent word: "Please just keep Lodge out of here. We've made enough mistakes already." Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce was a Lodge lady from way back and he had sought her support by cable before he left Saigon. Yet by the time Lodge reached the convention, jittery as a spinstar in the Casbah, Mrs. Luce was completely out of his camp.

When the attractive Bostonian with the strong TV image says, "I think," does he really think? His problem in defending his faulty judgments has long since become monumental. Absolutely nothing justifies Lodge's reappointment to South Viet Nam except the same political ploy that made him President Kennedy's patsy.

It is heartbreaking to be forced to assume that in such an hour as this President Johnson is playing self-defensive politics with the blunders in the horrible, horrible war. He can never unite our country or justify the agonies of our wounded and dead, nor can America ever win this war, like that.

Water Safety Needed At Black Creek Lake

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Congratulations to the Black Creek community for "the improvement made on their artificial lake!"

I realize progress is slow on a limited budget, but perhaps appropriations for a minimum of safety should precede further building.

Last Sunday, a number of swimmers were pushed off the raft by adult roughnecks. Being thrown unexpectedly into seven foot water, a novice swimmer can easily panic. Ring buoys and throwing line on the raft might be helpful and inexpensive. The Milwaukee chapter Red Cross recommended life guards for the lake. It would cost about thirty dollars to hire three life guards each Sunday—the day when crowds present such dangers. At least one lifeguard in a row boat near the raft could supervise that area.

Could not part of the admission fees collected be used for a minimum of protection in the way of lifeguards?

Chances That Manson Will Be Ousted From Insurance Job Small

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The publicity about an attempt to oust Insurance Commissioner Charles Manson appears to be based more upon the assumption, and the aspirations of some men who would like to hold his job, than upon any showing of solid intent by Gov. Knowles to get rid of the holdover from Democratic administrations who is the top man of the key state regulatory body.

Wyngaard

The governor has left very little doubt, in a candid discussion with correspondents, that as far as he is concerned he has no special desire to replace the man whose credentials may be doubtful through a clerical error in his reappointment a year ago. In fact, Knowles made it reasonably clear that if there is any change in the department during his term, it won't be based on that slender reed, but upon the question of the incumbent's eligibility under the state retirement law which presumes retirement at the age of 65 years.

Since that question is subject to legal construction, and since the construction will be by the attorney general's office where Democratic Attorney General Bronson LaFollette won't be inclined to rule against his friend Manson unless he is forced to do so, it appears that Monson is reasonably secure against a political dismissal.

IN THE BACKGROUND

All of which is not to say that there are not those persons who would like to see another man sitting at the shiny desk in the big and powerful department, as Mr. Manson surely knows, and as a man of considerable political sophistication also appreciates.

There is the normal desire of a political party which has won control of the executive department to consolidate its victory with the installation of its own men in the key administrative positions. The present commissioner understands these things, for he was the beneficiary of such motivation when the Democrats took over the appointing power, for the first time in three decades, only six years ago. There was a Republican predecessor in the insurance department when Gov. Nelson was installed. There never was any doubt about his fate. He departed at the Democrats' wish without complaint or fuss.

But there are other factors involved also. Perhaps there is no economic regulation function at the capitol quite as complex, with respect to the variety of special interests involved, as the insurance department. There are factions and schisms and competitive rivalries that are not involved in the other major regulatory agencies, and some of these are evidently making themselves felt in the speculation about the future control of the department.

THE MAN

Quite aside from the partisan and the institutional pressures that are conceivably involved in his fate, many persons around the capitol will regret Commissioner Manson's departure, if it comes to pass, for personal reasons.

Too often men in high places in government take themselves with a seriousness they do not deserve. Too often they are stuffy and ponderous.

Manson is one of the most delightful personalities who has been introduced into the life of the capitol in many years, a man of slyly irreverent humor, civilized tastes, and practiced skill as a raconteur. No man in the place gets a keener pleasure from brightening a dull conference with an apt and invariably witty story.

Like many of the more mature men in the upper echelons of government, he has also learned to pursue his work at a leisurely and comfortable pace. Although he has spent his life as an agency man, he does not pretend to expert competence in the infinitely complex and difficult regulatory field. Like his predecessors, and almost surely like his successor, when he comes, he relies upon his civil service staff. There is reason to believe that the fuss about his tenure relates more to his underlings than to himself.

Meanings of Words Change Over Century

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the children, at school, learned the name of Ethelred the Unready, the English King of the 10th Century. He asked me what Ethelred was unready for, and why he had been given that sobriquet.

Harris

This, too, is a misunderstanding of the origin of the word.

The word comes from the Latin universitas, meaning "the whole," but it does not mean, as mistakenly supposed, the different schools and colleges incorporated into one great body. When the word was first coined for the British universities in the 12th Century, it was done so because of the entire range of literature taught in the colleges — the universitas literarum.

It is true that a university should relate different bodies of knowledge to one another, and provide its students with a broad scope of information on related subjects — but this was not the original purpose of the university, which was then almost wholly devoted to literature and the humanities, ignoring the "coarse" physical aspects of life.

In the Middle Ages, not only did "silly" mean "blessed," but the word "nice" meant "ignorant," the word "quick" meant "living," the word "villain" meant "farmer," the word "passion" meant "suffering," the word "poll" meant "head," the word "pupil" meant "doll," the word "gossip" meant "godparent," and so on through hundreds more.

This should teach us to be cautious when reading books of other ages, or translations made even a century ago. What the Greeks called a "tyrant" was not what we would call one today; when Plato suggested that the most important parts of education are "music" and "gymnastics," he was not referring to strumming the lute and doing push-ups.

Johnson Keeps U. S. Guessing On Viet Nam

Close-Lipped Policy
Aimed at Mystifying
Communist Leaders

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is trying to keep the Communist world guessing on what's next in Viet Nam but it's having the same effect on this country and, apparently, on Republicans, too.

President Johnson, who talks a lot on many subjects and held two news conferences in the past week, plays the cards close on Viet Nam to avoid tipping off the Reds and giving them time to prepare.

But the result is a general vagueness on what's cooking, although what's in the pot doesn't look good and he was frank to say so.

At his news conference last week he said things in Viet Nam would get worse before they got better and that the number of troops there would have to exceed the announced goal of 75,000.

Picture Grows Gloomier

He said he could make "neither a rosy nor a gloomy report." This wasn't very specific but "the report" looked gloomier by the time he had his second news conference on Tuesday.

He said "increased aggression from the North (Viet Nam) may require an increased American response on the ground in South Viet Nam." He added: "It is quite possible new and serious decisions will be necessary in the near future."

Does this mean calling up reserves or increasing the draft calls Johnson said, "We will be in a better condition to act upon matters of that kind" after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returns from Viet Nam.

McNamara, accompanied by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., nominated to be U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, left Wednesday for Saigon for a week-long survey. Before they took off, McNamara held a news conference.

Mobilize Forces

What he said was interpreted as meaning there might soon be need to mobilize reserves, increase draft calls and extend the enlistment of men on active duty.

Thursday The Associated Press reported the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff have unanimously recommended boosting American forces in South Viet Nam to 179,000 by the end of the year, or more than 100,000 above the 75,000 now scheduled to be there.

But, shortly after arriving in Viet Nam late Thursday, McNamara denied the Joint Chiefs of Staff had unanimously recommended an increase.

He didn't mention other forces and then added the use of combat troops was one of the "prime missions" of his trip.

GOP Leaders

If this leaves the question of far larger forces for Viet Nam up in the air, the two top Republican leaders in Congress don't seem better informed on this subject than the general public.

Thursday Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said they wanted to be consulted about a call-up of reserves or any large-scale commitment of troops beyond the limits already indicated by the administration.

Dirksen and Ford said they backed Johnson on Viet Nam but they themselves weren't in full harmony on all the details of how.

Step Up Bombing

Ford wants the bombing of North Viet Nam stepped up and he wants the Russian-built missile bases near the capital city of Hanoi knocked out. Did Dirksen agree?

He said "if there's a military necessity for it, yes. (But) we try to avoid military judgments up here. We are not trying to run this war."

Dirksen, one of Johnson's staunch supporters on Viet Nam policy, was asked if he agrees with another Republican leader, Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, who said Johnson might be close to losing GOP support on Viet Nam.

Dirksen said he didn't feel, after talking with Laird, that the latter meant to convey that meaning although Laird's own words were: "We may be dangerously close to ending any support" for Johnson's Viet Nam policy.

Funeral Rites Monday for Stabbing Victim

Waupaca Authorities May Revise Charges Against Rodeo Rider

NEW LONDON — Funeral services for stabbing victim James R. Genke, 23, route 2, New London, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Emmanuel Lutheran Church with burial in Floral Hill Cemetery.

Genke died at 10:15 a.m. Thursday at New London Community hospital where he had been a patient since he suffered the abdominal knife wound in a scuffle July 4 at Manawa.

A bull rider performing in the Manawa Rodeo, Bernard E. Gallagher Jr., 20, Millstadt, Ill., has been charged with mayhem, injury by conduct regardless of human life and carrying a concealed weapon. He was arrested near the scene of the stabbing.

Two Operations — Genke underwent two emergency operations to correct the injuries and had been listed as "satisfactory" until his condition worsened suddenly.

Death was caused by peritonitis, Dr. John W. Monsted, New London, deputy Waupaca County coroner, said, with the infection caused by a knife wound which penetrated the bowels and punctured the pancreas. A Wausau pathologist performed the autopsy.

Genke is survived by the widow, a son, three sisters, a brother, his parents, maternal grandparents and paternal grandmother. He was employed by Bi-County Co-op.

Awaits Report — Friends may call at the Cline and Hanson Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Sunday.

Waupaca County Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson said today that he will wait until he has had a chance to study the pathology.

He said the picture showed markings as small as three miles across, indicating it was some 50 times sharper than those made by telescopes.

Mariner Program

The success of the $200 million Mariner Mars exploration program gave the United States a prestigious first in space. A Soviet attempt to photograph Mars failed last April when radio signals stopped coming back from Zond 2, launched two days after Mariner 4 went aloft Nov. 28.

Leighton predicted the best of Mariner 4's pictures being radioed to earth slowly over a 10-day period could show surface markings as small as one and one-half miles in length or diameter. If there are canals and great cities on Mars as some scientists have speculated the later pictures might detect them, but the lack of sharpness in Thursday night's photograph makes this doubtful.

Light Wisps

The first photograph showed light wisps just above Mars' horizon which resembled clouds, but Leighton said he thought these were due to false signals in the transmission.

"There is no other evidence that Mars has the sort of atmosphere in which clouds could form," he said.

Clouds could indicate that Mars has enough air to support life but telescopic studies have shown no trace of oxygen.

Further information about Mars' atmosphere was expected today, when scientists were to announce the result of an experiment to measure its depths and density. Any radio fading just before the spacecraft shot behind Mars would indicate an atmosphere dense enough to weaken the signals.

Failure Reported

Earlier Thursday scientists reported instruments on Mariner 4 had failed to detect a magnetic field around Mars or a concentration of solar radiation trapped by that field.

This was good news for men designing future Mars landing craft — they probably won't have to include heavy shielding against radiation.

This also meant, scientists said, that Mars' internal structure apparently differs from earth's.

Earth has a magnetic field, containing a belt of deadly radiation against which deep-space travelers may have to be protected. The field is believed generated by the sloshing of a hot metal core as the earth rotates.

The lack of a magnetic field indicates Mars has no such core and may be more a twin of earth's moon than of earth itself.

Incomes Rise $4 Billion During June

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income rose nearly $4 billion in June to an adjusted annual rate of $524 billion, the Commerce Department reported today.

The June increase was 7 per cent greater than the advance registered in the same month last year, but was slightly lower than the rise between April and May, 1965.

Personal income, as the department uses the term, includes all types of payments to individuals including wages, salaries, rents, interest and dividends.

The department attributed much of the June increase to "sharp rises" in the income of farm owners and increased corporate dividend payments.

Farm proprietor receipts reflected mainly a rise in livestock prices which rose 10 per cent from April to May and an additional 8 per cent in June to a point nearly one-third above the year ago level.

Wages and salaries showed a $2 billion rise in June with all major industrial groups sharing gains.

Factory payrolls reached an annual rate of $110.75 billion in June. Income from nonmanufacturing businesses, such as construction, transportation and services, advanced and state and local government payrolls expanded.

OAS Special Session Called

Haiti Charges Castro Regime Plots Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States was summoned into special session late today to hear a charge by Haiti that the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba is planning an invasion of Haiti.

Haiti's OAS Ambassador Fern D. Baguidy said details of the Haitian report would not be made public until the OAS meeting at 4 p.m. But he said "it confirms information about the subversive activities of the Cuban regime aimed at Haiti."

It was learned authoritatively that the Haitian government is charging that a band of Castro-indoctrinated guerrillas has organized in the Dominican Republic, which shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti, to attempt to overthrow the Haitian government.

OAS officials said they had no information about the content of the Haitian report. They added that no time had been fixed for a report by a three-nation inter-American mediation team which has been trying to restore peace in the Dominican Republic. It was expected they added, that the meeting would be held tonight or Saturday.

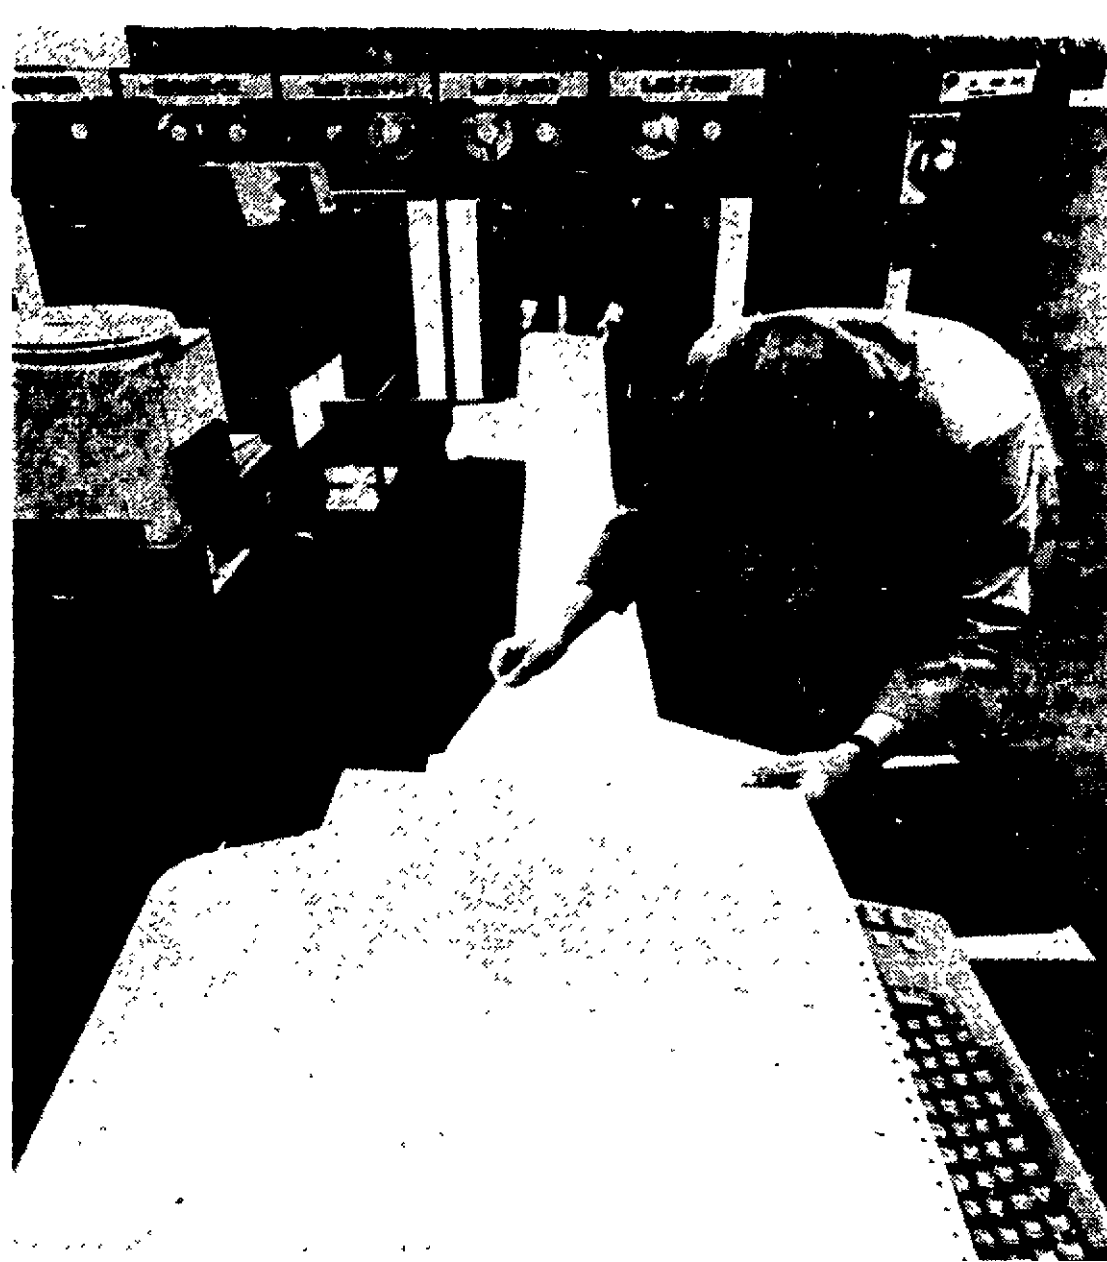

Johnson Has Prohibited Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has prohibited any wiretapping by his administration except in cases where it is essential to protect the national security, the White House says.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Thursday the President believes "it must not be condoned or tolerated under any other circumstances and never, never without the approval of the attorney general." This approval must be obtained in advance, he said.

Moyers said Johnson laid down that rule soon after he became President and emphasized it again recently in a message to Cabinet officers and agency chiefs.

Moyers had been asked by a reporter about Johnson's view of a Senate investigation that has heard testimony that special Internal Revenue Service agents used unauthorized wiretapping or "bugging" in four cases in the Pittsburgh area.

Engineers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., check digits on a 20-foot-long ream of paper like one on which the first photo of Mars from Mariner 4 were recorded. Picture signals from Mariner are transmitted in the form of 40,000 digits which will be printed for visual inspection. The numbers than are decoded by a computer and transferred to magnetic tape. Then a film converter will produce the actual photo. (AP Wirephoto)

Soviets Report Five Satellites Launched With Single Rocket

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said the Soviet Union launched five orbiting satellites today with a single rocket.

The satellites were numbers 71, 72, 73, 74 and 75 in the unmanned Cosmos series, which the Soviet Union has been sending up to probe the space around the earth.

Tass said the five Sputniks, like the others in the series which started in March 1962, carried scientific instruments and radio transmitters to send back information.

The agency added that all five went into nearly circular orbits and their equipment was functioning normally.

Train Cars Burn On CNW Bridge Near Madison

ENDEAVOR, Wis. (AP)—Two railroad cars burned out of control throughout the night on a bridge over Buffalo Lake in Marquette County.

The Marquette County sheriff's office at Montello said the blaze erupted Thursday afternoon as a Chicago & North Western freight train was crossing the span over the lake on Fox River, north of here.

Most of the cars had been removed from the bridge as dawn approached 12 hours later, but a sheriff's spokesman said the flames were still feeding on a carload of lumber and cargo of paint.

The blaze threatened the steel and wooden bridge over one of the railway's major freight routes across Wisconsin.

North Western officials in Milwaukee declined to give any details on the fire and said investigators were on the scene.

The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. There was no damage estimate.

friends with whom she had been shopping dropped her off at the apartment, then waited until she was inside the apartment and left.

Crouched in Corner

She said when she went into the kitchen she saw the man crouched in a corner.

The man had a gun, she said, and told her to turn off the lights. He forced her into the living room where he raped her. She said he held his hand over his face until the lights were off, and she did not get a good look at his face.

However, she described the man as being about 21 years old, with blond hair. She said he was about 5 feet 7 inches tall and was wearing green pants with a striped white shirt and a tan shirt over that.

Pulled Wires

Appleton police said the man pulled the phone wires out of the wall, then cut the wires on the receiver. He threatened to shoot the girl if she screamed or tried to get help.

Police said the two-room apartment has two doors, one of which is normally used to enter the apartment and has a lock. The other door has a bolt and was locked from the inside. The bolt had been broken, apparently by the assailant, police said.

The girl was examined by physicians and hospitalized overnight.

The other girl, a 21-year-old Neenah resident, told city and county authorities she had been in a bar in Appleton, and left about 12.45 a.m.

Drove West

She said she drove West on Wisconsin Avenue, and a short distance outside the Appleton City limits, a man standing by a car at the side of the road flagged her down.

She stopped, and when she started to get out of the car, the man pushed her back into the car and raped her.

The man fled, and the girl drove hurriedly home, where her father called police. She was examined by a family doctor and treated for shock.

She gave a similar description of the clothes the man was wearing, and also said she did not get a good look at his face.

County and city police are working cooperatively on the case. They said the attacker was apparently the same man.

Vicki Thiel Only 21, Already Big Success

Youthful Clothes Designer Toast of Paris, Making Fame in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Curled up in the big, leather restaurant booth, a mane of dark hair shading her makeup-less face, Vicki Thiel looked like any starlet working the publicity route to stardom.

Only her reaction was different. "Me, an actress?" she giggled. "Heavens, no. I'll leave that to those who can act."

In less than a year, Vicki, without acting a line, has become the toast of Paris, been snubbed by Yves St. Laurent, gotten screen credit in "What's New Pussycat," rented a house in Malibu, bought a motorcycle and a Morgan sports car, acquired a five-figure income and dropped her first fiancé.

"I've got another film now, with Kim Novak," she said. "And someone's talked to me about filming my life story." For any girl of 21 but Vicki, the film would be a short subject.

Vicki isn't an actress, she is a dress designer. The youngest in town, she is rivaling such veterans as Edith Head, Jean Louis and James Galanos.

Just a year ago last month, Vicki was graduated from Parsons School of Design in New York.

With $1,000 apiece, Vicki and classmate Mia Fonnaggraves, then 22, headed for Paris to invade the haute couture.

"There are two ways to do Paris," says Vicki. "You can live on the Left Bank — and take poor students to dinner every night."

"Or you can live it up in a strip tease at the Crazy Horse," said Vicki. "Then we invented stripper's costumes of armor, and a wedding gown with three patches of flowers. We wanted to do a Maltese cross — it covers in all the right places — but they wouldn't let us."

The girls got $100 a sketch, says Vicki, until she met Richard Burton in the Paris studio commissary.

"He just roared, 'one hundred dollars — you should get $1,000.' So we asked for it — and the producer grinned and gave it to us."

chic apartment. That's what we did. You save money on dinners — someone bought us dinner every night for four months. And you meet the small "in" group, because they think you have as much money as they do.

A few weeks after they arrived, the girls took their sketches to Louis Feraud, a successful young designer.

Their clothes appealed to the younger set — wild, flower-printed stockings, above the knee skirts, necklines slit to the navel, in fabrics ranging from upholstery to snakeskin.

"We modeled our own clothes at Chez Castel, the Paris discotheque where all the young group goes — like Geraldine Chaplin," says Vicki.

Snubbed By St. Laurent "One night Yves St. Laurent came in with all those mannish models of his. I stopped dancing and said in my best French, 'I'm a designer like you are.' He gave me a cold fish stare and turned his nose up."

But customers didn't. The girls got a contract to sell their clothes to a big United States manufacturer, "for about $40,000 a collection, plus a percentage. That's just for 20 dresses."

Just as their $2,000 was running out, Seven Arts Productions signed them up to do Paul-la Prentiss' clothes in "Pussycat."

"We had to dress a strip tease number, so we learned how to strip tease at the Crazy Horse," said Vicki. "Then we invented stripper's costumes of armor, and a wedding gown with three patches of flowers. We wanted to do a Maltese cross — it covers in all the right places — but they wouldn't let us."

The girls got $100 a sketch, says Vicki, until she met Richard Burton in the Paris studio commissary.

"He just roared, 'one hundred dollars — you should get $1,000.' So we asked for it — and the producer grinned and gave it to us."

Oatsy Action Livens Scene On 'Rawhide'

6:30-7:30 — Channel 2 — Rawhide's "The Violent Land" crackles with oatsy action when Gil and Rowdy drive their herd into Apache-Comanche country and meet head-on with a party of braves, who have captured a white girl and possibly some of their choice heifers, too. Michael Forest and Davey Davidson are featured. (R)

6:30-7:30 — Channel 5 — "The Austrian Ice Fantasy" on International Showtime is not the spectacular you see in American touring ice shows. But it does have some enchanting Viennese waltzes by Nicole Ardent and Paul Sibley, plus the Mecki, Dolls, who resemble porcupines. (R)

7:30-8:30 — Channel 4-5 — Hugh O'Brian takes to the air in a suspenseful and sometimes humorous Rod Serling drama, "Exit from a Plane in Flight," on Bob Hope Presents. The script is based on Serling's own adventures when he returned to Ft. Bragg, N.C. in 1962 to see if he "still had the stuff" to make a parachute jump. In the script, O'Brian is a movie hero. Co-stars are Constance Towers and Lloyd Bridges. (R-Color)

8:30-9 — Channels 4-5 — Jack Benny Program has a fetching session of nonsense when Wayne Newton and Louis Nye join the comedian to toss a party for the "poor kids" of Beverly Hills. They want to send the "charity cases" to camp on the French Riviera. (R)

9-10 — Channels 4-5 — The Jack Paar Program, long on talk this week, is brightened by visits of two professional iconoclasts, Oscar Levant and Malcolm Muggeridge. There are also Jerry Vernon and his puppets, and Jack's daughter, Randy, in a filmed chat with Beatle fans in London. (R-Color)

9-10 — Channel 2 — "Question: How Do You Catch a Cool Bird of Paradise?" on Slattery's People is answered in this highly melodramatic session by a sweet young thing who says "You put junk on its tail." In the slang of narcotic addicts, "junk" is dope, and you get the impression that high school students can't do without it. Simon Oakland, Susan Bay and Frank Maxwell are featured.

Rogers' Concert Delights Audience Despite Humidity

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
OSHKOSH — The presence of an air conditioner for a perspiring but appreciative audience at the WSU-O Little Theatre Wednesday evening, and the result was a delightful, if somewhat humid, two hours of Broadway nostalgia with romantic baritone Ronald Rogers.

Rogers, a native of Neenah, and his accompanist, Gene Palumbo, drew both the sympathy and the admiration of the "home town" audience as they worked under difficult conditions to present a briskly-paced "Cavalcade of Musical Comedy."

Admission to the concert was free, as a means of thanking the Fox Valley's playgoing public for its support of WSU-O events throughout the year.

A well-known musical comedy and concert performer, Rogers came to Oshkosh following a successful engagement with the program, "An Evening with Rudolf Friml," in Washington, D.C. Friml, veteran composer, will appear in person at the WSU-O Little Theatre at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Aug. 16.

Vintage Favorites
Starting with a keyboard medley of Broadway favorites, as interpreted by Palumbo, a Chicago composer and arranger, the "Cavalcade of Musical Comedy" progressed from "Ring de Banjo" and "De Camptown Races," of Stephen Foster, through a selection of vintage favorites by Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg, to the familiar contemporary compositions of Jerome Kern, Harold Arlen, Frank Loesser and Leonard Bernstein.

Rogers' skill as an actor and showman was ever in evidence as he offered "Falling in Love with Someone," "Rose Marie" and "Song of the Vagabonds" — the latter from Friml's "The Vagabond King," in which Rogers starred several years ago at the Blatz Temple of Music, Milwaukee.

Undoubted high point of the first half of the program was Cole Porter's "Where is the Life That Late I Led?" from the witty and ever-fresh "Kiss Me, Kate."

After a brief intermission Rogers returned to lead off with a vigorous interpretation of Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and continue through such varied melodies as Kern's "The Way You Look Tonight," Lerner and Loewe's "If Ever I Should Leave You" and Rodgers and Hammerstein's demanding aria from

Lawrence U. Film Classic From Novel

"It Happened in Broad Daylight," a German-Swiss film based on Friedrich Duerrenmatt's suspense novel, "The Pledge," is Sunday's feature on the Lawrence University summer Film Classics series.

Showings are at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. in room 161 of Youngchild Hall. Tickets are sold at the door.

The film features actors Heinz Ruhmann ("Captain from Kopenick") and Gert Frobe ("Goldfinger").

Duerrenmatt himself adapted the 1958 screenplay which tells of the murder of a child in the woods near a small Swiss town. The townspeople suspect a peddler who commits suicide rather than continue under constant suspicion.

Police inspector Mathai promises the dead girl's parents that her murderer will be found, and resigns his job to pursue his own clues in the case. In the end he makes good his pledge after a dogged search.

The entire presentation was carefully arranged to provide for welcome variations in pace and mood. Rogers' capsize introductions to the works of successive composers were well-researched and informative.

Following his current concert tour, Rogers will co-star with Dorothy Lamour in a summer theater revival of Cole Porter's "Doubtful Was a Lady."
